EARTH GROWS HOTTER INSTEAD OF COLDER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—During the last few years the supposition that the earth is growing colder has received a setback from the consideration of the consequences which result from the discovery of radium in the world's rocks. Says a London paper "radium exists throughout the interior of the globe in the same quantities in which it appears in the surface rocks, then such is the volume of heat which it would render up that the earth ought to be growing hotter instead of colder. If, furthermore, the earth were slightly increasing in temperature the amount of rainfall precipitated from the atmosphere would be come greater rather than less, and as, at the same time, the amount of water shut up in the earth's rocks would also be forced out in greater quantities by increasing heat, it would not be possible to suppose that the earth's surface was becoming drier. M. Boutquin in Ciel et Terre has lately been at pains to point out some of the historic tokens of change of climate. Asia furnishes a great many instances of them, and in the slow, pendulum like changes in the neighborhood of Lob-Nor; but there are many minor examples in Europe. Minard's Liniment Cures Cold, &c.

ELECTRICITY REVIVIFIES A DEAD RABBIT

NEW YORK, November 24—In the presence of "medical men," scientists, electrical experts, and officials of the New York Edison company, a demonstration was given yesterday of how an animal can apparently be killed by electricity and then be brought back to life by an application of an electric current so gauged that the heart and lungs are compelled to take up again their interrupted functions. The demonstration was given by Dr. Louise G. Robinovitch, a young Russian woman, who came here from France a few years ago and created a stir in the medical world by announcing that she would restore life to animals apparently dead. The officials of the Edison company earned of the demonstrations which had been given in the country and abroad by Dr. Robinovitch, and became interested. Every year many workmen are accidentally killed by electricity in the high power plants of the company. It was suggested that animals which have been shocked to death can be restored to life, why not human beings. Minard's Liniment cures Garget in cows. HERBERT READ CASE A MYSTERY

Police Thought They Had a Clue but it Proved to be Delusive.

The police thought they had a clue, as a number of people identified a photo shown them as that of a man staying at the Russel House and having a good time. IN MEMORY OF PROF. FERRER

PARIS, November 24—Mlle Paz Ferrer, the actress, who has returned to France after a visit to the place where her father was executed in Barcelona, has written an open letter in defence of his memory. She declares that he was never more than a harmless philosopher, teaching his doctrines in retirement and tranquility and never inciting any one to violence. The play model of a statue in Ferrer's honor, which has been offered gratuitously by the French sculptor, Derre, has been completed and is strikingly original. Ferrer is represented at the fusillade, sustained by the spirit of humanity embodied in a symbolical figure, and behind this group are the other victims of Mootz, a confused mass along the wall of the fortress, all in the act of falling before the bullets of the executioners.

THE DEATH OF FRANCIS CUMMINGS

The sad news reached this city yesterday of the sudden death of Francis Cummings, formerly of this province and more recently located in San Francisco, Cal. and Berkeley, Cal. The late Mr. Cummings celebrated his seventieth birthday on the 12th inst and up to the day of his death had been in his usual good health. He had been attending to his duties during the morning of the day of his death, and after lunch, was in the act of putting on his shoes, when he suddenly threw up his hands and fell to the floor. He was placed on a couch and died a few moments later. He was a native of this province and removed to Woburn, Mass. and was in that town when Fort Sumpter was fired upon in the American Civil war. He enlisted in the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, and served during all engagements in which he was a participant. He was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic in San Francisco, and was a Past Commander of that institution there. His funeral was held under the auspices of that organization and was largely attended by sympathizing friends, the floral offerings being of beautiful design and very numerous. The deceased left to mourn a widow, and five sisters, viz: Mrs. Nell Henderson Donner, Mrs. Enock Ackland, Haunspaire, (P. E. I.); Mrs. William Stevenson, (P. E. KAISER'S CASTLE TO COST $7,000,000

BERLIN, Nov. 24—The Kaiser's new palace in Posen—it deserves rather to be called a fortress—is nearing completion. It was designed by the German architect Frans Schwetens not merely as an imperial residence, for the Kaiser will not spend more than a few days each year there, but as an imposing sign of the German government's determination to maintain its grip on Prussia Poland, of which Posen is the capital, and carry out unflinchingly its policy of Germanizing an alien and hostile people.

HISTORIC CALIFORNIAN RUINS PRESERVED

LOS ANGELES, Cal. Nov. 24—Preserve the missions! That is the key note of a movement which before the Pacific to the Atlantic in the dawn of 1910 will be heard from the preserve the crumbling ruins of the old Spanish missions in California. Wealth and influence of California's most prominent citizens are being exerted, and their plan to make the movement countrywide in its scope. Like pages from medieval history, they are touched the responsive chord. President Taft lent his influence to the preservation plan in his speech at Riverside, Cal.

The stories of the missions are like pages from medieval history. They today they stand almost in a state of decay, with the exception of the edifice at Santa Barbara, which, thanks to the public spirit, has been restored to all its beauty. Three of the finest of the missions—San Juan Capistrano, San Antonio, and San Batista—are in need of immediate attention. San Fernando Mission, in the San Fernando Valley, is deserted and rapidly going to ruins. Some effort at preservation has been made at San Gabriel, between Los Angeles and San Diego, and today it is in fairly good shape.
