SOLVE THIS GREAT RADIO MYSTERY MESSAGE

One night Willie Pinkerton and his family were enjoying a wonderful concert over the radio from station K.A.L.E. when all of a sudden the concert stopped and a mysterious code message came out of the loud speaker. Nobody knew what it meant, as he had been studying secret codes as used by International Secret Service Agents he soon knew what the mysterious message meant. Willie Pinkerton managed to decipher it. Can you?

HOW HE DEIPHERED IT

His Pa and Ma wanted to know what the message meant but Willie wouldn't tell them. He told them how he worked it out to see if they could do it too. He told them the message contained 11 words, each little group of letters representing a word. Start by writing the alphabets down from A to Z and number each letter beginning at 2 (first as number 1, Y, X, W, V, and so on. Then change by finding which number each letter represents. Then you must write down another alphabet numbering it the right way. A number 1, B, C, D, and so on. Change the numbers back into letters by finding the letter corresponding to that number. In order to help them he told them the first word was "It." Decipher the complete message. If you can send your answer right away to compete for the big prizes. The entry containing 200 points wins first prize. (See rules.) Be neat and careful. Comply with the rules and be sure of a prize.

Happenings

English literature should not be taught as a discipline, but the student should be exposed to it in the hope that he will catch it, while Dr. Blackall of St. John's, Nfld., declared himself ready to sacrifice everything else in the curriculum for the sake of English and the power of expression that this meant. He felt that once the student had a grasp of English, the other matters would come. He regretted when he visited this country to note that Canadians continued to talk of each other as English Canadians or as French Canadians.

Miss Ruth Hartz came home from McGill for the Easter holidays spent delightfully with the parents, Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Hartz.

The ladies were busy this week calling, taking advantage of the first Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday, as the case may be, to pay back their social obligations. After April this pleasant pastime is usually terminated until Autumn.

Rev. Ewen MacDougall is at present in Medford, Mass., where he is being cordially welcomed by many former Islanders.

Principal R. Bruce Taylor, of Queen's University, Kingston, who is well known here, where the family were regular summer visitors, announces the engagement of his youngest daughter, Lois Arnot, to Mr. Walter Cunningham Geale Windeyer, only son of Major W. F. N. Windeyer, of Toronto. The marriage to take place on May 1.

Prof. J. A. Clark, who has been home for the Easter season, leaves this morning on return to St. Ann's De Bellevue.

Mrs. Allan Parson and her daughter, Miss Gerda Parsons, Dorchester street, Montreal West, who have been travelling in Europe since January sailed from Havre on the 30th by the Paris for New York, and were expected home about April 7.

The news that Hon. J. C. Elliott, new minister of labor, is a bachelor has caused a flutter among the fair sex in Ottawa. Eligible bachelors are scarce in the capital the most outstanding exception has been the prime minister himself. On the other hand the senior set are wondering what is to happen to the social life of the capital if all the social lions are to be unaccompanied by wives who will take an interest in social affairs. At present only four of the cabinet ministers are residing in the capital with their families and there is much speculation whether the parliamentary reception will take place this year. The reception of the wives of the cabinet ministers has been one of the most important of the capital's social functions and one of the few to take place in the sacred precincts of the Hall of Fame. Mr. Elliott's appointment may bring strength to the government but it is disappointing to the social set. Hon. Charles Dunning is also unaccompanied, as Mrs. Dunning will not arrive from the west until after the western school term closes.

The investigation into the Anderson robbery case was resumed at the police court yesterday morning at 10 o'clock.

An unusually large crowd was waiting to gain admittance but no more were allowed in than could be seated.

The first witness was Mrs. Conway on being sworn said she remembered Sunday, March 28th, clearly in her house around 6 o'clock. He was in parlor. Left her place at 5 minutes to 7.

To Attorney General—Looked at the clock. Her girls were going to church. Miss Donceff on being sworn said: Was to church on Sunday, March 28. Was with Ambrose DeCoste and Miss Pineau. Know the prisoner. Could not swear it was him I met on Sunday evening. Met some person looked like him on the square, near Queen Square School corner. It was 7 o'clock. It was fairly bright. Was subpoenaed here. Did not wish to come. Mr. Johnston "Did any one of the three pass any remark about the person passed?"

The Attorney General objected and His Honor overruled the objection. Mr. Johnston asked His Honor to take the question down. This was done.

"Did either DeCoste or Miss Pineau know who the party was?"

This question also disallowed, but taken down.

"Did either Mr. DeCoste or Miss Pineau or yourself speak to this party?"

Witness—"Yes."

"Which of the three spoke?"

Witness—"We all spoke. I spoke to him. Not by name. I don't speak to parties I don't know. I said "Hello." I have known this party about a year. He said "Hello" first. He did not mention my name.

Mr. Johnston—"That person you met will you state who you thought or believed who the person was?"

Mr. DeCoste on being sworn said he remembered the Sunday evening. Remembered meeting this party. Know party intimately. Thought it was Fardy. Did not call him by name. Knew him for five years. It was very dark. About thirty feet away from him. He was alone. Took the party to be Fardy. It was some time around 7 o'clock.

Miss Pineau on being sworn said she remembered going to church on Sunday night, March 28th. She knew the boy Fardy. Could not swear she met him. Thought it was him. Spoke to him. Witness thought it was Fardy.

To His Honor—I was going to church. He was going the other way. The Attorney General then brought in rebuttal evidence regarding the time the prisoner was supposed to have been at the Queen Hotel. He called Maimie McCallum who on being sworn said: Am a maid at the Queen Hotel. Remembered Sunday, March 28th. There were young men in the kitchen that evening. The prisoner, Doiron and McLeod. Doiron came down first and looked in the door. Fardy came in next. It was about a quarter to eight. The other two boys came in after.

Mr. Johnston—"When I came down Fardy was sitting on table. Don't know how long he was there. This concluded the evidence for the crown and defence and in addressing the court Mr. Johnston asked that the case be dismissed. If this case was this more a grand jury it would not be sent up for trial but every man submitted there is no evidence—the crown produced no evidence. This boy had money in his pocket. He had a perfect right to have money. He was not called to be asked where he got this money. It was not identified as stolen money. But if every man who has money in his possession can be arrested when money is reported stolen we are coming to a poor state of affairs—liberty would be destroyed. The boys go down to Anderson's house and see foot prints. If no care where they saw them. They did not measure them—made no attempt to measure them. They arrest this boy. They thought they had evidence such as gum on the keys. Oh they said there was something on the keys the size of the head of a match. Oh it was gum but when questioned closely they did not know whether it was gum or not. But these marks vanished. There was gum found in the prisoner's pocket but it was not opened. They had endeavored to show in their defence where the prisoner was during the whole afternoon and night in question, from 1 o'clock until 10, in order to establish a complete alibi. Some of the witness were not a bit too friendly as we have just said. They had no proof, not sure, etc. No doubt one of the girls was a beaux of the boy and she did not wish it known she was going to church with another fellow. Then the two girls work in the same office and no doubt have talked things over. But they spoke to him but would not swear it was him. Would any jury believe it was not the boy. Mr. Johnston then traced the whereabouts of Fardy, commencing at 1 o'clock when he went out to Falconwood returning at 5:30, having supper and going into Conways and staying until 6:55; met near the Square at 7 o'clock; Angus Pineau seeing him in church at 7:10. How long asked Mr. Johnston would it take him to go to Anderson's, light matches and hunt around for stolen money and then go out the back door to Grafton Street. He was met at 7 o'clock "far away" from the premises and at 7:10 Pineau sees him in the porch of the church and spoke to him. Then sees

Glen William Items

Winter still lingers in the lap of spring. Yet the good folks of this locality have reason to be thankful for the enjoyment of unusually good health. A doctor has not visited the Glen since early winter.

The "old home town" was glad to welcome back from the lumber camps John Murchison, Peter McLeod, Dan McPherson and John McPherson all of whom returned looking hale and hearty.

Malcolm A. McDonald and John McPherson have the misfortune to be laid by for awhile, the former having badly injured his hand, while the latter cut his foot, when getting out some lumber.

Notwithstanding the unfavorable winter and the bad condition of the roads, a number have been able to get the usual supply of fire wood, proving that "where there's a will there's a way."

As a harbinger of spring we notice that our enterprising citizen Joseph W. Acorn has resumed work with his paint and whitewash brush.

Our local merchant M. R. McLeod reports business to be in a flourishing condition.

Mrs. John H. Stewart and Mrs. Jas. E. Collins recently paid a visit to Mt. Albion, while there they were the guests of Mrs. Robert Jenkins, daughter of Mrs. Stewart.

The Glen William school is now closed for the Easter holidays. The teacher Miss Christine McPhee will attend the Teachers' Federation during the holidays.

Angus J. Martin reports radio reception in fine condition.

The young people who attended the play "Light House Nan", given by the Murray Harbor Dramatic Club, pronounce it a great success.

The "hooking fever" still rages. One lady has hooked this season as many as nine mats, an accomplishment hard to beat.

Stewart McDonald who has been working on the Hillsboro Bridge is now home on a short vacation. Later he will continue bridge work at Marle.

During this time when our attention is directed to various contests and their participants, it is interesting to note the achievement of one of our Island girls. Late last autumn and several months after the regular classes had been formed, Miss Mary McLeod Allison entered the Wilson Commercial College, Seattle, Washington, as an undergraduate. Within a short time she attracted much attention by a phenomenal speed and accuracy in mental tests. Later Miss McLeod with twenty others were selected from the entire student body to compete in the final contest, in Rapid Calculation, Miss McLeod winning out with a score of 400 out of 4000 marks, the reward a beautifully inscribed gold medal, which was never before won in that institution by an undergraduate.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. ALDER C. BOWNESS

A late copy of the Cranbrook Herald, just to hand contains an extended obituary of the late Mrs. Alder C. Bowness who died in Cranbrook, B. C., and was buried there on Sunday, March 21. The profound respect shown to the deceased lady is a convincing testimony of the very high esteem in which she, her husband, and family are held by the multitude of friends in the home of their adoption. The Pythian Sisters from Cranbrook and Kincherley were present to pay the final tribute to their revered Most Excellent Chief Representative from the Native Daughters. The Native Daughters were also present.

The funeral service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. M. S. Blackburn and was sublimely adequate to the solemnity of the event.

The Reverend speaker finely displayed the many excellent qualities that this lady possessed and how she conformed her actions consistent with these traits. He particularly emphasized the assistance that she rendered to the many organizations of which she was a member, the many homes that she visited, and the many needy families to whom she gave charitable assistance. He emphasized the striking
