SERIOUS FRE — On Monday, April 1st, Albany was visited by one of the worst fires seen in that part for many years. The large warehouse erected last fall by Ham Affleck was burned to the ground. The loss to Mr. Affleck was very heavy. At the time of the fire the warehouse was fully stocked with feed, flour, and potatoes to the value of $3000.00, the warehouse of itself costing $2500.00 to build. Making a total loss in the neighbourhood of $6000.00, with only the small sum of $1300.00 on the stock and building. The fire is supposed to have started by the bursting of the stove which Mr. Affleck had for the protection of his potatoes.

SUPREME COURT.—The Supreme Court met Friday with three Judges on the Bench. At the opening of the Court Mr. Edwin McFarlane of Annandale in King's County was appointed Commissioner in King's County for taking affidavits in the Supreme Court. In the case of Lords vs. Scottish Union and National Insurance Co. there was an application to set down demurrers for argument. The Court held that inasmuch as the issues of fact were to be tried first, the demurrers would not be set down for argument until the former were disposed of. The argument in the case of Royal Bank of Canada against John G. Sterns was then taken up before the Chief Justice and Mr. Justice Arsenault. This case was tried at the last Hilary Term in Charlottetown when a verdict was rendered for the plaintiff for $900. At the trial the defendant moved for a non-suit. The defendant now moves to enter a non-suit or set aside the verdict on various grounds. The argument was continued throughout Friday and Saturday morning, when the Court adjourned until 11 a.m. today. Messrs. Inman, K. C., and Duffy, K. C., for the Plaintiff and Martin, K C., and McKinnon, K. C., for the defendant.

Flourishing Band of Man-Eaters

(Dominion News Service.)

LONDON, April 5.—Usually fearless hunters with knives and spears of wild animals, the Gonds, a race of aboriginals inhabiting the forests of the Central Provinces of India, flinch when it comes to tackling maneating tigers. For they are firmly convinced that these tigers receive the souls of their victims.

There is a well-known fable in these parts about a sahibwho came down to shoot a celebrated man-eater. Shortly after his arrival the tiger killed a villager in the jungle near by. Thereupon the sahib, armed to the teeth, ensconced himself in a tree with a good view of the corpse.

Presently runs the story, he saw the tiger cautiously approach for his evening meal. He raised his rifle expectantly. The tigel paused a short distance away when—lo and behold!—the dead man raised his arm and pointed to the hunter's indiry place. The tiger departed so did the sahib—hurriedly.

Merry is the feast making until we come to the reckoning.

A true reformation must begin at the upper end.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

On the evening of March 20th, a large number of the congregation of the Christian Church, Montague, gathered at the parsonage and agreeably surprised their pastor and his wife, Rev. C. E. Armstrong, and Mrs. Armstrong by a donation party After considerable time was spent in music, games and social intercourse, Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong were also presented with a purse each and the following address:

Dear Bro. and Sister Armstrong, —"After a period of nearly seven years which you have spent among us, we have found you always on the alert to help and comfort anyone in need of spiritual or physical aid always ready to give a helping hand in anything that might promote the work of the Master's Kingdom, whether within or without the house of worship. Although this evening of social intercourse is pleasant and profitable to all, our presence does not adequately express our deep love and appreciation to you; so, on behalf of the members of the Ladies Aid Society we ask you, Mrs. Armstrong, and on behalf of the members and friends of the congregation, we ask you Mr. Armstrong, to accept these small gifts as symbols of our respect and affection. We sincerely hope that God may bless and prosper you, and that you may both be spared to carry on the great work that God has called you to do, for many years to come."

The address was read by Miss Grace McPhee, and at the proper moment, Mrs. Charles McLure made the presentations.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong each replied in fitting terms of deep appreciation, and emphazised the bonds of sacred love that bind them to this congregation.

CHICAGO VIEW OF CANADA'S RESOURCES

Out in Chicago there are people so hot under the collar at Canada's opposition to that city's idea of hogging the water of the Great Lakes that they are about prepared to go to war over it. Chicago, it may be explained, has developed a great drainage canal into which she proposes to run a goodly share of the waters of Lake Michigan, it presumably being easier and cheaper to run a sewage system on this plan, though other centres bordering Great Lakes that are more civilized manage to operate such sewage disposal plants without robbing their neighbors of water which should remain in the Lakes, in place of finding its way by a back door into the Mississippi River.

In this coniection the Chicage "Tribune," which is closely allied to the McCormack family has been accused by its enemies of favoring the Canadian position. It might be explained that Senator McCormack is a member of the committee on foreign relations, which now has this matter in hand at Washington, while R. R. McCormick, formerly head of the Chicago sanitary board, is now an editor of the "Tribune." In attacks on that newspaper for expressing the McCormack view, that negotiations under the treaty which governs international waterways is better business than stealing the water first, and patching it up afterwards, a couple of more or less disreputable Congressmen from the Chicago district, who seered, charge that the "Tribune's" views are influenced because of the fact that that paper is depending upon Canada for its newsprint.

In making a general defense of its position, "The Tribune" inserts a paragraph editorially that seems of sufficient interest to reprint:

"It is also known that consumption of timber for paper making is greater in Canada than in the United States, while consumption of paper is vastly greater in the United States. By going into Canada for its paper material 'The Tribune' not only assures itself ample newsprint, but saves that much drain upon the fast dwindling American forests. Unless America paper consumers did go to Canada, this country would either have practically no publications within afew years or would have practically no forests."

It is evident, from the above, that Senator McCormick and his newspapers have a better appreciation of Canada's natural resources than have many Canadians. However, we will live and learn, though the lesson in preserving what we still have in standing timber may be sadly belated.—(Reprinted from "Saturday Night", March 29th, 1924.)

Do not rub the nap away—

BLANKETS are given a nap to make them soft and fluffy, and to give them warmth. They should therefore never be rubbed as this will remove some of the nap, and it will also felt and shrink them.

To thoroughly cleanse your blankets without rubbing them try this method.

Lux is sold only in sealed packets —dustproof!

Washing Directions

A rich live suds is essential throughout the entire process of washing blankets. To obtain this, use two tablespoonfuls of Lux to every gallon of water in the washing.

Dissolve the Lux thoroughly in very hot water, whisking it into a thick suds. Add cold water until lukewarm. Put the blanket into the rich suds, souse it up and down, and squeeze the suds through the entire blanket. If the suds die down, add more Lux, taking care that it dissolves before you put the blanket in again. Take care to press the suds through the very soiled spots, but never rub the blanket.

Rinse in three or more lukewarm waters, of the same temperature as the suds. Fold evenly, and run through a loose wringer, and hang dripping. Never wring them. Stretch and pull into shape at intervals when drying.

Blankets washed the Lux way will retain their soft, fluffy appearance even after innumerable launderings.
