LATEST FROM THE CAPITAL

(Special to The Guardian)

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 8.—The results during the coming week in parliament are more uncertain than the results of any horse race ever held. Nobody knows how his own Jockey is going to perform and nobody can predict with any degree of certainty how his own horse will run.

There is all sorts of "dope" on the situation during the week-end but the "dope" is subject to discount because of the uncertainty of the political weather conditions, the possibility of a heavy track and the probability of certain entries being changed or "scratched." Rumors are afloat that the House will adjourn on Wednesday or Thursday next, the special committee on the administration of the Customs Department to carry on while their other more fortunate fellow members return home to attend either to their political fancies or the early spring seeding. There is however, no certainty that adjournment will come during the present week.

CANADIAN-AUSTRALIAN PACT UNDER FIRE IN HOUSE

Mr. Donald Sutherland, Conservative of South Oxford Declares Treaty Detrimental to Canadian Dairy Industry and Moves Amendment.

(Special to The Guardian)
OTTAWA, Feb. 8.—Mr. Donald Sutherland, Conservative of South Oxford resumed the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne. He declared at the beginning that his intention was to bring an amendment to the speech.

Referring to the recent governmental victories, Mr. Sutherland stated that the Liberal party has made purchases by legislation, thus bringing the Progressives in line with them. Exception to that statement was immediately taken by the speaker Hon. Rosolphe Lenoux, who ruled the statement unparliamentary.

Mr. Sutherland then moved the following amendment to the speech from the throne: "That the following words be added to the address: 'We desire respectfully to express regret that resulting from the policy of and recent trade agreements made by the present government the dairy products industry of Canada is now being subjected to most unfair and unwarrantable competition from other countries, and that the speech from the Throne gives no indication of any remedial legislation which would remove the discrimination under which this industry suffers.'

Mr. Sutherland then spoke on the Australian treaty. He condemned this treaty passed during the last session of parliament. It had proved to be detrimental to the Canadian industry. He could not see what good Canada can derive from such a treaty. Some years ago a similar treaty was passed with France and Belgium which failed entirely.

"Canada is actually flooded with Australian butter and cheese," said Mr. Sutherland. "Dairy products are also coming in large shipments from New Zealand. Our dairy industry is thus greatly imperiled. The treaty has also a disastrous effect on agriculture. It has been made at the expense of the Canadian consumer. "The only remedy," declared Mr. Sutherland, "is protection against foreign competition. The Minister of Agriculture will not deny that every province in Canada is demanding protection. Customs tariff should be brought up in order to kill 'unfair competition.' Mr. Sutherland quoted numerous articles, resolutions and newspaper letters, showing that the general desire throughout Canada is for higher protection.

"Canada should not be the dumping ground for the surplus products of foreign countries." Mr. Sutherland then moved the following amendment to the speech from the throne: "That the following words be added to the address: 'We desire respectfully to express regret that resulting from the policy of and recent trade agreements made by the present government the dairy products industry of Canada is now being subjected to most unfair and unwarrantable competition from other countries, and that the speech from the Throne gives no indication of any remedial legislation which would remove the discrimination under which this industry suffers.'
