THE WILLIS PIANO NEEDS NO INTRODUCTION

Mr. A. E. Toombs, Well Known Music Dealer Is Sole Island Representative For This Famous Piano.

Just about twenty-five years ago one of the Province's well known Piano men opened up in the retail Music business. We refer to Mr. A. E. Toombs the well known Music Dealer, whose store is at 167 Queen St., in the heart of the City of Charlottetown.

Mr. Toombs has had years of experience in almost every branch of the Piano and Music business and for twenty-five years has been sole representative for the well known Willis Piano—known all over Canada as "Canada's Best". You would be surprised to find such a great number of Willis Pianos that occupies the place of honor in the best Island homes.

Of late years, when Radio was sold by all the leading Music Dealers—Mr. Toombs selected the Famous Golden Voice Atwater Kent — and the General Electric—to serve the Radio needs of his many customers.

The basic principles of his business are sound. He believes in fair and open dealings of a manner that has inspired the confidence of his clients and built up through good will a large trade during the years. Furthermore, he enjoys bringing good music to his community.

Charlottetown should be very proud to have such a fine store—with such a complete stock of high grade musical merchandise to give service to the many lovers of music within the Province.

TULSA AIRPORT SETS NEW WORLD'S RECORD

TULSA, Okla., April 13.—The world's busiest airport lies in the heart of America, the municipal airport of Tulsa.

On its busiest single day in 1930 691 passengers passed through its gates, and in its busiest month last June, it accommodated 11,000 passengers.

More than 60,000 planes have come and gone from its runways although the port will not be three years old until July 1931.

He has taken up his appointment as Staff Captain and joined fellow officers at Tidworth, where he leads the life of an ordinary officer.

He served as an active officer in the Tenth Hussars until August 3, 1929, when he was placed on the retired list.

ENGINEER PROPOSES ISLAND FOR RECREATION

CHICAGO, April 13.—A 300 acre recreation island in Lake Michigan, costing approximately $30,000,000 exclusive of buildings, has been envisioned here by J. E. Cahill, a Great Lakes Dredge and Dock Company engineer.

The project has been under consideration for many years and tentative plans provide for a summer hotel and yachting facilities.

A suitable island could be constructed either three miles off Devon Avenue, where the water is 18 feet deep or two miles off 55th Street, where it is only eight feet deep, Cahill said. The 500,000 cubic yards of dirt and stone dumped from the city each year would furnish the filling material, he believed.

THE SITUATION IN SOVIET RUSSIA

(British United Press)

NEW YORK, N. Y., April 13.—The hundreds of trials in progress in Moscow of railroad workers, charged with negligence, technicians accused of deserting their posts, managers charged with wasting materials—are in effect courts martial. Recognized as such, the extreme punishments dispensed at these trials are in line with those of such courts. Anyone slowing up the machinery of economic progress becomes, in Soviet eyes, a traitor and counter-revolutionary. Death for malicious interference with transportation seems logical to a nation which regards itself in a grim life and death struggle for survival. The working masses really are armies. The Union is indeed a nation under arms. Its citizenry is subject to military discipline, mobilized for special tasks, shifted where necessary to strengthen weak sectors on the "economic front," martial terminology comes naturally; the war psychology engendered by war and civil strife is not broken—it even is fortified.

The country feels itself in a state of siege, surrounded by "foreign foes" and honeycombed with "internal enemies." It is fighting against heavy odds for the establishment of a new system of society. The effects upon the individual are devastating. He is little more than a unit in the army always under orders. The commands of the General Staff—the leaders of the Communist Party—are absolute and indisputable. Political opinion, arts, everything is under the most stringent control. Censorship is so pervasive in every field of endeavor that it is now no longer noticeable, the shadow of the secret police—the G. P. U., is on the land.

Only in terms of war is this state of affairs comprehensible. The fate of "class enemies" in these circumstances is not enviable. Food and clothes are rationed carefully, owing to the shortcomings of the trading organizations and transportation difficulties; even the rations usually are obtained only with a huge investment of time and energy. The inadequate goods supplies are shifted from city to village and back again as political considerations dictate.

The picture is not an enticing one, but it has another and brighter side. The vast majority here as elsewhere in the world obeys blindly, moved by fear and hunger and mass impulse. But the dominant minority, spread through every factory, mine, office and collective farm, accepts the "war time" burdens, the almost martial law and sacrifices willingly and enthusiastically.
