FARMERS' MEETING - A meeting of interest to all farmers in the vicinity of Cape Traverse, regarding the organization of a Co-operative Warehouse, will be held at 8:30 o'clock, Tuesday evening, June 1st, in Cape Traverse Hall. Speakers from the Co-operative Union and Department of Agriculture will be present.

Commenting on the two plays entered, the adjudicator pointed out that the work of the judges was made more difficult by the fact that one was a comedy and the other a tragedy. The first duty of the judges was to forget the audience's appearance of the play and to judge the acting, production and stage presentation.

In the case of the Alberton entry, the adjudicator said that while the play was drama festival material and the members of the cast were handicapped by an inferior selection, although they did remarkably well with the material they had to work with. He gave credit to all the players for excellent team work, proper tempo and good characterization.

Commenting on the Summerside entry the adjudicator said that while it was a heavy, sombre play those taken part had managed to instill the necessary light touch throughout, which kept it from becoming too morbid. Although there was at times an unbalanced stage and the action of the final scene was carried by several poor crossings and much too rapid final curtain, the judges had high praise for the production as a whole and out of a possible 90 points they awarded 75 to Summerside as compared with 65 for the Alberton entry.

Mr. Roy MacKenzie as John in the Summerside play was adjudged the best male performer of the evening while the part of Miss Matthews as portrayed by Dorothy Travers also received the nod of approval from the judges. -S

Successful Drama Festival At Alberton

The Anglican Young People's Drama Festival semi-finals for Prince County were held in the Women's Institute Hall at Alberton on Thursday evening.

The Summerside entry "Which is the way to Boston" took honors over the Alberton play "A Bachelor's Baby" by a margin of nine points.

This makes the Summerside play eligible for entry in the finals to be held June 3 at St. Peter's Hall, Charlottetown.

The semi-finals at Alberton were judged by Messrs John E. Cameron of Tignish and George Clow of Summerside with the summing up and the announcement of the winner done from the stage by Mr. Clow.

He told them that it was hoped that the Navigation School at Summerside would be in full operation next year. It would be one of three such stations in the British Empire and he said that the name of Summerside would become known around the world as small towns in England have become known because they are the home of well known military establishments. He told the cadets that a lot of aircraft would be operating from the Summerside station and it would be possible for the cadets to spend every Saturday on the station and live the life of an airman for one day a week. They have the opportunity of getting some flying. At the end of his speech he dwelt on the value of clean living.

the one was indistinguishable from the other. The musical part of the program consisted of two songs by the College musical class, who had been trained by Mr. Roy Muford, A. R. O. C. and a solo by Miss Mary Gills of Alberton.

PRINCIPAL'S REPORT

In his annual report as Principal Dr. Steele said in part: "The present session opened on September 8, and the final examination of the session was held exactly a week ago tomorrow. During the year just closing we have had what was probably the second largest enrolment in the history of Prince of Wales College, which today completes its eighty-eighth session. A year ago I reported an enrolment of 650 students. Today I report an enrolment of 629. These were distributed over the various years and departments as follows:

Table with 4 columns: Year, Men, Women, Tot. Rows include Fourth Year, Academic (43, 7, 53), Third Year, Academic (75, 25, 100), Second Year, High School (75, 75, 150), Special (1, 1, 2), First Year (69, 112, 181), Commerce Graduating (11, 52, 63), First Year (4, 19, 23), Special (2, 2, 4), Normal or Teacher Training (8, 8, 16), Total (288, 341, 629).

Of the graduating class in Commerce two students were listed as Fourth Year students, and eight as Third Year. In the Teacher Training class 28 had not been in Prince of Wales College previously, and 31 had already spent at least one year in Prince of Wales College. Among these 629 students there were fifty-eight veterans in the College classes, fourteen in the High School department, and 5 in Commerce.

Student Veterans

"At this point I should like to say a few words about the Veterans in attendance this year. In the main they have been an industrious and cooperative body of students. In all likelihood this is the last year that we shall have a large number of them as students. During the session ending today we have had 43 less than a year ago. The group completing the work required for Junior University Matriculation one year ago numbered 40, this year only 14. "It has not always been easy for these men to devote themselves to the student's life. In addition to the financial load that some of these men are carrying there has been an even greater disturbing factor. This year in the fourth year class 19 students had hoped to be able to continue to train as doctors or dentists. The medical college to which most of them would ordinarily go can take only four or five. This undoubtedly has led to discouragement, particularly among those who have not been able to attain high standing in their work.

"What the effect of the presence of these older men among our students will mean in future years can be estimated only in those future years. That life in the College will never be quite the same as it was I think we can accept as a certainty. So far as the session just completed is concerned, I can only say that the Veterans have contributed greatly to organizing student activity on a sound basis. The leadership given in the Student Council and the stimulus to other students to make the most of their opportunities has been most excellent.

Changes in Staff

At the end of last session we were sorry to have to lose the services of Miss Doreen Alley. She was one of our own graduates, who when she had taken her degree at Dalhousie University, spent a year in further study at the University of British Columbia. In the year that she taught at Prince of Wales College she proved herself an excellent teacher, painstaking and exacting in her work but always broadly sympathetic toward her students. During the present session we lost the services of Cora J. W. Arsenault to the world of politics and of Miss Ferne Bell to the realm of industry. Miss Bell had been on the staff for one and a half years, and Mr. Arsenault will use years.

"It is unfortunate that because remuneration is so much better in other fields, we lose our young teachers about the time that they have begun to assist in the general operation of the Institution. We were fortunate in having these vacancies filled by Miss Marjorie Gould, student of Victoria University, and B. A. of Toronto University, who has taken over the classes previously taught by Miss Alley; Miss Ann Duffy, a graduate of Prince of Wales College, who took her degree at Dalhousie-Kings University, and Mr. E. E. Doucette, at one time a student of Prince of Wales College, and a graduate of St. Dunstan's College. Mr. Doucette is a veteran of the recent World War. Each of these has been doing good work, and will doubtless render even better service if the Institution is able to retain his services for the coming years.

Prof. Blanchard's Jubilee

To one other matter concerning our teachers I should like to refer at this time. Mr. J. H. Blanchard, our Vice-Principal, has with his session completed a fifty years of teaching in school or in college within the Province. In the church, in the medical profession, or in marriage fifty years constitutes a Jubilee. The friends of those completing such a term ordinarily make a celebration in their honor. I do not know why we should not make a similar demonstration to honour those who complete fifty years of service in the teaching profession. Surely it is no small thing that a man or woman should devote fifty years out of a lifetime to the service of the community through its young people. There must be numerous homes in all parts of the Province where kindly and appreciative memories of Mr. Blanchard are constantly entertained.

"Several innovations have marked the work of the year. After some years without a regularly appointed instructor in physical exercise, the College again has a full-time instructor in this subject. Last fall the Government appointed to this post Mr. Wilfred Inman, who has entered enthusiastically upon the work. During the past session, he gave regular instruction to the students of the Teacher Training Department, enabling them to qualify for their Grade B certificate in physical education. He conducted classes also among the students of the First Year. These classes were both profitable and much enjoyed. It is our hope that next year classes may be conducted among our Second Year students also. Surely this ought to be a part of every student's programme.

Teacher Training

"During the past session, for the first time, the students of the Teacher Training Department devoted their whole time to studies purely professional. Compared with the practice of a few years ago when students devoted one period a day to such work, the present practice seems a long step forward. Still we should remind ourselves that at the time we are taking this step, other provinces in Canada are about to set up a two-year course of professional study for their teachers. Indeed at an Alumni and Alumnae banquet held in connection with the recent convocation of the University of New Brunswick, the guest speaker of the evening, herself a teacher of long experience, said, after suggesting the wrongs suffered by bright children from poor teachers, "The time has come when every teacher from the lowest grade to the highest should have at least four years of training in the field in which his or her special talents lie. The profession must be made so attractive, it will attract and retain the people who were born to teach." Doubtless a counsel of perfection, but it indicates a trend. Having once taken a step forward, we should be most careful to do nothing to cancel the gain thus achieved.

Gifts To The College

"I am very happy to report the gift of a beautifully framed picture of the Sovereigns of Great Britain from the time of Alfred the Great to the present sovereign. This was donated by Mrs. Richard S. Lea, whose husband was a graduate of this institution and a native of this province. To another lady, Mrs. Jennie S. Hillson, our students, also, are greatly indebted. Mrs. Hillson has placed with the government of the Province a capital sum of money to provide an annual scholarship of Fifty Dollars in memory of her brother, Professor George E. Robinson, at one time a member of the teaching staff of Prince of Wales College. The Charlottetown School Improvement League has this year donated a prize of fifty dollars, to be awarded to a Charlottetown student in the Teacher Training classes whose academic and professional qualifications are those required for a First Class License. The class of 1937-1938 donated the sum of twenty-five dollars to be awarded as special prizes at these Convocation exercises.

STOCKHOLM - (CP) - Photographers depicting modern Sweden will be shown in United States middle-west cities in connection with the Swedish Pioneer Centennial this summer. The exhibition will highlight trade and labor activities as well as the country's cultural life.

Study of Latin

"Still another innovation has been the exempting of students from the study of Latin. This was made necessary as a result of the action of the Department in announcing that Latin would no not every cadet unit that was capable of doing so. He considered the Corps well led and complimented the officers on the splendid turn-out.

Commodore Hope considered the Band an important part in the Division and he felt in the case of the "Kent" Corps they should be justly proud of their band. He paid tribute to Mr. C. M. Cummings who was voluntarily giving of his services in the instruction of seamanship to the cadets. The Commodore said it was good to see the Corps affiliated with the Reserve Division. The training the Cadets receive would stand them well in later life should they choose either a civil or service career.

Commodore Hope was accompanied on the inspection by Lt.-Commander A. D. Rayburn, R.C.N., staff officer, H.M.C.S. Stadacona. Over 50 Cadets, under command of Lt.-Commander Jack Kenny, were on parade. Other officers were: Executive Officer, Robert Morris; Divisional Officer, Joseph Cullen; Divisional Officer, Jack Smallwood; Supply Officer, Lloyd Grant.

Lt.-Commander Douglas Saunders, commanding officer of the Queen Charlotte, with Executive Officer Lt.-Cmdr. W. Duffy and Lt. M. J. Wymouth met the Commodore and his party on arrival for the inspection.

Among those present at the inspection ceremony were His Worship Mayor B. Earle MacDonald, Mr. Justice George J. Tweedy, President of the P. E. I. Division of Navy League, Mr. J. J. Morris, vice-president, Lt.-Col. Leo P. Macdonald, treasurer, Mr. J. O. Hyndman, past president, and Capt. J. J. Connolly R.C.N. (R).

MOTOR VEHICLES SALES

OTTAWA, May 26 - (CP) - Financing of motor vehicles sales continued upward in April, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said today. During the month, 16,344 units were financed for $14,964,000, compared with 10,892 units for $9,745,000 in the same month of 1947.

GREY FOR POSTMEN

OTTAWA, May 26 - (CP) - Canada's 5,000 postmen are switching from blue to grey uniforms. Postal officials explained today the textile shortage has forced the change. Grey cloth is easier to get than blue. The change-over will take about two years, with the posties receiving their new uniforms as the old ones wear out.
