Scottish Islands Refuse Aid From English Hands

LONDON, Feb. 18.—A condition likened to Irish famine times is now existing in the Hebrides or Western Isles, that group of forsaken islands off the bleak coast of Scotland, where, of the population of 40,000 there are 20,000 people starving and powerless themselves to relieve their condition. At the best these people barely make a livelihood. Their life is a continual struggle against the relentless climate and a still more relentless soil. The last year has been more than usually hard, and misfortune has come so steadily that now, without food or fuel the people face misery unless outsiders force them to accept charity or move to the mainland. To help these people is a problem. They live in poor huts, talk only their own language, and have a hearty dislike for anything English or modern. But the real tragedy is that they resist any suggestion that they should migrate to more productive land. They have stubbornly refused to do this for the last hundred years, but continue to bear the hardships of the islands while they might become a happy, thriving folk in a different land. The islanders regard with suspicion the efforts of any outsider to help them with money, food or clothing. They are content to sit in their cottages, awaiting aid from their own government that is not forthcoming because of the lack of funds. Many Scotch charitable organizations are combining their relief to the islanders, but at the best their charity could only serve to keep them until next winter, when it is more than probable that the same conditions will exist again.

Toronto Team And Flying Frenchmen Remain Tied In Second Place

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—Toronto St. Patrick's stayed in the tight for National Hockey League honors by reason of their two to one victory over Ottawa here last night. Coming as a distinct surprise the victory of the Irish was nevertheless well-earned, and the two shots that Babe Dye counted with would have eluded any goalie in the business. The teams were battling along with one goal each, and only forty-five seconds remained of the last period. The crowd had settled down for an overtime game when Adams returned the puck from Clancy's rush. He was driven into the corner by Hitchman, but whipped the puck out to the right wing, where Dye tore in to secure it. He passed a race between the Irish sharp-shooter and Darragh, and the former one. Not having time to handle the disc, Dye snapped it at the cage, Benedict went down to block it, but it hopped into the net and the red light flickered a win for the visitors. This was Dye's second goal he having previously beaten the Ottawa net guardian with a blazing drive from the red line, just after the second period opened. Cy Demmy secured the only local tally when he banged Hitchman's rebound over Roach's post-race form, one minute and forty-five seconds after Dye had given St. Pat's the lead. The game was not brilliant. Play was fast throughout, but there was little to enthuse over except the sensational speed of Frank Clancy, and the steady unbeatable goal-tending of Roach. Roach again pulled St. Patrick's through. While he was blocking 54 drives at the Toronto cage, Benedict in the Ottawa net only turned aside 24. This is a good idea of how Ottawa commanded the attacks, but yet failed to score.

Sleeplessness

Sleeplessness, like insanity, is greatly on the increase. Modern life, with its hurry and worry and noise, brings an enormous strain on the brain and nerves. The temptation to depend on sleeping powders or tablets must be fought off if you would avoid catastrophe. Means of reconstructing the starved nerve cells must be sought. Since the digestive system fails to supply nourishment to the blood and nerves it is necessary to employ such treatment as DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD to instil new strength and energy into the tired nerves. This is Nature's way of affording lasting relief. You will notice that while the price of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has been increased to 60c, the box now contains 60 pills instead of 50 as formerly. Likewise Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are 35c, a box of 35 pills, instead of 25c, for 25 pills. Edmundson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. New Box 60 Pills 60 cts.
