Mr. Blesedell went on: "It is all right to open up on beer and wine? True, Nova Scotia balanced its budget, under government sale in 1938, but the province spent 4 1/2 million dollars to do it, and increased its business about eight per cent, also handled beer permits, sometimes by the truck load, and at that cost, the province balanced its budget. Surely P.E.I. does not desire to recede to the financial difficulties in that fashion."
