End Of Cost-of-Living Climb Not Yet In Sight, Ottawa Survey Indicates

OTTAWA, Nov. 30 (CP)—The end of the cost-of-living climb is not yet in sight. Though the living-cost barometer showed a slowing in the rate of ascension this month, a Government agency today indicated it may be going up for some time to come.

In a survey of the Canadian economic situation, the Economics Division of the Agricultural Department's Marketing Service said wholesale prices in the last five months of the year may be up another 1 1/2 to five per cent over the 7 1/2-per-cent-rise for the first seven months.

While wholesale prices are not tied directly to the cost-of-living index, officials said today they are reflected substantially in living costs.

A wholesale price jump in the late stages of this year, one official said, might be expected to be felt on retail counters next year, probably as late as six months away.

The wholesale index was climbing rapidly toward the all-time high recorded in 1920, and indications were it would go past that mark by the year-end.

The 1920 peak was 162.2, based on the 1926 average as 100, from the start of this year until Sept. 1, the wholesale index had moved from 146.9 to 158.2.

Meanwhile the general cost-of-living index—in which 100 is represented by the 1936-39 average—had kept pace with a climb from 148.3 to 158.9, month later, at Oct. 1, the living cost index was at 159.6.

Besides increasing wholesale costs, another factor that will be reflected in the remaining indexes for the new year will be the Government's October hoisting of domestic retail ceilings. This will not show up until the index for Dec. 1, to be announced about a month from now.

Just when the predicted wholesale increases will hit the consumers' costs will depend on where the wholesale rises materialize. The time lag between wholesale and retail increases varies with the product affected.

For instance, variations in the wholesale price of fresh foodstuffs will be felt at the retail end, within a month. Raw cotton might take between three and four months to hit the price tags on men's shirts. Other materials such as steel might take up to six months, depending on the size of stockpiles along the line of distribution.

Coalition Government To Be Continued In B.C.

VICTORIA, Nov. 30 (CP)—Government leaders said today the British Columbia Government would continue as a union of Liberals and Progressive Conservatives despite recent attacks on the coalition.

The reinstatement of policy followed two Provincial by-elections yesterday in which the Government lost one seat to the C. C. F. but retained the other.

Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer, a Liberal, said in a statement that the Government was re-elected in 1945 as a coalition. "We propose to carry on in accordance with the mandate we received from the people."

The coalition was criticized by the B. C. Young Liberals Association at the Association's annual convention Saturday. They demanded its dissolution and resolved that the next provincial election, which may come in 1949, should be fought on direct Liberal policies.

The coalition comprises 20 Liberals and 16 Progressive Conservatives, led by Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb. The C. C. F. is the official Opposition with 11 seats in the 48-seat House while Labour holds the other.

Political observers saw the young Liberals' action as a revolt against Premier Johnson. He was reported to have made a direct appeal to the young Liberals to support coalition.

The Association said the telegram containing the appeal never reached the convention.

The Government lost one seat to the C. C. F. yesterday when James Quinn, 42-year-old shop steward, won Trail-Rossland over Alexander Turnbull by 474 votes to 447, with one poll still to report in the South Okanagan riding. Robert Browne-Clayton, 31-year-old fruit rancher retained the seat, defeating his C.C.F. opponent, Bruce Woodsworth, a 27-year-old school teacher, by 4,918 to 4,220.

self-sacrificing life the qualities of the Scot.

The Scot is an eternal argonaut, a wanderer upon the face of the earth. And he is a mountaineer of the mind," said the speaker.

He recounted the legend in which Scottish ancestors roamed afar seeking the land of the Everlasting City on the rim of the mist. They sought the Isle of the Blessed and found Prince Edward Island, where they settled. They built schools, churches and courthouses. Eager for reform, they never forgot the past.

"Some like all things new," said Dr. Macmillan. "But let us remember that the Scot never destroys the past." He referred to the old legend in which the "spirits of our Scottish ancestors come into the present and save us."

"I'll lay me down to rest a while 'And rise to fight again.' "That's the spirit that the world needs today," the speaker concluded.

Clansman Walter R. Shaw, replying to the toast of the Club, referred to the absence of Lieutenant-Governor J. A. Bernard, Chief Justice Campbell and Clansman Tom MacMillan who were all indisposed. He deplored the absence of the ladies from the banquet, the dropping of the Burns' Concert and the great Caledonian Field Day. He invited young clansmen to "keep alive the traditions of Scotland by becoming members of the Caledonian Club." Clansman Shaw expressed regret at the passing of Clansmen S. A. MacLeod, Sam Kennedy, F. J. MacDonald and Neil J. MacCannell since the St. Andrew's celebration last year.

During the programme, Pipers Allan Cameron and Donald MacLeod entertained with pipe selections; the Brooklyn Singers, consisting of Messrs. John Bears, Malcolm Munroe, Willard Bruce and Malcolm MacKinnon sang Scottish songs including Annie Laurie. Ye Banks an' Braes and Scots Wha Hae. Miss Peggy Campbell from Montague brought down the house with her step-dancing and Mr. Frank Johnston, organist of Zion Church, presided at the piano.

Among the guests were Premier J. Walter Jones, Mayor Earl MacDonald, and Hon. Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan.

Agree On Compromise Plan For Palestine

PARIS, Nov. 30 (CP)—Britain today withdrew her demand that Israel and Arab states agree to a compromise Palestine plan.

The compromise was accepted after a Canadian delegate argued that the British proposal for full endorsement of the Bernadotte plan would "unnecessarily limit" the work of a proposed conciliation commission.

The new resolution, which accepts the United States view that the Jews and Arabs should bargain on any territorial changes in the Holy Land, was handed the 38-member political committee of the United Nations General Assembly.

Kathleen Winsor, author of "Forever Amber," read 236 books on the Restoration in the preliminary research for her novel.

Since Boyes met Miss Harnish, a domestic here at a wartime party his life has been a series of escapades that made headlines several times.

Pining for Minnie after his ship left Halifax, he deserted the Marines and stowed away on a freighter he believed was coming here.

That trip landed him in jail in Egypt, and he later served time for desertion. Two other stowaway attempts also ended in duration vile and on the third he landed in New York.

At that time Minnie, advised by the Central Mortgage Corporation, informed the Guardian last night.

Reds Make New Move To Hamper Settlement Of Crisis In Berlin

BY THOMAS A. REEDY
BERLIN, Nov. 30 (AP)—The Communists split Berlin wide open tonight by naming their own rump government.

The putsch was steamrolled through a hand-picked convention in a musical-comedy hall in the Soviet sector. The chairman read the ticket in rapid fire style, all fists shot into the air at his call for a show of hands, the meeting and election were over in 1 1/2 hours.

Then about 100,000 sympathizers held a somewhat placid rally in the chill damp air of Unter Den Linden at which speakers called for support of the new regime and denounced the regularly elected government now sitting in West Berlin. Everything went smoothly and the hand-picked regime a "rump government" and said he regretted he could not call Ebert a "worthy son" of the former president.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor, at once declared the hand-picked regime a "rump government" and said he regretted he could not call Ebert a "worthy son" of the former president.

Berlin's anti-Communist leaders denounced the Communist attempt to assume power as "an open act of aggression" and left no doubt that they would not recognize the action.

The jury comprises C. Stewart (foreman), A. Sontner, R. Andrews, J. McLeod, R. Wood, H. Sontner and B. McLeod.

Cattle Export Trade To U. S. Is Reviewed

WINNIPEG, Nov. 30 (CP)—Sources close to the livestock trade here yesterday said Canada is expecting to see the United States to the limit of the trade's ability on a gentleman's agreement that the United States will not cut off Canadian imports once this year's quota has been reached.

The sources were commenting on rumors that the United States might transfer Mexico's quota of cattle in the United States market to Canada. At present Mexico is operating on a quota of 500,000 head of cattle a year, while Canada has a quota of 400,000.

For all practical purposes, however, the sources said, there is a 100-per-cent embargo against Mexican imports into the United States because of an outbreak of hoof and mouth disease in Mexico.

Since the embargo on slaughter cattle to the United States was lifted Aug. 16, 218,454 head of live cattle have been shipped south from Canada. In the same period, up to Nov. 20, 22,000 head of calves were shipped.
