Druggist Gave Her Advice

Miss Ruth Horowtiz, Bronx, N. Y., writes: "Having been troubled with indigestion caused by constipation for several months, my druggist advised me to try CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. He said they are good for a hundred different ailments, if people only knew the value of them. I can safely say that since I am taking them, and only one each night, I feel like myself again and can eat most anything."

Those who suffer from sick headache, indigestion, biliousness tired-out and achey feeling, when due to constipation, will find relief in taking CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS in red packages, 25c. and 75c. Try them to-night—To-morrow refreshed—All druggists.

DANGEROUS INNOCENCE

By HAZEL DEYO BATCHELOR

CHAPTER XI.

Days at Sea.

Sally was worried about Myra. She went about so much with this Mr. Britton.

Sally herself had settled into a nice friendship with Allen Leigh. Whenever he was off duty she walked with him on deck, and sometimes she stayed up in the radio room with him when he was on duty. He seemed to adore it. And yet there were times when her conscience troubled her. He was so adoring, and so humble.

Never again had he attempted to make love to her, but there was about him a certain repressed attitude as though he were holding himself in constantly. Suppose he were falling in love with her; That would be awful. Because she had told him about Tom and Marjorie. She had chattered quite freely about them. And he had been so sympathetic, so sweet about it. It hadn't made any difference in his attentions.

Myra teased her because he wouldn't come to the dances. He didn't seem to want to dance with any one but Sally and it was a rule of the ship that if a junior officer came to the dances that re had to dance with more than one woman. So Allen usually stayed up in the radio room, or spent his evenings with Sally on the boat deck, while Myra danced with all the men on the ship. Sally didn't know why she preferred it that way, but she did like Allen so much.

But Mr. Britton!

Myra was giving him a great deal of her time. He was very rich, but Sally didn't like him.

When she took her noon walk with Allen, Myra and Mr. Britton were in the veranda cafe sipping drinks.

Sally loved a cocktail before dinner, but drinking in the middle of the dinner didn't seem quite the thing to do. But then, of course, Myra descended to the dining salon, all vivid and gorgeous. She kept the whole table in gales of laughter. She was so brilliant!

Sometimes Sally would send a little smile across the room to Allen. She felt that Tom would like Allen. There was something so cleancut about him and so boyish.

Once she said to Myra, "Do you really like Mr. Britton?"

Myra shrugged.

"O, he's all right. Of course, I don't care anything about him. But then he's one of the most important men on the boat. You're such a baby, Sally. Actually having a sort of bucolic affair with a junior officer. Every one is so amused!"

Myra had come to the conclusion that Sally's affairs was quite innocent and she wasn't worrying. Perhaps Allen Leigh would be hurt, but what of it? Any man ought to be able to look out for himself.

Yet there were times when she would watch Sally and Allen Leigh pass by the veranda cafe at noon and a strange feeling would creep over her. They were so young, and Allen Leigh was so obviously in love. Didn't Sally know it? But obviously, she didn't.

Yet ther were times when she would watch Sally and Leigh pass by

What a child she was! But then she was entitled to a good time. Marriage without much money wasn't conducive to a great deal of fun. Tom was a nice boy, of course, but rather dull and stodgy. As long as she was sure that Sally was heart-whole and fancy free, it didn't matter.

Somehow she couldn't have stood the idea of Sally's being made love to—lightly. Unless, of course, there was a chance of bettering herself. Suppose she met some one on this trip who could do more for her than Tom! Suppose, Sally, as she gradually grew more sophisticated, actually fell in love with some one like that! Why not? Tom had had his chance. He deserved no more than that. He had never given her very much, besides love! But even Myra when she reached this point in her thoughts, found it impossible.

She had always wanted love. There were times when she made herself believe that there were no such thing, but in her heart it was different.

DISCUSSION CENTRES ON DISEASES OF FOX

TORONTO, Feb. 15. —Foxes and fox diseases were the chief topic of discussion at the winter meeting of the Ontario Veterinary Association yesterday. Dr. Ronald Law, who is in charge of the new Ontario Government Fur Farm at Kirkfield stated that men ten years in the fox ranch business in many cases did not know a good pelt when they saw it. He maintained this industry was down to a pelt basis, and that the days of selling breeding stock at a long price were over. In describing a good pelt, he pointed out that the black should be all black, with no red hairs, and the silver tip of a pure-silvery sheen.

In the opinion of Dr. H. E. Batt of the Ontario Veterinary College, the solution for long worm and hook worm control lay in the provision of wooden floors. The mud floors in such general use at present, he said, offered refuge for these pests in one stage of their life development.

Strong criticism of the Health of Animals Branch, Ottawa, was voiced in a resolution which condemned the recent action of appointing two Europeans to fill positions which the local association claimed should have been filled by Canadians. It was claimed that these positions were purposely kept vacant until the Europeans were available.

IN MEMORIAM

NORMAN RAMSAY

Norman Ramsay, Hamilton, died at his home here on Thursday, February 3rd, after a protracted illness. He was buried at Malpeque on Sunday, February 6th the services being conducted by Rev. Mr. Williamson. The pall bearers were Messrs Keir Ramsay, Archibald Ramsay, George McKay, Alexander Craig, Johnson Ramsay, Winfred Gillis. One hundred sleighs silently followed in the funeral procession. Left to mourn are Wilfred Ramsay, Mrs. Thomas Beer, Charlottetown; Mrs. Lemuel Stewart, Stoughton, Mass., Mrs. Norman Ferguson, Hamilton, Mr. Mathew Neil and one grandson Leslie Ramsay.

The deceased, Mr. Ramsay, was a man of sterling character, honest and industrious, and always strove to live a life in conformity with the principles of his faith, and the record that he has made in this world is indelibly written in the hearts of the many friends that now mourn his deplorable death. Y

MRS. WALLACE MacLEOD

The community of Enmore was saddened on February 7th when it was learned that the angel of death had visited the home of Mr. Wallace MacLeod and claimed for its victim his loving wife Rotha in the 20th year of her age.

Deceased was born at Bonshaw, P. E. I., and was the youngest daughter of the late Angus McEachern and Margaret MacDougall. At an early age she removed to Enmore with her aunt and uncle who adopted her at her mother's death.

The circumstances are particularly sad owing to the fact that she left one baby girl nine days old, besides two other small children. Her condition did not seem critical until a few days before her death when she realized that life was impossible and that her spirit was returning to God who gave it and on the ninth day all that was left of a kind and loving wife and mother was laid to rest in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery.

That Rotha was a general favorite with all who knew her was evidenced by the large crowd that followed her remains to its last resting place.

The service at the house and grave was conducted by her pastor Rev. Mr. Stanford who spoke touching words of sympathy to the bereaved and paid a glowing tribute to the sterling character and Christian life of the deceased. She leaves to mourn besides a large number of relatives and friends, a heart broken husband and three small children, one sister Sadie of Charlottetown.

MRS. CAROLINE MacQUARRIE

News of the death of Mrs. Caroline MacQuarrie came as a distinct shock to the community of Enmore and to her many friends both at home and abroad.

Mrs. MacQuarrie appeared to be in usual health and on Friday, Dec. 24th went to Summerside to attend to business and was stricken on her way home on the train and was taken to the home of Mr. Wallace Noy, where medical aid was at once procured, and all the kind and careful attention that Mrs. Noy and the willing assistance of kind and sympathizing friends and neighbors could give failed to bring her back to health. So rapidly had a serious case of pneumonia developed that after a few days of severe illness she peacefully passed away on Thursday, Dec. 30th, 1926 at the age of 62 years and seven months.

Mrs. MacQuarrie's husband predeceased her 26 years ago and left her with a large family of small children to maintain by her own exertions. She had much to endure which made life for her more hard and the struggle rather more than comes to the average person. Not having the advantages that come to many in her youth, yet she was a woman that had a wonderful ability and most marvelous energy, so active and industrious working so hard to keep up her home, although she had much to discourage her in heavy losses of stock and property by fire and otherwise over which she had no control, but she bravely kept on. Always cheerful, kind and generous and knowing more sorrow and disappointments than many, she was always ready to assist and help others with her sympathy and courage in any kind of trouble, looking always to her Master for her help and her strength.

In response to a telegram three of her family and one son-in-law arrived before the funeral which was held from the residence of Mr. Wallace Noy, Enmore on Sunday, Jan. 2nd.

The service at the house, church and grave was conducted by Rev. Mr. McGowan and the Rev. Mr Carew of the United Church. The pall bearers were John Greig, Tyne Valley, W. McIntosh, Mt. Pleasant F. Ballem, Enmore, W. Gillis Enmore.

Mrs. MacQuarrie has left a family of seven children to mourn the loss of a most devoted mother, Mrs H. G. Rose, Denver, Col.; Mrs. D H. McDowell, Weymouth, Mass., Miss May and Mrs. William Bell of Somerville, Mass.; William and Frank MacQuarrie of Ayer, Mass. and John C. at home, and ten grandchildren. She also leaves three sisters and three brothers, Mrs Geo. MacKie of West Devon; Mrs Sauler and Mrs. Reed and James Chapple of Littleton, Mass., Thomas of Concord, Mass., and John Chapple of Coos. W. H.

To all the sorrowing the heartfelt sympathy of their many friends and relatives is extended and trust that they may find comfort in the blessed assurance that God does not afflict willingly. Though he has taken away your dearest earthly friend He has left you that ever precious promise, I will never leave nor forsake thee.

Interment beside her loved ones gone before in the family lot at Bideford.

We may weep for our loss
But we rejoice at her gain,
Like her we would pass from sin, sorrow and pain
And we long for the time when with Angels above
We shall join her in praising
The Saviour she loved.

SERGT. S. A. GIDDINGS.

The death of Sergt. S. A. Giddings, late of Abney P. E. I., occured in the military hospital at Lucknow, India, on Jan. 16th. 1927.

Seargent Giddings went overseas during the war as a member of The Canadian Expeditionary Forces. When the war was over, it was found that the professional soldier had disappeared. Demobilization of the "Citizen Soldier" left the ranks of the regular army depleated. The Nation issued a call for men who were willing to continue in uniform to serve the needs of the country. Among others this young man volunteered, and was at once placed in a regiment of The Indian Army. Soon he found himself on the North Eastern Frontier of India where England was opposing activities of Russia. Since that time, for seven years, Sergt. Giddings has continued in this service, right up to the time of his death.

Exposure and fatigue lowered his bodily resistance to such an extent that the dreaded Spinal Menegitis got hold of him and to which he finally succumbed.

Sergt. Giddings is survived by three brothers and five sisters who expected to see him home on furlough next summer. They are Samuel A., in Abney, P. E. I., Oliver, of White Sands, P. E. I., Joseph, in Maine, U. S. A. Mrs H. Williams, Pugwash, N. S.; Mrs. N. Williams, Beech Pt., P. E. I., Mrs Wm. Miller, Saskatchewan,, Mrs. David Fraser, Urequia, N. S., and Mrs. Mathias Legere, Port Elgin, N. B.

Sergt. Giddings was married in 1923 to Miss Nina Wells of Heathfield, Devonshire, Eng. Mrs. Giddings is expected to join her husbands friends in Abney, P. E. I. as soon as necessary arrangements can be made.

MRS. WILLIAM BELL.

The death of Mrs. William Bell of Abney, P. E. I. occured in the Prince Edward Island Hospital on Feb. 7th. She was a very active person in the community and was highly appreciated by all who knew her as a good friend and neighbour. Mrs. Bell will be greatly missed in church circles. She had been a member of the Methodist Church for fifty years and passed with it into the United Church of Canada. Her husband died thirteen years ago. There remain to mourn their loss, three sons and one daughter; Harold, on the homestead, Andrew in Abney, P. E. I., Austin, in Roch Island, Washington, U. S. A., and Mrs. Milton Hooper, in Abney.

During the illness of Mrs. Bell the unstinted kindly helpfulness of friends and neighbours was highly appreciated by Mr. Harold Bell and his brothers and sisters.

Interment took place at Murray River, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Christopher Graham.

The Best Cough Syrup Is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2, and get best cough medicine you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this famous home-made cough syrup. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a 16-oz. bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the bottle. Or, if desired, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you 16 ounces of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for $2.50.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.
