—CIVIL SERVICE PROMOTION—Many friends at Summerside, where he was formerly a very popular member of the staff of the Bank of Commerce, will be interested to know that Mr. Fenton Crossman has been promoted to Grade 3 in the Department of Immigration and Colonization, with a substantial increase in salary. He has been transferred from Ottawa to St. John, N. B. Mr. Crossman's home is in Cape Wolfe where his career is being watched with interest. Before his promotion he occupied a position as stenographer in the aerial inspection Department of National Defence at Ottawa. E.

—LITTLE STEER AS YET—With civic nomination day only a few days away very little interest is at present in evidence and it seems probable that at least Mayor Lidstone and councillor Philips will be elected by acclamation. This leaves only two wards in which there may or may not be a contest. Councillor Grady is offering for re-election in the West ward and a new nomination is in order for the centre ward as Councillor Schurman has intimated that he does not wish to run again, as his time is so fully taken up with his own business, especially in the summer months. At present Mr. Thomas Bishop is offering for re-election on the water and sewerage commission. E.

—CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY—At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society of Prince County, held in the Town Hall, Summerside, on Tuesday the 11th officer, Mr. Vincent Harrington, in his report of the month stated that there were practically no truant. There were some absentees from illness. He stated that there were a good many cases of want among the poor of the town this winter, and that several children could not attend school on account of lack of sufficient clothing. He regretted his appeal for second hand clothing had met with such a poor response. What little clothing he had received, he distributed; but more was needed, especially for children between the ages of nine and thirteen years, and any second hand clothing which would be left at his house on Church Street would be placed to the best advantage. It seems too bad that in a town as well off as the town of Summerside that conditions like the above should be permitted to exist. He also reported that during the month he had taken three children to the St. Vincent's Orphanage, Charlottetown. An appeal was read regarding a family at Richmond where there were thirteen children badly in need of clothes and twenty five dollars was voted by the Society to relieve the situation. The agent was also instructed to see that those children in need of clothing to attend school in Summerside be attended to forthwith. The truant officer stated that many citizens drew his attention to boys on the streets and asked him why they were not attending school, he would draw the attention of the public to the fact that under the school act the compulsory attendance was between the ages of seven and thirteen, and that the children seen on the streets were over thirteen years and that he could do nothing in the matter. He also reported that he found it difficult to enforce the compulsory attendance clause against parents or guardians of children, as those having the en-

—MODERN IMPROVEMENTS AT Falconwood. The laundry at Falconwood has been recently equipped with modern electrically heated pressing irons. This was long needed. The laundry maids with their "patient" help suffered much from the enervating effects of the heat from the laundry stove, especially during the hot weather. Now, no stove is required and the building is kept warm enough by the heat from the drying closet. Thus one antiquated system after another gives place to time-saving inventions.

—INSTITUTE WORK—The monthly meeting of the Mt. Hope Women's Institute was held on Jan. 31st at the beautiful new home of Mrs. Sterling McSwain with eight members and one visitor present. Meeting opened by singing Institute Ode and Roll Call was responded to by New Years Resolutions. After reading of minutes a letter appealing for help for Orphanage was read and collectors appointed for same. The members also decided to hold a bean supper on Feb. 18th. The following committees were then appointed: Sick Committee, Mrs. D. McKay and Mrs. L. Currie, School Committee, Mrs. V. H. Dockendorff and Mrs. A. G. Hudson. One new member was heartily welcomed to our Institute. The program consisted of recitations by Mrs. L. Currie and reading by Mrs. V. H. Dockendorff. Next meeting to be held at the home of our president, Mrs. Daniel McKay and Roll Call to be answered with "My Favorite Proverb. Meeting closed by singing "The Maple Leaf." A dainty lunch was then served by the hostess.

—INSTITUTE WORK—The regular monthly meeting of Morell East Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Ranaghan on Wednesday evening, January 29th. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Warren Webster and opened with the reading of the Creed in unison. Although the night was cold and disagreeable nine members and one visitor were present. The minutes of previous meeting were read, approved and signed. Correspondence was then read by the secretary. A letter was received from a member of the Institute, who had been ill and was visited during her illness by the sick committee, (Mrs. Wm. Ranaghan and Mrs. Vincent Ranaghan). It showed in a special manner what the sick committee can accomplish in a district. A book of lottery tickets were sold that was received from a neighboring Institute. The school committee appointed for the month of February were Mrs. Warren Webster and Mrs. Michael Tobin. Sick Committee for February is Helen Tobin and Mary Aylward. A discussion followed on holding an entertainment. Mrs. Warren Webster invited the members to her home for the February meeting. Lunch was then served in the hostess' usual good style and meeting closed by singing the National Anthem.

Warm Tributes To Late Dr. Jenkins By His Colleagues

The following tributes to the late Dr. S. R. Jenkins, are published in a recent issue of the Canadian Medical Association Journal:

Dr. Stephen Rice Jenkins, F. A. C. S., Prince Edward Island's most distinguished physician, died at his home in Charlottetown, September 15th, after a brief illness. He was apparently in his usual good health until September 9th when he developed an acute cholecystitis. This was complicated three days later by the onset of pneumonia in the left lower lobe, which in spite of a very gallant fight brought the end on the evening of September 15th.

Dr. Jenkins was born in Charlottetown, November 12, 1858, the son of Dr. J. T. Jenkins, a prominent practitioner of that time. He obtained considerable medical training in his father's office both before and during his medical course, which he received at the University of Pennsylvania, graduating in 1884. After a year's internship in the Old Blockley Hospital, Philadelphia, he returned to practice in Charlottetown, immediately plunging into the heroic work of the 1885 smallpox epidemic. He remained in active practice here until his last illness.

His exceptional qualities of heart and mind gradually secured to him the largest medical and surgical practice on Prince Edward Island, which preeminence he maintained to the end.

A man of keen intellect, indefatigable energy, and ever youthful spirit he managed, in spite of the heavy demands of his practice, to keep abreast of the latest advances in medicine; while his high sense of honour, kindly tolerance and mature wisdom won for him the affectionate esteem of patients and fellow practitioners alike.

An efficient executive, he was an active and valued participant in the councils of the Canadian Medical Association as well as of the local societies. His appointment to the presidency of the Canadian Medical Association for 1928 was a fitting recognition of his standing among his medical associates.

As a citizen of Charlottetown and Prince Edward Island he played an equally important role. Early associating himself with the local militia as medical officer of the 4th Regiment Heavy Artillery, he rose to the rank of Lieutenant-colonel afterwards serving for a considerable period during the war as officer commanding Rockhead Military Hospital, Halifax. In 1912 and 1915 he was elected as Charlottetown representative to the provincial legislature. Interest in every movement that had for its purpose the betterment of hygienic, social and educational conditions he gave generously of his time and money. During his long career he was closely associated with both hospitals in Charlottetown, the local Red Cross Society, Anti-tuberculosis Society, Social Hygiene Council, City School Board and numerous other civic organizations, all of which owe a great deal to his tireless energy and organizing ability.

Dr. Jenkins' death has left a great gap in the medical and civic life of his native province. Through the passing years his memory will be cherished by all who knew him as the ideal citizen, the ideal physician, "A man who went about doing good."

The deceased leaves to mourn his widow; three sons, Dr. J. S. Jenkins and Charles Jenkins of Charlottetown, Harry G. Jenkins of Paris, France; also six daughters, Mrs. Ivan Reddin Alberta, the Misses Nora and Hilda Jenkins of New York, and the Misses Margaret, Helen and Stephanie Jenkins of Charlottetown.

An Appreciation

The death of Dr. Stephen Rice Jenkins is regretted not only by his professional conferees but by the people in every walk of life in this city and province and throughout the Dominion. Actively engaged in his professional work on Monday, September 9th, indisposed the same day, on Tuesday confined to his home, on Wednesday endeavoring to see his patients, on Thursday stricken with pneumonia, on Friday and Saturday with the resources of both hospitals at his disposal, he fought a great but losing fight, and on Sunday, September 15th, he passed to his reward. The writer was intimately acquainted with Dr. Jenkins for many years and can testify that his advice and counsel, whether in the home or hospital, were always highly prized. His activities in Red Cross work, social hygiene and education, are well known but it was as a general practitioner that he climbed to the highest pinnacle in his profession. His skill as a physician and surgeon could only be attained by constant visits to great centres of learning, by keeping abreast of the times, and the application of his knowledge. He will be missed in the medical council of which he was President last year, and in the organizations of both hospitals, where his advice was always invaluable. In a word the profession has lost a very capable, careful, and successful practitioner, and his associates in private life will greatly miss a companion possessing the kindly, genial qualities of Dr. Jenkins. In conclusion his standing as a physician may be summed up in words of Robert Louis Stevenson: "Among the men and classes of men who stand above the common herd, the physician easily occupies first place. He is the flower, such as it is, of our civilization, and when this stage of man is done with and only to be marvelled at in history, he will be thought to have shared as little as any in the defects of the period and notably exhibited the virtues of the race." He possesses in a marked degree: generosity, tact, discretion, and what are more important, herculean cheerfulness and courage, so that he brings air and cheer into the sick room and often enough, though not as often as he wishes, brings healing."
