The HOUSEWIFE and HER ACTIVITIES

DISTANCE. To the distance! ah, the distance! Peace is not in a garden or meadow, but beyond the rim.

NICE 'CUPPA TEA'. A typical British invitation to have "a nice cup of tea" today ended the baby carriage sit-down strike of angry mothers in Brockwell Park in South London.

The World is Full of Desirable Girls Who Will Make Excellent Wives if Only the Supercilious Young Men Will Look for Them

Dear Miss Dix—I am 27 and a discouraged and disgusted young man in so far as the opposite sex is concerned. I wish to marry, but the cat-tiness, the jealousy, the desire for money, clothes and good times of the modern girl freeze up my romantic longings.

Answer: Certainly I can. One does not have to be a Sherlock Holmes to locate the lady. She is right under your nose. Across the street. Or maybe she works next to you in an office. Likely as not you went to school with her and have known her ever since you wore rompers.

And the only reason you haven't found her is because you are either blind, or you are one of those men who never know a good thing when they see it, or because you have looked for the right sort of girl in the wrong sort of place.

There are plenty of them. The woods are full of them. You couldn't shake a stick in any church or girls' club, lecture room, store or office without striking up scores of them.

Your list of requirements in a wife is reasonable, and if you have not found a girl who measures up to your standard it must be because you have got so panicky and pessimistic that you don't trust your own judgment and eyesight.

Also, most girls are far more intelligent than men suspect. The reason girls talk and act like morons is because the majority of men prefer them that way and flee from a girl who has brains as they would from one who had the smallpox.

Virtually every girl is faithful to a man who will let her be. Half of the girls who look like a daily hint from Paris have made their own hats and gowns and washed their lingerie themselves.

So my advice to you is to get up your courage, stick your hand in the grabbag and draw out a prize, since you are too scared to look about for the kind of a wife you want.

Dear Dorothy Dix—What can I do with a husband who is so sensitive that he keeps me walking on eggs all the time, and even at that I am sure to make a misstep that sends him for days into spells of silence and pouting?

Answer: Sensitiveness is only egotism and selfishness raised to the nth degree. So far as my experience and observation go it is one of the vices that is incurable.

The sensitive keep their feelings spread all over the place. They expect everybody else to perform acrobatic feats in keeping off of them, but they never have the slightest regard for anybody else's feelings, or make an effort to keep from doing something that will hurt others.

I know women who make their sensitiveness an alibi for their triflingness. They are so sensitive that they can't bear to go to work in a store or office, hence somebody else has to support them.

I know plenty of women who are so sensitive they cannot take the slightest suggestion or criticism without bursting into tears, and who are always expecting people to apologize for having hurt their feelings by some oversight or chance remark, which was entirely unintentional.

Men are not often so thin-skinned, but when they are they are just as hard to deal with as the spoony women are. The only thing you can do is to just leave them to indulge in the r orgies of self-pity and harden your heart against them.

Dear Miss Dix—What is love? A. B.

Answer: Your correspondent sends this beautiful definition of love, and it was written by an old bachelor, none other than Saint Paul, in his letter to the Corinthians. It says: "Love suffereth long and is kind. Love envieth not and vaunteth not itself. It is not puffed up. Love seeketh not its own and is not easily provoked. It thinketh no evil. It rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in truth."

A Morning Smile. Friend: "What a loving wife you have. Here you've been married for 16 years and I notice that she still meets you at the door when you come home from work."

Vicar—I have never christened a child who was as well behaved as yours. Mother (beaming)—I have been getting him used to it with the watering can for the last two weeks.

FINICKY APPETITES OFTEN ONE RESULT OF CONSTIPATION. When nothing tastes right, and you don't eat as you should, the trouble may be common constipation. Poor appetite is one of its symptoms.

ANNALS ARE THE FLOWERS FOR CUTTING

The small gardener who has an oversupply of cutting material in his flower bed is a rarity.

This is one instance, at least, where the old adage, "Your mouth is bigger than your stomach," does not apply, for most people plant too few flowers for cutting purposes and although they swear each fall that next year they will plant twice as many, when the time actually comes they haven't enough.

The truth of the matter is that summer flowers live up to a living room like no other one thing, and the owner who is fortunate enough to have a garden full of them can't help robbing it by the hundred to bring into the house.

Annals are way out and above the other flowers for this purpose. For brilliancy of color, variety, ease of culture and certainly, they are unrivaled.

There are so many good varieties it is difficult to form a list, but here are a few sure-fire growers: Sweet alyssum and ageratum as edging plants, calendulas, chrysanthemums, nasturtiums, annual galliardias, petunias, scabiosa, if
