Remarkable Record of Wm. Watt Credited to Dodd's Kidney Pills

WILLIAM WATT

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 2.—(Special.)—Twenty-nine years' continuous service with less than two weeks off through illness. That is the remarkable health record of William Watt, of Norwood, Manitoba, recently retired on pension by the Canadian National Railways. Mr. Watt attributes his continuous good health to Dodd's Kidney Pills. At 33 years of age, Mr. Watt was bedridden with kidney trouble. "My hands, feet and every part of my body became swollen," says Mr. Watt, "and I could not get up. Hope of quick recovery had been almost abandoned when he tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. In a very short time he was at work again. "Dodd's Kidney Pills saved my life in 1896, and I would not be without them being handy in the home at any time," says Mr. Watt. This is good advice for any man approaching or past middle age. Dodd's Kidney Pills are recognized as the best treatment for Backache, Rheumatism and all ailments arising from faulty kidneys.

of Norwood, Manitoba, who has just completed a record of 29 years' service as a railwayman with less than 12 days off. 35 years ago his life was despaired of, because of kidney trouble. Mr. Watt attributes his remarkable recovery and subsequent good health to the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Islander Dies In Mulgrave

MULGRAVE, N. S., Dec. 30.—Prominent in the affairs of the community, extremely well liked and known for his philanthropic activities quietly performed, Captain Gorley B. Anderson, general merchant, died at 7 p. m. today following a serious illness of scarcely more than a week. Although apparently in robust health, he suffered for several years from the affliction which finally caused his death. Born 58 years ago at Morrell, P. E. I., he moved in his youth to Melford, Guysboro county. For many years he sailed out of Gloucester, later moving to Mulgrave, where he has since conducted a flourishing grocery business. His attitude as a public spirited citizen and his unflinching good nature won for him the esteem of the populace by whom he will be sincerely missed. An adherent to the Church of England, he was a faithful member of Temple Lodge, A. F. and A. M. In politics he was a staunch Liberal. He is survived by one sister, Miss Lydia, residing at home, and a daughter, Bessie (Mrs. Ernest Brown) of this place. A son, Bobby predeceased him by several years. Interment will be made at Melford on Sunday, the cortege to leave here at 1:30 p. m. and Rev. C. G. Hares will officiate.

We are sorry to hear that our faithful and obliging mail courier, Mr. Ewen Martin is very ill in hospital and hope for his speedy recovery.—P

Pownal

The annual Christmas tree and concert of Mount Mellick School took place in Pownal Hall on Thursday, December 2nd at 8 o'clock p. m. The large hall was packed to capacity. Mr. J. E. MacEachern presided, and the best of order prevailed. The choruses, drills, solos, readings, etc. were splendidly rendered and reflects much credit on the teacher, Miss Villitt, Mrs. Wm. Mutch played the different accompaniments and Mr. Alex MacRae acted Santa Claus.

The Sunday School concert and pageant given by the United Church Sunday School at Pownal was a decided success in every way. Rev. G. A. D. Elliott was chairman while Mrs. Nathaniel McKinnon presided at the organ, with Miss Prudence Ings playing the violin. Electric lights have recently been installed in the church which added greatly to the scenes in the pageant, "Following of the Star." The church was beautifully decorated and the different color effects were very striking.

Best Known Poem

The best known of all Christmas poetry is that childhood favorite, "The Night Before Christmas," which was reproduced in the Guardian Christmas number. Comparatively few people, though they may be able to recite the poem from beginning to end, know how it came to be written. Here is the story: Clement Clark Moore, son of a rich minister, was born near New York City on July 15, 1818. He attended school and college, and graduated in medicine. In due course of time he inherited his father's property, which consisted of a large estate near New York. Being a generous man, and desiring to gain a good education, he donated a large block of land for the erection of a college. Dr. Moore joined the teaching staff as professor of Greek and Hebrew, for which he was widely known as an accomplished scholar.

Dr. Moore's three little girls and an equal number of small boys hung up their stockings for Santa Claus to fill every Christmas Eve, just as children do nowadays. Well over 100 years ago Dr. Moore was helping his wife to pack baskets to be distributed among the poor families living nearby. When they were about to pack the last basket Mrs. Moore found that she wanted one more turkey.

"Clement," she said, turning to her husband, "go down to the market and get me another turkey." That Dr. Moore did, and, on his way home, his mind filled with legends of the Yuletide and thoughts about gifts, he suddenly found himself composing a poem about Saint Nicholas for his children. The words came to him so quickly that he had to stop every few minutes to jot down notes. He called his poem, "A Visit From Saint Nicholas." On arriving at his home he recited for the first time that favorite of all children, "The Night Before Christmas."

The poem was not published until December 1823, when it appeared in the Troy Sentinel. Then paper after paper copied it, and it spread like wildfire all over the world.

Charlottetown School Of Music

It may not be generally known that the Charlottetown School of Music is carried on by the Trustees of the Wesleyan Methodist Day School. The trust was incorporated under laws of this Province for the purpose of building and establishing the Wesleyan Methodist Day School in Charlottetown. A large portion of the funds necessary for this purpose were subscribed by the Methodist people of that day and the school was open to all classes and creeds upon payments of the fees charged to pupils. This school was in operation for about ten years when the Free School System was established and the building on Upper Prince St. was rented and afterwards sold, to the Charlottetown School Board and the present Prince St. public school was opened. Under the direction of the Court of Chancery, the proceeds of the sale of this building were invested and the interest was to be used under this public trust for music, Kindergarten or any other branches of education as the trustees thought best. Because of this endowment fund, the trustees are in a position to supply the teacher with a studio free of charge, although his salary as Director is wholly dependent upon the fees he receives from pupils. Mr. A. Roy Kendall, L.R.A.M.; A.A.G.O., organist and choirmaster of Trinity United Church is the present director of the School of Music. Mr. Kendall received his earliest musical training from his mother, who was an accomplished musician. After leaving High School, he learned the piano tuning business. Later he proceeded to England, where he entered the Royal Academy of Music as a full time student. At the completion of a three years' course, at that institution he was granted the leaving "Diploma of Proficiency in Piano and Organ, in addition he took by exams, the Licentiate Diploma in Piano Teaching. Mr. Kendall served in France with the Royal Highlanders Regt. and on demobilization, went back to his chosen profession. He took the Association examination of the American Guild of Organists at Columbia University in 1923. Mr. Kendall has resided in Canada since 1920 and has had experience in preparing candidates for the exams of the Associated Board, McGill and Toronto Conservatories of Music. In another column will be found an announcement of courses offered to the public by the Charlottetown School of Music.

New Plays Have Poor Reception On London Stage

(By Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Writer) LONDON, Jan. 2.—(C.P.)—Somerset Maugham's play, "For Services Rendered," a highly pessimistic study of post-war effects upon an English family in the country was hailed as a remarkable piece of work when produced by Sir Barry Jackson. Nevertheless it has been withdrawn after a run of less than seven weeks.

Ill-luck has attended Sir Barry's ventures for some time. He put on G.B. Shaw's "Too True to be Good" which survived in London for only a few months.

His third production, "Evansong," made a profit in its earlier career, but just now is playing to considerably less money than covers expenses. It will be withdrawn early in the New Year.

WHEAT SITUATION IN ARGENTINA

The correspondent of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Buenos Aires reports under date of Dec. 1 that 121,527,000 bushels of the 146-, 695,000 Argentine balance of wheat for export had left the country up to Nov. 30, leaving a balance of 25,168,000 bushels still available. He says: "Market conditions here continue to be very unsatisfactory. There has been a steady decline in prices recently, the depreciation in the pound sterling being an important factor in bringing this about. Adding to that there has been the persistent selling pressure from Canada, with Australia not far behind.

"Now that the new crop is fairly well assured, the farmers have been showing some anxiety to turn the balance of the old crop which is in their hands into cash as quickly as possible, in order to have funds with which to carry on, and also in order to have the grain out of the way before they become too busy with the work of harvest to have time to haul it to the railway.

"Practically the only buyers in evidence have been the local millers, who have been able to make fairly extensive purchases of wheat to cover their sales of flour up to the end of the current year, at advantageous prices.

"Brazil is still taking some parcels of the better quality Argentine wheat, but practically none is being placed in Europe, where the consuming countries are able to draw upon their own ample crops, with Canadian wheat for blending, consequently showing no interest in Plates at the present time.

"As a consequence of these conditions, the atmosphere around the Bolsa here is heavy and the feeling pessimistic as to the near future prospects."

A Wireless Parable

"Ten years ago, in a basement in West Kensington, there was a crippled bed-ridden lady who could never leave that basement, and who lived on a small pension from a charitable society, and what her only daughter could give her out of her earnings as a saleswoman," writes Mr. Eric Dunstan, the wireless expert, in the Star. "From 8.30 a. m. to 6.30 p. m.

Hugh Walpole, which was tried out just recently at the Embassy.

The Court Theatre, in Sloane Square, which holds so many pleasant memories for the elderly playgoer, has been only fitfully in the picture in recent years. There seems a chance of brighter times for it, though, in the production of "The School for Husbands," by Frederick Jackson. It is a thoroughly lively entertainment concerning the not entirely novel proposition that husbands are apt to grow careless and either take their wives for granted or grow stupidly jealous and suspicious.

Members of the Independent Theatre Club, where plays which for one reason or another fail to pass the censor are produced in semi-private, have been criticizing the character of some of the works taken in hand by their executive. One member complains that he brought his wife to the theatre on the 17th anniversary of their wedding. They saw "The Werewolf."

"I am not a prude," said the speaker, "but I do dislike plays of that particular deliberate sort of nastiness. It is quite possible that duchesses do have affairs with their footmen; I don't know. But I objected because I thought it tripe that was neither particularly decent nor funny."

Terence de Marney, a director, said that they had nearly 4,000 members, but only 24 per cent. of these had been to the theatre.

New South Wales

Government Economies

The Budget and Estimates of the New South Wales Government for the current financial year (which began on July 1, 1932) have shown the determined efforts being made to bring the affairs of the State under proper economic control. Without any increase of taxation, and with some slight decreases of railway and tramway fares and freights (the services being Government owned) the expenditure and receipts are brought within £4,350,000 of each other. The estimates of the expenditure have been reduced by £7,000,000 as compared with the expenditure of the previous year, an achievement that has been hailed as a remarkable one. The drop of 12-6 per week in the basic wage rate, having its effect on some thousands of State employes, means a saving of about £1,000,000 for the year.

Treasury bills totalling 10½ million pounds were renewed in London in September at greatly reduced rates, as low as 2½ per cent, which will mean a net saving to the State at the rate of approximately £10,000,000 a year.

Excellent rains have fallen in New South Wales. The effect is a complete alteration of the outlook in the northern half of the State where conditions have been so dry as to cause some anxiety. Pastures recover quickly in New South Wales, and stock owners are relieved of the troubles associated with finding feed for their animals, a task that was in prospect. At the opening of the wool sales for the new season the prices were so much better that the wool growers' agencies felt confirmed in the opinion that the worst has been passed, and the general attitude is more hopeful. It is to the credit of the wool industry that the period of depression is being faced courageously. The clips have been large and have been freely absorbed by the countries which send their buyers to Australia. The clip this year is expected to amount to 3,000,000 bales. The first shipment left for Europe in September. Buoyant conditions on the Sydney Stock Exchange followed the increase in the wool prices, the rains, and the Federal and State Budget announcements. Freights on wool and live stock have been reduced on the railways, and the prices of gas and electricity in Sydney were lowered.
