

SUICIDES IN WEST.

BRANDON, Sept. 7.—Jos Rogers, a pioneer farmer of North Brandon, having been here for twenty-eight years, coming from Newmarket, Ont., committed suicide this morning by cutting his throat from ear to ear with the razor with which he had started shaving. He was crazed by financial troubles, resulting from the unsuccessful operation for several years of a threshing outfit, and which led recently to his mortgaging his farm for $10,000.

A SAD ENDING TO NEW HOME.

MONTREAL, Sept. 7.—Wedded only a few hours, a Jewish couple, Mr and Mrs Tauer returned home only to find the firemen working on their burning home. The couple had spent all their savings on their new home. Very little of the house was left and all the furniture was destroyed.

The latest news, first of all.

Rev. W. J. Green will preach next Sabbath at Wheatley River at 7.30 p. m.

J. Harry Williams, City, was among the passengers returning to the city on the express last evening.

Among the recent arrivals in this city are Mrs. E. W. Fullerton, Portland, Maine, who is visiting her parents, James and Mrs. McDonald.

Rev. W. E. Johnson, of Kensington, (P. E. I.), and his daughters, Miss Ethel M. Johnson and Miss Margaret Johnson, arrived in the city yesterday. Miss Margaret Johnson will leave this evening for Nanton, Alberta.—St. John Telegraph, July 7.

The Northumberland arrived at this port at eight-ten last evening.

Miss Janie Rooney has returned from a pleasant visit to Cape Traverse the guest of Miss Addie Gillis.

All should remember the sale of furniture etc., at Mrs. George Stanley's, 129 Fitzroy street this morning at 10.30.

Miss Elenor Webster has returned to the city from Cape Traverse where she was visiting, the guest of Mrs. Muncy.

Mrs. Martin O'Connor, Port Hill, has been visiting in the City for the past few days. She was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Gertrude, who will remain to take a course in the Union Commercial College.

A very happy event was celebrated in this city on Tuesday last when Jessie Arnold of Bristol, was united in the Holy Bonds of Matrimony to Stewart F. Mosher of the same place. Rev. Jas. McDougall, Cape Traverse, officiated. The young couple have the best of wishes of a host of friends for a long and happy wedded life.

Miss Clara Steele, who is head of Messrs. Moore & McLeod's millinery workroom, has just returned from an extended trip to Boston, New York, Toronto and Montreal. During her absence she has been visiting among the best millinery houses in Canada and the United States, and spent a considerable portion of her time in the workroom of one of the most up-to-date houses in the trade. Miss Steele has just resumed her duties with Messrs. Moore & McLeod, and in her duties she will be assisted by Miss Maude Ferguson and Miss Bertha Wynne, as well as a large staff of skilful preparers and trimmers.

Rev. S. D. McPhee, B. A., the eminent pastor of Belfast for three years, and now of Avonmore, Ontario, accompanied by his family, spent four weeks in his native province this summer, visiting friends in Murray River, Hopetown, etc. On their return to Ontario the congregation of Avonmore showed their appreciation of their deservedly popular pastor and family. A public reception was given in their honor. The basement of the church was filled with men, women and children. A suitable programme of songs, speeches etc., was well carried out, after which Mr. and Mrs. McPhee were presented with a most complimentary address, and a purse containing two hundred and thirty-three dollars, ($233.) Gold is precious, but it becomes doubly so when it is a medium for the expression of something better than gold, viz. the love and loyalty of a devoted people.

D. A. McKinnon, ex-lieutenant governor of Prince Edward Island, is at the Royal. He is here partly on private business and partly to take in the Dominion Exhibition. Speaking of conditions on the Island, he said, last night, that this year the farmers had the largest crops of hay and grain in the history of the place. He was impressed with the progress in agriculture there and said that since the year 1900, the products of the soil in grain, hay and roots had more than doubled. There had also been large increases in the dairy interests and live stock interests generally. The best kind of policies for the Maritime Provinces, he thought, was to advocate the establishment in each of agricultural schools where farmers might be taught by practical means how to cultivate their ground to the best advantage and the best methods of fattening stock. He deprecated the fact that at present most of the best consumed in the Maritime Provinces was imported from the west. This was more regrettable because the farmers here, with a little effort could supply the home market. But besides agricultural schools, Mr. McKinnon thought that fishery schools ought to be established where the men who follow that calling could be taught the best ways of securing and marketing fish and also of preserving and curing them. The time had come when the Maritime Provinces ought to get closer together. He did not mean in a political sense, as Maritime union had been merely an academic question since before confederation. In a commercial sense, however, these provinces ought to pull closer together for the millions of dollars which were annually leaving here for life and fire insurance. These concerns did not take such a live interest in this part of the country as they ought. Then again he pointed out, St. John once did a profitable and extensive business with the Island. This had been killed through the advent of commercial travellers from the Upper Provinces. He also pleaded that there ought to be better means of inter-communication between all three of the Maritime Provinces.—St. John Telegraph, Sept. 5th.

Mrs. Charles Collins and son Francis, Revere, Mass., arrived here Tuesday night on a visit to this city where they will be the guests of Mrs. Robert Small. Mrs. Collins's son William is also visiting in this province and is at present in Gasperaux.

The service of praise held in Vernon River Methodist Church Sunday evening, Sept. 4th, was in every way a great success the church was crowded to the doors and scores listening outside. The pastor Rev. George Orman conducted the devotional exercises and gave two readings. Misses Laura and Marguerite Vandierstine presided at the organ and rendered a duet, Miss Margaret Furness sang two solos and the full strength of the choir was manifested in the five hymns and two set pieces "Pardon at the Cross" and "The Sheltering Rock."

Reports received at the Department of Agriculture show that there is about one-half an average crop of fall apples in this Province. The Co-operative Fruit Company are preparing to pack any Duchess apples that may be offering. Anyone having any quantity of this variety to dispose of would do well to communicate at once with the Department of Agriculture. Almost every year barrels of these apples are allowed to go to waste because there is no home market for them. Those sent to Newfoundland last autumn netted their owners $2.40 per barrel. P. O. B. This variety will be ready for packing in a few days.

The home of Caleb J. and Mrs. Whitlock, City, was the scene of an interesting ceremony last evening at the hour of eight o'clock when their daughter, Miss Lucinda May was united to Wallace L. Higgins in the Holy Bonds of Matrimony by Rev. Daniel McLean. The bride, who looked charming in her empire gown of cream silk voile trimmed with satin ribbon, was attended by her sister Miss Ethel, who was attired in a dress of silk voile shade green. The groom was supported by Carl Miford, of York Point. The bride was the recipient of a great number of useful and valuable articles, thus showing her great popularity. Miss Ada Harris presided at the organ. After the ceremony between thirty and forty guests sat down to a sumptuous repast, which was provided by the mother of the bride and needless to say was heartily enjoyed, the remainder of the evening was spent in singing, etc. The Guardian joins with the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Higgins and wish them a prosperous and happy journey through life.
