MAN BEATS MACHINES

PARIS, July 17.—M. Inaudi, the lightning calculator who became famous twenty years ago, has been pitted against twelve of the latest types of calculating machine. The human machine carried off all but one of the honours.

M. Inaudi easily beat his mechanical competitors in the speed with which he solved problems in addition, subtraction, division and finding the square of the cube, but in the first round—extracting the square root of a number—a machine came out first.

In the third round, which consisted of complicated problems, the man won easily.
