Chapter 7

The reason why Pandora at 21 was as socially backward as an undeveloped girl of 16, was a simple and tragic one. And a common one.

But it was a long time before the girl found this out, and a still longer time before she was able to remedy it.

Her Aunt Maude, in kindly moments said she was "born shy." In less kindly moments, she said she was "born a ninny." The girl heard both criticisms frequently. When her father tried to urge her to join in the young people's parties, she held back and said:

"No, I'd rather not. I feel so awkward. And I can't even think of anything to say."

Her father laughed at this. She was anything but tongue tied with him! He concluded she was joking and promptly forgot all about it. He always forgot unpleasant things as soon as possible.

The next time he was reminded Dora suggested:

"Let's go for a walk instead. They won't miss us."

And then he was delighted, because it gave him some hours of her companionship and she was a charming companion to him.

Only once he argued the point. "I don't see why you keep repeating that—about not talking. Why don't you remember that little hotel we stayed at in—wasn't it Waco—and the way you talked to that man and his wife and their baby? You talked all evening, and you were great friends for the three days we were there."

"That was different," Pandora answered. "They were both so miserably poor, worse than we were. He wanted a job and couldn't think of anything to do—because a laborer's wages weren't enough to allow for the care of the baby."

"Well you had them both telling you the history of their lives, and then you went off and found him a job—"

"It was only finding out that he had a talent, being tactful with men. As soon as they made him foreman of that foreign work gang he was all right. He could understand them—and the other foreman only irritated them."

"Well, you had the ability to fit the square peg into the round hole!" Jim concluded triumphantly. He never thought how square a peg the girl was when she came to the round hole of her own problem.

"He only lacked confidence," Dora said. And it never occurred to her that that was what she lacked in enormous degree. She thought her father flattered her because he was her father. Yet after being with him, she gained a little of his confidence.

Then something such as this Sunday morning incident happened and every shred of self belief was torn away from her. For three days while the storm made going out almost impossible, she went about the house in a state of intense depression. The blizzard made it impossible to go to church. Monday it still snowed spasmodically, and the little city was blanketed thick with white drift. Discontent, disturbance and depression existed in the Nicholson house—all because the sugar supply gave out, and Peter liked everything sweet and syrupy. The lady's party was to blame, but somehow the blame was shifted round to Dora who was looked upon as having committed another stupid blunder.

Aunt Maude, upset and cross because Peter was cross, took it out by lecturing over everything. The actual sugar blunder was forgotten of course. It was a small thing—it was merely the sense of disturbance that lasted.

"I declare, you've been doing everything wrong these last few days," Aunt Maude scolded. "Now you know those sheets are for the guest room only—not the family. And you've put the best milk jug on the rickety shelf by the steps."

And so it went on.

"I am stupid," Dora told herself again and again as she went about her household duties. "Why do I do everything wrong? When Aunt Maude goes on so, I simply can't think. It must be a poor sort of brain that gets befogged so easily."

But Tuesday it was possible to get to the stores, so she made her way down town to repair her recent blunder. On the way she met Morton Newberry helping clear the sidewalks.

"Do you mind if I come around to see you some evening soon?" he asked.

And she smiled and said "yes." She went home feeling curiously pleased. Morton was the first man who had ever asked to call on her. He appeared next night. But Aunt Maude announced it this way,

"Gladys, Morton Newberry is downstairs to see you. Put on your silk waist and go down. Dora and I will finish in the kitchen."

It never occurred to her that any man would come to see anyone but her own daughter!

Corns?

—just say

Blue-jay to your druggist

Stops Pain Instantly

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in two forms—a colorless, clear liquid (one drop does it!) and in extra thin plasters. Use whichever form you prefer, plasters or the liquid—the action is the same. Safe, gentle. Made in a world-famed laboratory. Sold by all druggists.

ELECTION ON JUNE 29

WINNIPEG, April 4.—The provincial general elections will be on or about June 29, according to an announcement made in the legislature last night by Premier Norris.

Trouble Among Civil Servants

OTTAWA, April 4.—The Journal, in its news columns today, says that considerable dissatisfaction is expected in Civil Service circles, especially among the four hundred odd who were let off last Friday from the Militia Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment Departments, that there should remain service others with less right to their positions. Many of those fired had passed the regular examinations qualifying them for the positions.

Why Stay Fat? You Can Reduce

The answer of most fat people is that it is too hard, too troublesome and too dangerous to force the weight down. Marmola Prescription Tablets overcome all these difficulties. They are absolutely harmless, entail no dieting or exercise, and have the added advantage of cheapness. A case is sold at one dollar by all druggists the world over, or send the price direct to the Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. Now that you know this, you have no excuse for being fat, but can reduce steadily and easily without going through long sieges of tiresome exercise and starvation diet or fear of bad effects.

IN MEMORIAM

THE LATE MR. M. BUOTE.

Mrs. Marin Buote and family, 111 Euston St., wish to thank all who by their kindness and sympathy helped them in their sad bereavement, when death took from them on March 19th, a beloved husband and father. His remains were taken to Rustico the 23rd for burial, where the services were performed at church and grave by Rev. John Chiasson. Although the roads were in a bad condition, the funeral was largely attended. The pall bearers were: J. Gallant, J. Doiron, S. Doiron, V. Gallant, E. Martin, M. Martin.

The late Mr. Buote leaves to mourn a sorrowful widow, three sons and four daughters, Isadore in Western Canada, Tillie in Boston, Mass., Prescilla, Vena, Julia, Ben, and Felix at home.

May his soul rest in peace.
(Patriot please copy.)

MRS. HARIET ROBERTSON.

The many friends of Mrs. Hariet Robertson, wife of Amos J. Robertson, will regret to learn of her death which occurred at Montague, on March 27th, aged sixty-eight years. zz

The late Mrs. Robertson will be greatly missed by a large circle of friends, also by the Baptist church, of which she was a devout and active member.

The funeral service was held on Wednesday, March 29th at 2 o'clock at the Baptist Church, where many sorrowing friends assembled to pay their last respects. Her pastor, Rev. J. C. Neilson officiated, assisted in the services by Rev. C. E. Armstrong and Rev. A. S. Stewart.

The pall bearers were Alex. McLeod, Frank Murphy, George McIntyre, D. J. McLean, George W. Rourke, M. F. McDonald. The burial took place at Brudenell.

The sympathy of the community goes out to the sorrowing husband, who is left alone to mourn the loss of a loving wife and companion.

MICHAEL McDONALD

It is with deep regret we learned of the death of Michael MacDonald, which took place at his home in Little Pond, on Sunday, March 19th. The late Mr. McDonald had been in failing health for some time and bore his sufferings in a true Christian spirit, at all times resigning his will to God. He was attended in his illness by his pastor Rev. Dr. Walker, who consoled him with the rites of the Holy Catholic Church, of which he was a devoted member.

Besides a sorrowing widow, who mourns the loss of a loving husband and six children, who are bereft of a father's care, he leaves to mourn an aged father, one brother and two sisters, to whom the sympathy of the community goes out in this, their great sorrow.

His funeral, which took place Tuesday morning to St. Francis de Sales Church, Little Pond, was largely attended. Requiem High Mass was sung by Rev. Dr. Walker, after which his mortal remains were laid in the adjoining cemetery, there to await a glorious resurrection.

The pall bearers were: Charles Dingwell, A. D. McDonald, J. A. E. McDonald, E. McFarlane, Stephen Steele and John F. McDonald. Requiescat in pace. (Boston papers please copy.)

DEATH OF MRS. B. WILSON HIGGS

We deeply regret to chronicle the death of Mrs. B. Wilson Higgs. She was, before her marriage, Miss Amelia O. Darby, daughter of the late Commander Darby of Halifax, and the last surviving member of that family.

Mrs. Higgs had reached the advanced age of four score years and seven, an exceptional long life for any member of the gentler sex. She passed away in Victoria, B.C., where her son Mr. Frederick Higgs had resided for many years. Mr. Higgs predeceased her twenty-six years ago, and after his death she spent most of the time with different members of her family, whose places of residence are given in this article. All the family were brought up in Charlottetown and Mrs. Higgs was a life long member of the Methodist Church here.

She was noted not only for her piety, but also for the deep and active interest she took in Christian work, and all that made for the moral advancement and spiritual uplift of our community. She was a consistent Christian lady in every sense of the word—one of the old school, whose view of life was according to those principles which are the very essence of our Christian religion. In her day what is called "the Victorian age" held sway, and to the women of that time, the home and the children, the devotion to husband, and love to the family were the chief endeavour of life. After a long pilgrimage she has gone to her Eternal Reward, for she has justly earned the commendation, "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of Thy Lord."

A family of three sons, one step-son, three daughters and one step-daughter are left to cherish her memory. They are as follows:—Frederick F., Victoria, B.C.; Humphrey L., Wetaskiwin, Alberta; Edmund T. Higgs, M.L.A., Charlottetown; Mrs. Katie Farquharson and Mrs. Richard Goff, Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. Annie Stanford, Halifax; Richard M., (step-son) in British Columbia, and Mrs. Eliza Arbell (step-daughter) in Victoria, B.C.

To the bereaved we extend our sincere sympathy.

MR. MURDOCK IS CRITICISED

WINNIPEG, April 4.—Charging that Mr. Murdock aligned himself with the British Empire Steel Corporation in the dispute between the Corporation and the Cape Breton miners, the convention of District 4, Railway Employees Department, American Federation of Labor, on Saturday adopted a resolution criticizing the Minister for his attitude in the dispute. The delegates to the convention charged Mr. Murdock acted in a biased manner instead of adopting a conciliatory attitude, and had made a deliberate attempt to divert attention from the main issue involved.

NOTICE

To owners of Frost & Wood, Crown gang plows, I have recently been allowed a patent on my invention for repairing those wheels where the collar is worn out of the hub. As the season is now approaching, it would be well to examine your wheels and see if they need repairs, if so I can repair them that you can get more wear out of them than when new for one dollar and seventy-five cents each, just about one third the cost of a new wheel. I have been using my device for over two years and it has given perfect satisfaction.

Any parties sending me six or more wheels for repairs, I will pay the return freight on them.
