Warsaw, under which 56,000 bodies were still buried, that had been leveled like a playground for two square miles, as the result of Nazi occupation, and that Warsaw itself had only one hotel and four buildings undamaged. He said that in Warsaw alone 300,000 people had been killed.

Mr. Fisher spoke of the high regard in which Canada and Canadians are held by the European countries. He referred to the International Children's Appeal Fund which is supported by 27 nations, of which he said that per capita Canada would be the leading contributor and that if previous records meant anything, that Prince Edward Island would in turn, lead the Dominion in per capita contributions.

The speaker said that the amazing thing of all, was that the people of Europe can still smile, and with unbroken spirit are doing everything possible to help themselves. But they need a helping hand. "What have we got to lose by contributing to this worthy cause?" he asked. "Individually it only means a day's pay, but collectively it means the salvation of these people."

In closing, Mr. Fisher pointed out that the governments of the countries being supplied must match dollar for dollar, the food supplied by the appeal fund, in their own aid.

Governor's Address

"It is a real pleasure to extend to you in my capacity as Lieutenant Governor a warm and friendly welcome to Prince Edward Island," said His Honour Lieutenant Governor Bernard.

"We recognize in your presence here at this important time a nobility of purpose as well as a spirit of devotion to the Canadian Appeal for Children.

"In saluting you I am of the opinion that your present visit to Charlottetown will be historic, because it occurs at the opening of an appeal which is participated in by the foremost citizens of our Province and devoted to the relief of many millions of children whose future outlook has been marred, blurred and blasted by the results of destructive and ruthless warfare, and whose present condition requires immediate attention.

"Fresh from a recent visit to devastated and poverty stricken parts of Europe your well known ability and forceful eloquence of address will bring to the minds of all of us the stark and squalid conditions which you found there and the necessity for prompt and generous action.

"We welcome you to our Province because you are not a stranger to our citizens, many of whom have listened with pride and pleasure to your vivid description of the interesting things you found in this, the baby home of Canadian Confederation.

"It is my hope that the Canadian Appeal for Children will be greatly enhanced and augmented because of your presence today and of the message which you bring at a time when our actions may well speak louder than words."

FIRE INSURANCE RATING—Mr. Charles A. Bee, manager of the Prince Edward Island Board of Fire Underwriters, has announced that "Schedule Rating", a method of rating buildings for fire insurance purposes will go into effect in Charlottetown this year. The speaker emphasized that material aid at the present time was urgent, but still more important, was the need of understanding, and the people of the stricken countries. "The Nazis," he said, had warped the minds of the younger generation in Germany and it was necessary for the people of democratic countries to reach out to them. He described conditions in Poland and Czechoslovakia in harrowing detail. The offering at St. Paul's last evening will go towards the Appeal for Children.

PAPAL INVESTITURE

Joseph Callaghan, Secretary of the Society, who presented the official address.

After the reading of the address His Excellency Bishop Boye addressed the congregation calling attention to the high Papal honor that had come to his episcopal city and his diocese. He recalled the institution of the Order by Pope Gregory the Sixteenth in 1831, and the naming of it in honor of his illustrious predecessor and namesake Pope Gregory the First, who with Pope Leo the First shares the honor of the titles of Saint and Great. He recalled that it was St. Gregory the Great who sent Augustine and his monks to England in the fifth century.

His Excellency congratulated Dr. McMillan on the high honor that has come to him, and referred to his self-sacrificing work on behalf of his fellow man. He spoke also of the general feeling of pleasure which the announcement of the honor brought to people of all creeds and said that it was the public spirited work of such men as Dr. MacMillan that helped to foster the spirit of harmony and good will that exists among our people here.

The ceremony closed with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament given by Rev. Dr. McMahon. The music was furnished by the Corpus Christi choir under the direction of Mr. W. J. Brown, with Mrs. Joseph Dougan, organist. Present in the Sanctuary were Rev. Bernard Gillis; Rev. J. A. Sullivan, vice Rector of St. Dunstan's; Rev. Dr. R. G. Ellsworth and Rev. M. E. Francis of the University staff.

Address from Laity

Following is the text of the address delivered on behalf of the laity:

"The Honourable William Joseph Parnell MacMillan, D. D., M.A., Order of the British Empire; "Knight Commander of the Order of St. Gregory the Great." "Dear Knight Commander MacMillan:

"Tonight, we, members of the laity of St. Dunstan's Basilica Parish, wish to pay tribute to you, William Henry, Louis Doyle, John McInnis, Wendell Mullins.

"It has often been said that born leaders are few, perhaps, a word that is more accurate to say, that there are few who are willing to accept the responsibilities of leadership, be they in temporal or in spiritual spheres. All too seldom do we stop to think of or to measure the hardships and the great personal sacrifices which are demanded of our leaders. All too seldom are people cognizant of the time and energy unselfishly devoted by such men. Multiple and onerous are the duties of true leaders, and few are the rewards. All too often do honor and distinction seem to elude those who are most richly deserving. It is indeed pleasant, then, to see a life of service reap the rewards so well merited.

"Your life, Sir, has been such a life of service. You have been the most outstanding Catholic leader which this parish and this Province has had for many years. Only too well do you know the demands which such a role imposes, for the greater part of your life has been devoted to the welfare of others. Never have you hesitated to assume responsibility, and never have you been able to ignore an appeal on behalf of any worthy cause. There is scarcely a more familiar figure in the political, social, economic and religious life of this Province, is there a welfare organization in this Province of which you have not been an active and valued member? We shall not at this time attempt to recount your remarkable achievements. It is not necessary for we are all fully aware of them. The state has also been aware of them, and has at many times honored you for your accomplishments on her behalf.

"And now, your Church has honored you, for you have indeed been a worthy son. You have combined a life of service both to Church and State that is unique not only in this Province, but unique in the Dominion of Canada as well. In your many and varied activities, in your positions of trust, never have you wavered from, or compromised the basic principles of your Catholic faith—principles which are today endangered as never before. In your public life, you have never failed to defend those principles which your defence was necessary.

"In the past the Church through their multiple organizations has imposed many obligations on you, knowing full well that they would be willingly undertaken and capably performed. Her confidence in you has never been betrayed, and your zealous efforts on her behalf have marked you as her outstanding lay leader in this Province. In conferring on you the Order of Knight of St. Gregory, our Holy Father has said in effect:—'Well done, my faithful soldier; well and nobly have you performed in the field of battle for Christ and His Church.' To this praise and commendation from the Holy See, may we add ours. May we say that we are truly proud of you, and of your new honor. We are sincerely grateful for your excellent and outstanding service. Our sincere hope is that your life of service to Church and State may serve as a glowing inspiration to the younger men of this parish. May they enter the battlefield as willing, and may they carry on the good work with the same zeal, courage and unselfishness as has been so well exemplified throughout your distinguished career. Our prayer for you is that God may spare you many years yet in which you may enjoy the rewards and the distinction which you have so richly merited."

On behalf of the laity of St. Dunstan's Basilica Parish, Charlottetown.

Trend Towards Night Baseball Continues

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Feb. 15—(AP)—Although Chicago's Wrigley Field remains the only unlighted park in the majors, the trend toward night baseball during the last five years continues unabated in the National League.

The circuit's schedule, released today, reveals that a record 163 games will be played under the electric lights during the 1948 campaign. Last year the National League scheduled 147 arc-light tilts.

The American League schedule, announced a week ago, showed that the younger loop had scheduled even more night games than the National, 194. That total included the 14 night games scheduled by Detroit Tigers, who finally yielded to the other seven major-league owners to equip all eight American League parks with lights.

The trend is marked. In 1943, 91 night games were scheduled for the National League. In '44, the number was increased to 116. The following year, it was 128. Last year the total was 147. Now it's 163 out of a possible 616. That's positively electrifying.

There's another unique feature in the schedule. The season opens April 19, with only one game scheduled—that at Cincinnati with the Pirates assisting the Reds in inaugurating the season.

Except for the Pirates, Phils and Reds, the clubs have trimmed their Sunday doubleheaders considerably. The Pirates list 12 Sunday games, which will be able to see two games for the price of one. The Phils and Reds list nine twin bills each. The Giants are next with five; the Braves and Cards have three each and the Cubs one. The Dodgers, as last year, will not play a single Sunday doubleheader.

The season closes Oct. 3 for every club with the exception of one—that which gets into the World Series.

Save The Children Fund Progressing Well At Prince Of Wales

The students of Prince of Wales College, about 70 per cent of their quota for "Save the Children" in the first two days of collections. A total of $284.00 was banked on Saturday morning, with the unofficial total at about $350.00. A game of basketball between the "Whiffenpoofs" and the Vets netted about $20.00 for the fund. The game ended in a 17-all tie, which left supporters of both sides, if not happy, at least resigned that it wasn't worse. The fundraising will continue until midweek when it is confidently expected that the objective will have been achieved. The continued success of the drive speaks well for the organizing committee, whose work is largely taken for granted. Members of this committee are K. McKinnon, J. Stewart, J. Sterns, G. McLeod, M. Campbell, L. Tierney, and H. Dewar. The treasurer is E. Loughlin, B.S., of the faculty.

Railway Cars Moved

A car of chicken to be processed was sidling beside the factory and some other freight cars were also nearby. During the fire a locomotive was sent from Murray Harbor a few miles away and the cars were pulled out of danger. The car of chicken was only some 12 to 14 feet from the blazing factory.

The loss was said to include some $30,000 worth of canned goods, stored prior to shipment. A small cold storage plant, used in connection with the factory and housed in the same building, was also destroyed.

Work Throughout Night

Residents of the village worked throughout the night at the fire. The water was pumped from the river, the engine being located at the bridge. Only one line of hose was available, however. The cold storage plant was insulated with planer shavings and considerable difficulty was experienced in extinguishing the last embers of the fire in that section of the debris.

One thing was in favor of the fire fighters. The wind was blowing embers away from nearby buildings.

The plant is owned by Mr. C. H. Horton, prominent a few years ago in harness racing circles in the Maritimes. More recently the business has been operated by Mrs. Horton, in the illness of her husband.

Sport Shorts From Britain

By MICHAEL O'MARA (Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON, Feb. 12—(CP)—A 69-year-old victor of the last Olympic Games held in London is likely to run the final stage of the Olympic Torch Relay when the 1948 Games open at Wembley, July 29.

He is Joe Deakin who carried the baton home for the British three-mile relay team in the 1908 Games, now the only member of Britain's team for that Olympiad still on the active list.

Every Saturday he goes for a run in Richmond Park and a few weeks ago, with a 12-minute allowance he won the Surrey Athletic Club's five-mile championship.

The Torch, lit in Greece, will be carried across Europe by members of many athletic clubs and it is understood authorities plan to give Joe the honor of carrying it the last two miles into the stadium where the games will be staged.

All through the dark months of winter, Dan Mackell, veteran coach of the All-England Lawn Tennis Club, has been trying to find a future British Wimbledon champion—and thinks he may be succeeding.

He is giving daily lessons to about 30 young players passed on to him by the coaching committee of the Lawn Tennis Association, and says:

"Admittedly, this work is of a long-term order—there is no one developed enough to face the world's best players yet. But there is good material among the 20."

These are the names to watch for, says Dan: John Horn, Peter Bond, E. M. G. Earle.

Many cricket fans think it's high time starry Denis Compton gave up soccer and concentrated on the summer game, as most of those who have played both sports professionally have done. But Denis Compton doesn't think so.

He says he regards soccer as essential in his fight against increasing weight. Playing for Arsenal reserves this season, he enabled him to trim down from 190 pounds to 178 and he hopes to be a few pounds lighter yet before he takes the field against Don Bradman's Australians next summer.

Meanwhile Denis is being outshone at the winter sport by his brother Leslie, whose straight play at centre-half is considered one of the big reasons that the Arsenal first team has stayed on top of the first division all season.
