CENTRAL GUARDIAN Science Aims At Great Goal Man's Leisure

LEICESTER, England, Sept. 9.—(C. P. Cable)—There is more danger to mankind in the case of "money versus man" than there ever was or will be in the case of "man versus machine."

That is the answer of science to the school of thought which holds growth of the machine to be a prime cause of the world's unemployment evil and economic disruption.

It was delivered convincingly tonight by Sir Frederick Gowland Hopkins, making his presidential address to the British Association for the Advancement of Science, with world-famous scientists in attendance.

Sir Frederick further declared science must proceed uninterrupted to its final goals and one of these is the replacement of human labor by the machine, giving the world leisure for fundamental development, for social reconstruction.

"There are two great questions much to the fore just now," he said at the conclusion of his address which otherwise was devoted to a technical picture of the position of biochemistry. "I mean the paradox of poverty amidst plenty and the replacement of human labor by machinery."

"Applied science should take no blame for the former, but indeed claim credit unfairly lost. It is not within my capacity to say anything of value about the paradox and its cure, but I confess I see more present danger in the case of money versus man than danger present or future in that of the machine versus man."

"With regard to the latter, it is surely right that those in touch with science should insist that the replacement of human labor will continue. Those who doubt this cannot realize the meaning of that positive acceleration in science, pure and applied, which now continues."

"No one can say what kind of equilibrium the distribution of leisure is fated to reach. In any case an optimistic view as to the probable effects of its increase may be justified."

Sir Frederick referred to words by Sir Alfred Ewing which he said were still being echoed—"that the command of Nature has been put into man's hand before he knows how to command himself."

"Of science itself this is no indictment," he added. "The indictment is of mankind. Recognition of the truth it contains cannot be absent from the minds of those whose labors are daily increasing mankind's command of nature, but it is due to them that the truth should be viewed in proper perspective."

"It is, after all, war to which science has added terrors, and the fear of war, which alone give it real urgency; an urgency which must of course be felt in these days when some nations at least are showing the spirit of selfish and dangerous nationalism. I may be wrong but it seems to me that, war apart, the gifts of science and invention have done little to increase opportunities for the display of the more serious of man's irrational impulses. The worst they do is perhaps to give to clever and predatory souls that keep within the law, the whole world for their depredatees instead of a parish or a country as of yore."

Sir Frederick was regretful that few men of affairs seriously believed what was yet probable—"that the replacement of human labor we are thinking of will impose a new structure upon society."

"I confess," he also said, "that if civilization escapes its other perils I should fear little the final reign of the machine. We should not altogether forget the difference in the use which can be made of real and ample leisure compared with that possible for very brief leisure associated with fatigue; nor the difference between compulsory toil and spontaneous work."

"We have to picture moreover the reaction of a community which save for a minority has shown itself during recent years to be educable. If the political aspirations of the nations should grow sane, and the artificial economic problems of the world be solved, the combined and assured gifts of health, plenty and leisure may prove to be the final justification of applied science. In a community advantaged by these each individual will be free to develop his own innate powers and, becoming more of an individual, will be less moved by those herd instincts which are always the major danger to the world."

Sir Frederick expressed regret concerning what he called the public ignorance of biology and biochemistry. The need for recognizing biological truth as a necessary guide to individual conduct and no less to statecraft and social policy

IN MEMORIAM
MR. ALEXANDER LIVINGSTONE

On Sunday evening, August 27th, there passed peacefully away, Alexander Livingstone in his 69th year. He was born at Nine Mile Creek, son of the late Allan Livingstone.

When quite a young man he went to the United States where he learned the confectionery trade doing business for himself there for a number of years. Later he went to the Canadian West where he conducted business for himself at Winnipeg and Vancouver, B. C., returning to Charlottetown about 15 years ago, doing business on Queen Street for a number of years.

He was a quiet, generous disposition and contributed liberally to every good cause.

The funeral was held on August 29th from the residence of his brother, Eldon Hotel, to Canoe Cove Cemetery, Rev. Mr. Legate assisted by Mr. James Lamont officiating. The pallbearers were Messrs. Murdoch Ross, Henry McFarlane, Milton Bell, P. J. McDonald, Samuel Craig, Arthur McNeill.

Immigration To The Maritimes Boosts Railway

TRURO, N. S., Sept. 9.—The work which is being done in bringing settlers to the Maritime Provinces under the co-operative arrangement between the Provincial Governments and the Railways was outlined by Mr. A. W. MacKenzie, Superintendent of Agriculture, Canadian National Railways for the Maritimes, in an address before the Rotary Club at their luncheon here today. Speaking with regard to Nova Scotia Mr. MacKenzie stated that during the past two years, eighty families have been placed on lands in that province who brought with them capital to the value of $168,000 and who purchased land to the value of $155,000, representing 9,233 acres. Of these eighty families, forty were British, the remainder being Danish, Norwegian, Swedish and Dutch.

As a revenue producer, the speaker said, the farmer is of great importance to the railways of Canada and hence one answer to the railway problem is to get more settlers on the land. It is estimated that each farm produces a gross revenue for the railway to the amount of two hundred dollars per annum. What this means in round figures is indicated in the case of the twenty families settled in Nova Scotia this year who should provide a gross revenue for the railway of $40,000 in the next ten years as well as assist in the development of the Province and Canada as a whole.

Trading Slow In Winnipeg Grain Exchange

(Canadian Press)

WINNIPEG, Sept. 8.—Trading came almost to a standstill on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today, wheat prices opened at the minimum levels and remained there for the balance of the session with only spasmodic flurries of activity entering the pit. Closing quotations were unchanged.

Board markets went through the formality of marking up the high and low on futures, which also represented the close. October option finished at 70 1-8. December at 71 5-8 and May at 76 3-8 cents.

Operations were the dullest in the history of the Winnipeg Grain Market and aggregate volume for the day was very small.

TO BUILD WAREHOUSE—The farmers who use Albany Station as their shipping point, are more than pleased to see a gang of men from day to day working for J. F. Lord, cleaning up the ruins of his building which was recently destroyed by fire. Mr. Lord is making ready to construct another frostproof potato warehouse on the old site, and hopes to have it ready in time to take care of this year's crop. This is, to say the least, progressive on the part of Mr. Lord, and the money spent for wages will be greatly needed and appreciated in that vicinity.

C. W. L. MEETING—The St. Anne's, Lot 65, sub-division of the Catholic Women's League held their monthly meeting Aug. 6, with an attendance of twenty-six members. The meeting was opened by prayer. The President, Mrs. James J. Murray, presided. A letter of appeal from Rev. P. F. Hughes, Regina, was read and a generous amount contributed and forwarded to him. A very interesting report of the Diocesan Convention was read by the president. The lottery ticket for the lamp was drawn. The lucky ticket was held by Miss Helen McFadyen. This sub-division recently held an entertainment in the parish hall, which was largely attended and a splendid success financially.

POLICE COURT—For obstructing an officer in the course of his duty a man appeared before the court Saturday morning. The case was adjourned by consent to the 12th. A case of vagrancy was adjourned by consent to the 16th. A man charged with vagrancy was given 5 days. A man accused of assault causing actual bodily harm was remanded till Monday. For using abusive language a man was fined $2.00 and costs or 5 days. A man charged with non-payment of dog tax confessed, paid the tax and costs of the court. Another case of non-payment of dog tax was adjourned until Tuesday.

THEFT CASES BEFORE MR. G. M. MATTHEWS—On Friday afternoon at the Court House, Summerside, before Mr. G. M. Matthews, Magistrate for Prince County, two cases were heard in connection with the breaking, entering and stealing from Mr. McKenzie's store at Kensington. The theft occurred on Tuesday last when two young men broke into the store and took $19.16 in cash and nine packets of tobacco. The case was brought by the R. C. M. P. After hearing the evidence the Magistrate gave one young man a suspended sentence and the other was remanded for sentence until Friday next. An excise case was tried, the party being from Enmore River. The man was convicted and fined $200 and costs and one month in jail, with an additional six months if the fine is not paid.—S.

The many friends of Mr. Phillip Malone are glad to see him out again after a bad attack of grippe.

OFFICIAL PIE BAKER NAMED

VANCOUVER, Washington, Sept. 10.—Mrs. Fay Peabody, who has a reputation as a baker of apple pies, has been appointed by Governor Clarence Martin as "official apple pie baker of the State of Washington." She is authorized to use the great seal of the State, if she wants to, on her flaky top crusts. She is now on her way to the Century of Progress Exhibition at Chicago.

Railwaymen Hold Annual Shoot Today

(Special to The Guardian)

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 9.—Small bore rifleman representing the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific Railways will battle for supremacy in their annual shoot at the Lachine Ranges of the Canadian National Recreation Association today (Saturday) and on the following days the twenty best shots of the two teams will represent Canada in the Railway International small bore rifle shoot, matching their scores against those of teams from United States and Great Britain. The Canadian National Railways team of twenty shots will include riflemen from Toronto, Quebec, and Stratford and among its Montreal members will be Miss Gwen Lloyd, one of the outstanding women rifle shots of Eastern Canada.

Today's match will be between teams of twenty shots each representing one of the Canadian railroads, the International Match being shot on Sunday.

Heir To Throne Of Denmark Marries

FREDENBORG, Denmark, Sept. 9.—(A.P.)—Prince Knud, 38-year-old younger son of King Christian and Princess Caroline Mathilde, his cousin, were married tonight at the Royal Chapel as a strong guard was posted to ward off any demonstrations.

The precautions were taken after decorations on the streets had been torn down during the night, allegedly by Communists. Troops and detectives were detailed throughout the village as nobility arrived to witness the wedding ceremony.

Warships On Way To Red Sea

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Sept. 9.—The destroyers H. M. S. Duncan, Diamond and Delight left here Thursday supposedly for the Red Sea.

It was believed that a tense situation has arisen in the neighborhood of the Red Sea where King Ibn Saud was said to be making preparations for a possible outbreak of hostilities with Imam Yahya of the Yemen, a state in southwest Arabia.

Difficulties apparently have arisen over frontier lines between the two countries.
