FROM STANLEY & McLAREN.

I tell you it was hard work to see four boats lying by the ship and three others attached by painters and only the four sailors in each, but we had to stand it. No. 3 boat cleared with oldest men, sa. to the number of 20. Tom Leigh got in her. I did not like the look of her as she was smashed in the gunwale. They wanted me to go in her but I held back as I wanted to keep with the other five boys. Got down in her any way; then they pulled No. 2 boat a little ahead of us.

We all jumped into her (six of the boys) as she was passing. That was the boat I wanted to get into. We soon filled her with 19 men, 4 sailors, and second officer and got clear before the boat I was in first.

I looked around for grub and water but could find neither. Shouted to chief steward to throw us some bread and biscuit. I caught two pillow-slips full of bread and two tins of biscuit but missed the fourth tin, which struck a friend of ours named Brien (a Jersey man, who has charge of fishing stages at Caraquet, N. B. Perhaps Mr. Poole will know him, but he is all right again.)

We left the ship for the light-house about three or four miles off. The boat with the women in had by this time got away about half a mile. We could only see her when we mounted a wave. Followed her.

She made for the leeward side of the light-house, but had to keep off a long distance on account of the rocks and surf. She could not get within hailing distance, or did not understand the signals the light-house keepers (3) were making. So she put off again.

We made for the windward side. It would take pages to tell all about how we landed. The keepers were pouring oil upon the water.

We landed on the rock all safe, without a scratch—18 first cabin passengers. The men then got the boats out again to help the boat the women were in, as they were either played out or had not room enough to work. The boat reached them and took off part of the women.

In the meantime a steam trawler appeared on the scene and as far as we know picked up all the boats and steamed away. Of course we do not know anything about them, as we are now on our second day at Skerryvore lighthouse, on the west coast of Scotland, 11 miles S. W. of the Island of Tyree, or about 65 miles from Moville, due north.

The light-house men say we were 48 miles out of our course. Wind was south west when we struck. Where the ship struck is 15 miles in a direct line to the nearest land, Tyree. We landed here about 11.30 o'clock yesterday, March 1st.

We are quite comfortable, the six Charlottetown boys and 13 others. We have General Agoncillo, delegate of the Philippine government, also his secretary; English, Irish, Scotch, French and Parsian is a fair representation of nationalities for a shipwrecked lot of passengers. This is our second day at the light-house.

We have had relief signals out since our arrival, but it has been a little hazy and suppose they have not been seen. The keepers say we should get off by to-morrow; if not the Relief and Supply Boat is due on Tuesday the 7th.

We are not worrying ourselves as we are comfortable and have supplies for us all for 3 months. It is about the folks at home in case of mixing us up with some other boats that may not have been picked up and we know how cablegrams get a little added to them when they become the property of the press. I know that this letter is a little mixed up, badly written etc., but you must remember where I am and how, as the boys say, rattled with joy and thanksgiving of being saved from a watery grave.

It is now 6 p. m. Tom Leigh, Billy Huestis, Bryne and a lieutenant are stretched out on mattresses spread on the floor snoring "to beat the band." I must wind up for the night and perhaps will write a little more tomorrow.

W. W. STANLEY.

"SKERRYVORE."

Life on the ocean wave,
A home on Skerryvore;
Where rocks the waters lave,
Far from our native shore.

There's Lem, and Will, and Sam,
From off the Labrador;
And John, and Will, and Tom,
All bound for Skerryvore.

Agoncillo is there,
And feeling very sore;
He grumbles at the fare,
Served up on Skerryvore.

Our boys of Island fame,
At him did laugh and roar;
To think his little game,
Ends up on Skerryvore.

They said on leaving there,
"We spread our wings to soar,
In search of better fare;
Good bye, old Skerryvore."
EARLY SPRING.

THE HOCKEY MATCHES.

Victorias and Anchors Win From Crescents and Y. M. C. A.

Those who were present at the rink last evening with the expectation of seeing a good game of hockey between the Crescents and 2nd Victorias were disappointed as Worth, McLean, and Scantlebury of the Crescent team did not play. Their places were filled respectively by McPherson, Ludlow, Sharpe and Tanton.

The 2nd Victorias won by a score of five goals to three. The teams lined up as follows:

CRESCENTS		2ND VICTORIAS
V. Jost	goal	W. Davison
F. Tanton	point	J. Collings
L. Sharpe	c. point	V. Blake
J. Birch		H. Mabon
J. McPherson	fords	C. Weeks
R. Drake		C. Farquharson
W. Harvie		W. Collings

In the first half Weeks and Blake scored for the Vics and Sharpe for the Crescents, making the score at half time two goals to one in the Vics' favor. Mabon, Collings and Farquharson scored one goal each for the Vics in the second half while Sharp and Drake scored for the Crescents, making the count at the close.

Vics, 5; Crescents, 3.

The game between the Anchors and the Y. M. C. A.'s, proved a much more interesting match and throughout was fast and exciting. The first half was all in the Anchors' favor, the puck for the greater portion was in the Y's territory. Not only did the Anchors put up a great game in this half, but they blanked the Y's, the score standing, two goals to 0.

Particularly noticeable among the players was McMillan at C. Point, who made some splendid runs and lifts, but Gaudet upheld his reputation at goal and only once did he manage to slip the rubber by him. Too much credit cannot be given to the Y's for the splendid game they put up.

In the second half the forward line did some splendid combination play and they made many successful shots for goal.

The teams lined up as follows:

Y. M. C. A.		ANCHORS.
J. Gaudet	Goal	L. Pigot
P. Moore	Point	C. Mcran
A. Worth	C. Point	J. McMillan
F. Pickard	Forwards	L. Large
J. McLean		W. McLean
S. McLeod		B. Brown
H. McNeill		S. Pound

In the first half, L. Large and W. McLean scored one goal each for the Anchors. Frank Pickard scored two goals for the Y's, and J. McMillan scored one goal by a splendid run from C. Point for the Anchors in the second half, making the count, three goals in favor of the Anchors when time was called. The officers were as follows:

Crescents and Vics: Umpires, Frank Batt, W. McLeod; Referee, L. B. McMillan; Timer, P. S. Brown.
Anchors and Y. M. C. A.: Umpires, H. Bethune, T. Morris; Referee, W. Brehaut; Timer, P. S. Brown.
