145 GREAT GEORGE ST.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. ARCHIE PERRY

It was with deep sorrow that the communities of St. Rock and St. Felix heard of the sad news in the early hours of Nov. 10 of the passing away of one of their oldest citizens in the person of Mrs. Archie Perry in her 90th year. The deceased had been in failing health for the last couple of years but nevertheless death came as a shock to her relatives, neighbours and friends.

James McPherson, 11-year-old Toronto boy, picked up a bank book stuffed with $398 on his way home from school. He turned the bank book over to a school crossing guide. Money is now in the hands of its owner, Mrs. Ernest McCaffery of Etobicoke. Mrs. McCaffery said she will give a reward to both "Jamie" and Mrs. Marjorie Skeldoch, the school crossing guard.

IDLE LINES ON ELECTRIC POWER

The following verses - some seriously truthful, others jokingly nonsensical - were inspired by the aggravated situation of Charlottetown's vexatious electric power conditions, as all too many of us remember. The poem was composed during that time - before oil burning equipment was introduced at the local plant.

When will the lights go out again
Shall it be tonight?
I needn't surmise or predict just when
Because I may be right.

What is the reason for all this turmoil
For Charlottetown's darkened age?
Why do people brave needless toil
To read a dim lit page?

What would you do with an electric stove
When the power began to flop?
I'd throw it out of the window, by jove
But then I was told to stop!

The madness of all this maddening event
Would draw one near the grave,
If only some power from God would be sent
Many men would it save.

To crawl about like a creature in flight
Slow steps to avoid broken bones,
And how would one fare if one was tight
Then light could make no atones?

For a moment I saw a brief dawning hope
My light bulb began to flicker,
But quickly it armed with its usual false cloak
And now I have grown so bitter.

Let us try to reason it out:
The shortages of power;
Perhaps in time the equipment will shout
From age we're growing sour!

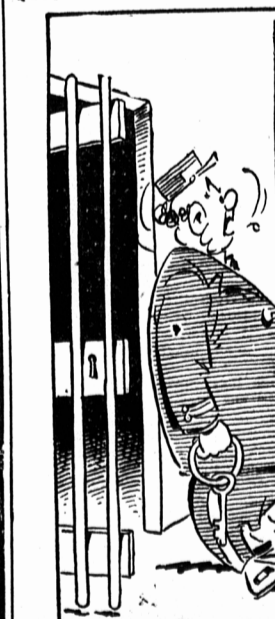

We've had our day - we've had our day!
I hear the equipment shout:
Replace us now! You must, we say
Or we shall all burn out!

Now that I've happened upon the trouble
Am partly satisfied,
So, throw out the plant's old rubble
Install a new inside!

And if that's not done very soon
I'll seek power elsewhere,
Such as radiance from the moon -
Plants cannot compare!
