130 GREAT GEORGE STREET

One of the most completely equipped and fully stocked jewelry store in the province is that of Mr. C. W. Patterson located at 130 Great George Street, Charlottetown. At this store you will see an exceptionally wide variety of all kinds of jewelry including not only watches and clocks but necklaces, rings, silver plated ware, etc., in fact everything you could expect to find in a first class store of this kind.

Mr. Patterson began to learn his trade in the year 1897 and was employed with various leading jewelers in this city until 1907 when he opened up his own store at the corner of Grafton and Great George Streets, where now stands the Capitol Theatre not far from his present stand.

He is an expert workman on all lines of fine watches and kindred instruments including Repeaters, Chronographs, and Timers down to the smallest bracelet watch made. His work has also included Chronometers and Clocks of every description, even TOWER CLOCKS. For over twenty-five years he has been responsible for keeping the Town Clock in order.

Fine jewelry of all kinds also comes to him for repairs, and he is especially equipped for this work. Intricate electric soldering machines and electric polishing lathes are part of the modern installments in his repair department.

Mr. Paterson's show-cases are most interesting to see as they are stocked with the largest assortment of rings that this writer has ever beheld. These include the finest diamonds and wedding rings, birthstone rings, emblem rings for fraternities, clubs, etc., signet rings, and various class rings for schools and colleges.

On display also are some very beautiful clocks for various purposes including the electric models. Table silver of all kinds adorns the shelves and special tarnish proof cabinets of complete sets of silverware may be seen at surprisingly low prices.

Cigarette cases, Lighters, Vanities, Compacts, are also stocked as well as Watch Chains, Pendants, Necklaces, and some very fine makes of Fountain Pens singly and in sets with Pencil to match.

For those who wish to procure a really worthwhile gift for someone, we suggest that you get in touch with Mr. Patterson. Associated with him is his son Mr. Bert Patterson and either of these gentlemen will be very pleased to assist in selecting gifts or to give you the utmost in good service and lasting satisfaction with every transaction at this store.

Entry slips for the Foto Blox Contest will be provided and you are invited to draw your prizes at this store. The Phone number is 394-J.

New Glasgow And Vicinity

Mrs. Lester Hollis, Beverley, Mass., is at present visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Nesbitt.

The many friends of Mrs. Charles Stevenson are giving her a cordial welcome. Mrs. Stevenson spent the past winter in St. John with her daughter and son, Mrs. Stevenson, and motored from St. John back to her old home here with her son-in-law, Rev. J. M. Murchison and his son Frank, who will spend some time on the Island.

Mrs. Mervyn Bulman entertained the members of the New Glasgow Women's institute at her home on Monday evening, July 4th. There were fifteen members present, also five visitors. Meeting opened in the usual manner with the President in the chair. The Secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting and the various committees reported. The new committees named for the ensuing months are: Sick committee: Mrs. M. McLeod and Miss Ruth Dickieson. Refreshment comm: Mrs. (Dr.) A. B. Stevenson, Mis Ruth Dickieson, Mrs. Harland Hill. The delegates who attended the convention in Charlottetown gave reports of same. The program for the evening consisted of a sing song and reading by Mrs. Mervyn Bulman and contest. Meeting closed with the National Anthem followed by lunch, passed by the ladies in charge.

Quite a large number of visitors attended the school closing, which was held on Thursday afternoon of last week. The pupils were examined in the different subjects by their teacher Miss Mildred Brown, who has taught in the school for the past two years. Prizes for attendance was awarded: 1st, Arnold Dickieson, 2nd, Ean McLeod, 3rd Vernon Hill, and 4th Weldon McCoubrey. A special prize was given for the best nature study book. This was won by Charles Dickieson, also a prize of 50 cents to the pupil who could stay on the floor the longest in a spelling match, this prize going to Vernon Hill. Grade VIII Leaving Certificates were given Alma Campbell, Vernon Hill and Charles Dickieson. The teacher treated the pupils and visitors to ice cream, after which the National Anthem was sung. Mr. Ross S. White will be teacher for the ensuing year.—G.

Sawdust Heat In Many Homes

OTTAWA, July — (CJ)—Nearly 20,000 homes in and around Vancouver are heated by sawdust which a few years ago was sent to refuse burners. T. A. McElhanney, superintendent of the forest products laboratories, Dominion Forest Service, Ottawa, told the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

In the 1936 the capital invested in forest industries of Canada, including woods operation, lumbering, pulp and paper, and the wood and paper using industries, was more than $850,000,000, he said. There was yearly employment for 187,574, persons and the payroll was $149,403,989. The industries supplied 14 per cent of the revenue freight for Canadian railroads.

Scientific research had played a great part in the exploitation of Canada's resources. The pulp and paper industry has increased production tenfold in 30 years. Wood is used for paper, textiles, cellophane, building and insulating board, towels, plates, cups and a multitude of other smaller products.

"Research is constantly unfolding new uses for wood and new methods of curtailing waste," Mr. McElhanney said. "Sawdust is now being used for domestic fuel on the Pacific Coast. In Europe many automobiles, trucks and buses are operated on producer gas from charcoal. Ethyl alcohol from wood is being mixed with gasoline for motor fuel. Since 35 to 60 per cent of the forest stand in Canada now is wasted in logging or milling.. the possibilities of corresponding development in Canada offer attractive fields for the research engineer."

National forest management in the United States was the topic selected by R. M. Evans, regional forester, eastern. region, United States forest service. He administers forest matters in 14 northeastern states.

For more than a third of a century, the long-range objective of the United States forestry service has been the greatest good to the greatest number, he said. Following this principle, an effort was made to dedicate each acre to its most suitable and serviceable use. The determination of dominant needs and integration of parallel and competing uses were carefully established.

J. J. de Gryse, department of agriculture, Ottawa, described the organization in Canada of forest insect intelligence service with the fire protection services doing a considerable part of the field work. "A co-operative system of this kind has been in operation in Canada for the last two years and has produced very good results in connection with work on the European spruce sawfly and other import forest insects," he said.

Co-operating in a system covering nearly the entire Canadian forest region were Dominion and provincial forest services, pulp and paper and lumber companies, fish and game wardens, clubs and private individuals. In 1937 there were 3,697 reports accompanied by specimen collections. Practically all important insects attacking spruce and many other forest trees were represented.

Attention Lilac Owners

It is noticed that the Lilac Leaf Miner, sometimes referred to as the Leaf Roller, is again making its appearance in Summerside in considerable numbers, and is increasing rapidly, and unless specific remedies are applied immediately by all owners of Hedges, great havoc will be done to these Hedges and also other shrubbery, to which they are liable to spread. Also it is advisable that everyone make an effort to control this pest, and thus prevent the spreading to Hedges, etc., of owners who are making an effort to eradicate same.

Owners will notice that the leaves, chiefly on Lilac Hedges, are beginning to roll up, and as soon as one leaf is eaten, the pest spreads to others and so on until the Hedge is pretty well ruined; then a little later in the summer they drop from the leaves to the ground where they propagate early in August, and a second generation of moths emerges, and the life history is repeated.

Consequently the injury may continue until well on in September when the nest goes into the ground to emerge the following spring.

For control the Department of Agriculture advises syraying the Hedges with Nicotine Sulphate commonly called "Black Leaf 40" The solution should contain 1 1-2 Tablespoons of solution per gallon of water, and the Hedges should be thoroughly sprayed, and if possible a force spray should be used so that the under part of the leaves would be well covered. This first spray should be followed by another spray two weeks later, using a solution of 2 tablespoons per gallon of water.

Taking off and burning the affected leaves early in the season will help to prevent the injury, but this must be done while the larvae are on the leaves.

It is urgent that everyone take immediate steps to deal with this pest and follow same up from time to time until the pest disappears or is eradicated.

It is suggested that everyone interested, cut these instructions out and retain them for future use.

Had Distilled Sea Water Back in 1593

One might be inclined to think that the manufacture of distilled water from sea water is an achievement of our modern age but in going back over old documents it is recorded that Sir Richard Hawkins, in a voyage he made from England to the West Indies in 1593 had on board a distilling apparatus for the same purpose. Modern liners, however, take on supplies of pure fresh water before leaving port.

A "Lady" liner of the Canadian National Steamships, one of the five named after the wives of English admirals, is known as the "Lady Hawkins" after the wife of Admiral Sir John Hawkins, who was the father of Sir Richard and both helped to write England's history in the West Indies.
