MacMahon, the ritual hymns being sung by the Corpus Christi choir. The day was fine, and hundreds of citizens gathered along the line of march, both to and from the Cathedral to view the procession, which, marshalled by Mr. E. Ready, assisted by Messrs. Michael O'Neill and Leo Dowling and headed by the League of the Cross Band moved off from the Rosary hall at 3 p. m. proceeding to the church via Queen, Richmond and Great George Street. In the second raid today a non-combatant was killed and a Frenchman was wounded. The bomb dropped about 30 yards from the United States consulate. It was this bomb that killed the non-combatant. The French consulate is ready to file a complaint. Citizens were indignant at being exposed to the air raids of the federal aeroplanes. The federal plane appeared over the city shortly after 10 a. m. and dropped two bombs. The first struck in the heart of the city and the second near the American consulate. The plane was reported to have left Empalme at 9.45 for its raid indicating that the federal forces were nearby.

Old Age Pensions

(Special to the Guardian) TORONTO, March 17.—Premier Ferguson's old age pensions legislation, which was introduced to the Legislature yesterday, is not likely to be operating before November 1—the start of another fiscal year—but in case it should be ready to function before that time, the government has prepared itself to make pension payments. Authority is provided in the act to pay out of the consolidated revenue fund in case such a situation arises. According to the survey made last summer the dependents filed by J. A. Ellis, director of the bureau of municipal affairs, between 18,000 and 20,000 old people of the province will be eligible for pensions. A gross payment annually of approximately $4,500,000 will be required. Of this sum the Dominion government will pay $2,225,000. The balance will be split on a 30 and 20 per cent basis between the province and the municipalities.

PRINCE GEORGE PRESIDENT TRANSPORT SERVICES

The King is patron of the Scouts, the Prince of Wales is chief scout for Wales, the Duke of York president for London and the Duke of Gloucester president for Gloucestershire.

TRANSPORT SERVICES

The sister organization—for the girl guide movement can surely be called that—is also warmly supported by royalty for Princess Mary holds high rank in it. Also unique is the fact that every royal ruler and Prince in the civilized world, with one exception, is a scout. The exception is the King of Italy; whose country is scoutless.

BRIDGEMAN TO RETIRE

(Special to the Guardian) WASHINGTON, March 16.—Official Washington learned with interest today the man who generally is blamed for smashing former President Coolidge's 1927 naval limitations conference at Geneva has announced his intention to retire from the British House of Commons. The man is W. C. Bridgeman, First Lord of the Admiralty—corresponding to the United States Secretary of the navy—and the snap judgment of official Washington today is Bridgeman's decision not to stand again for parliament, had somewhat improved the chances of eventual naval limitations agreement between London and Washington.

Pretending To Be Prohibition Inspectors They Attempted To Make Fake Seizure Of Liquor, And Took Money Instead

Other Cases Before Court At Summerside. The Summerside police court was kept busy last week in investigating some serious crimes lately committed in the town. One individual, Benjamin Sonier, was held for burglary at also highway robbery. The case against him were part heard on four consecutive days and did not end until late on Saturday afternoon. The case relating to the breaking into the prohibition vendor's liquor store on Water Street was the first to be heard. The entry appears to have been made by breaking a large pane of glass in the upper part of the door leading from the street into the store and the evidence was that as a citizen was proceeding to his work near the locality at an early hour one morning he saw a man standing on the sidewalk by this door leading into the vendor's store. He heard a whistle and saw this man run down an alleyway adjoining these premises. He then saw another man jump out of the vendor's place through the broken window and pick up a case on the side walk and also run for the same alleyway. The witness followed the last man down the alleyway and recognized him. On the arrival of the vendor it was discovered that several cases of beer were missing and after some searching one full case of beer was found in the alleyway. The prisoner was sent up for trial to the higher court. In the other case it appeared from the evidence that while a young man was proceeding along Water Street he was caught by two men who represented themselves as prohibition prosecutors and caught him by the arm and led him to a horse shoe nearby. There with threats of taking him to jail for creating a disturbance they proceeded to search him for liquor. Finding none the matter was compromised for the time being by the victim paying two dollars to the would-be liquor prosecutors and a promise to appear at the police court the following morning. The victim appeared at the court as promised but needless to say the would-be inspectors were conspicuous by their absence. Sonier was also sent up for trial to the higher court on this charge. The police are to be congratulated on their successful efforts to end the crime wave which has lately been disturbing the citizens of Summerside. Let the good work continue.
