ORIGIN OF THE PEACH

(By Peter McArthur)

It is sometimes a mistake to consult the Encyclopædia before writing an article. The misinformation in the world is much more picturesque than the facts. Facts have a tendency to make one prosy and commonplace.

I am moved to make these observations because for some time past I had been meditating a little essay on the peach, and I remembered a story I had heard or read somewhere about the origin of this most delicious fruit. According to the best of my information and belief up to fifteen minutes ago the peach originated in Spain after the Moorish invasion. The African conquerors brought with them bitter almonds with which to poison their arrows and planted the pits in the newly conquered country so that they might have a ready supply of this method of spreading Moorish Kultur. As they had no Hague Tribunal in those days there were no international agreements against using poisoned weapons—and it probably wouldn't have mattered much if there had been.

But to resume. According to the pretty tale I remembered, the bitter almond developed in the salubrious climate of Spain and lost its ancient character, ceased to be poisonous and became a peach. With this as a text I had proposed to write in China, the one really good thing that the world has ever derived from war, but alas, I needed a few more facts and I consulted the Encyclopædia where I found no mention of my pretty Spanish tale. I found both Greek and Latin references to the peach and a learned discussion as to whether the fruit had been first developed to perfection in Persia or in China. The only reference to the bitter almond was a note to the effect that Darwin regarded the peach as a relation of the almond. It seems that in China they not only raise peaches of excellent quality but also of unusual shapes. They have a flat peach in which the seeds of the pit are merely covered by the skin while the sides have a thick layer of fruit pulp. They also have another kind which is long and crooked and as nearly as I could learn from the dictionary all kinds of peaches are good eating. It is pleasing to know that even the Encyclopædia gives Canada the credit for raising the best peaches of all, and now they are at their best.

THE PREACHER'S FRUIT

(By Peter McArthur)

Once upon a time—you see I know how to begin a story in the right way—a barefoot boy danced by the roadside and shouted gleefully. It was in Canada, back in the nineteenth century, in the pioneer days. The little boy was healthy and freckled and what he lacked in clothes he made up inside of clothes. And he was very, very happy. In fact he was so happy that a passing friend stopped to ask him the cause of it all.

"Hurray!" shouted he of the freckles.

"Why so happy?" asked the friend.

"The preacher is coming to dinner!"

"I didn't think you were so fond of him."

"I ain't, but whenever the preacher comes to dinner we always have peach preserves."

It really is not much of a story and I am giving it on account of its archæo-logical interest and not because it is so very funny. It dates back to the days when people merely knew that peaches are the best of fruits and had not discovered that Canada is the best place to raise the very best of them. The woman who was fortunate enough to get some from a sheltered orchard or from a lone tree that was so fortunately situated that it escaped the frost put up a few to extra special occasions as the visit of the preacher. In those days the minister was a much more welcome visitor on the farm than the agent of get-rich-quick concerns and mining promoters and there is a moral to that if I only had time to moralize. I preserve peaches unless they get them at sacrifice prices. Yet these same women will pay from ten to fifteen cents a quart for currants and berries that need far more sugar to do them up than the already sweet peaches. As peaches usually come in eleven-quart baskets you will find if you divide the price by eleven that peaches cost less per quart than any other fruit. But because they were once so great a luxury housewives are slow to realize that they should have more of them than of any kind of fruit, for they are both the cheapest and the best. There is no reason why every farmer's wife in the districts where peaches cannot be grown should not buy them as freely as they do other fruits and have them not only when the preacher comes to dinner but when the boys and girls come home from the city and at all other times when they want to have something luxurious on the table.

Also it should be remembered that for eating from the hand the peach is the best fruit of all, but you should use for this purpose only the peaches that you buy in the full light of day. Once upon a time, or perhaps I should say "Once upon another time," a newly arrived Irishman went out with a friend to steal peaches. It was dark and Pat had been told to grope along the branches for the fruit. Presently he whispered, "Molke!" His friend answered "Phwat!" "Has patches got legs?" "Naw." "Then begobs I've swallowed a straddle bug."

Running Nose Colds Cured Sneezing Stopped Instantly

The worst of a cold is how suddenly it comes. No time to hurry to the drug store, croup develops, the lungs are affected with pneumonia or tuberculosis and it's too late. Keep Carrhazone on hand—it kills colds instantly. Something magical about the way it cures catarrh and bronchitis. Carrhazone is the best remedy because it cures in nature's way: it heals, soothes and restores permanently. Carry a Carrhazone inhaler in your pocket, use it occasionally and you'll never catch cold, that's worth remembering.

Beware of dangerous substitutes meant to deceive you for genuine Carrhazone which is sold everywhere, large size containing two months treatment costs $1.00; small size 50c; sample size 25c.

SAVING MOTHER'S STEPS

There are so many steps for mother to take every day. She is kept busy, trotting about from morning till night. Her work is unending. Doesn't it ever occur to you to save mother steps by offering to fetch some needed articles? asks a writer in the American "Messenger."

A helping hand in the kitchen is always acceptable. Willing feet to run errands will not be refused. Mother's hands and feet get tired, and she is ready and glad to make use of service offered by her boy or girl. Such service is sweet to hear, and how happy it will make you who offer it.

Mother would be less weary, too, at night, if she did not have to repeat things so often. Prompt obedience would save her voice, as willing errands her feet.

One way of serving Jesus is to serve mother. The Saviour was obedient to his parents and did their bidding. He had nothing to regret, when recalling his boyhood days.

Help your mother, boys and girls. Save her all you can and thus lengthen her days. Remember that "Honor thy mother" is the first commandment with promise.

WOMAN SUFFERED TEN YEARS

From Female Ills—Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Belleville, N.S., Canada.—"I doctored for ten years for female troubles and did not get well. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. I write now to tell you that I am cured. You can publish my letter as a testimonial."

Mrs. SUVRINE BARNES, Belleville, Nova Scotia, Canada.

Another Woman Recovers. Auburn, N. Y.—"I suffered from nervousness for ten years, and had such organic pains that sometimes I would lie in bed four days at a time, could not eat or sleep and did not want anyone to talk to me or bother me at all. Sometimes I would suffer for seven hours at a time. Different doctors did the best they could for me until four months ago I began giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and now I am in good health."—Mrs. WILLIAM H. GILL, No. 15 Pleasant Street, Auburn, New York.

The above are only two of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which show clearly what great things Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound does for those who suffer from woman's ills.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.
