time was spent here, and we feel you have benefited by these studies, as they were taken up from month to month at your meetings.

The Resolution passed at the last Annual Convention, re. a Health Certificate being required by all persons applying for a marriage license, was placed before the Legislative Assembly last Spring. I had a reply saying it would receive their serious consideration. You, no doubt, read the result of this in the press.

On March 31st we regretfully accepted Miss Rodd's resignation, after two years faithful service as Supervisor. We wish Miss Rodd many years of happy wedded bliss. We feel sure she will always be an ardent worker in the Organization known as the Women's Institute. We depend much on our competent Assistant Supervisor, Miss Haszard, to tide us over the difficulties arising through resignations. Our new Supervisor, Miss Mary MacDonald, has recently been welcomed at the office and we trust will soon become acquainted with the work, and that together we may enjoy many years of activity.

During the year we were saddened by the death of the Honourable Peter Sinclair, one of our representatives at Ottawa. Mr. Sinclair took a deep interest in Institute activities. We pause to pay a tribute of respect to his memory.

In Februray the President of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada asked us to make a survey of our Province, regarding a "Home and Country" magazine, which has been proposed as an all-Canadian publication. Our own "Institute News" will be continued until the National Magazine becomes a reality. Further information will be given if the change in publication is carried out. More will be said about this during the Convention.

Do not be satisfied with the work of the past, but press ever on, especially in regard to Education along many lines. During the convention you shall have an opportunity to hear an address on Rural Sanitation by the National Convener of Public Health and Child Welfare. I hope not one of you will be absent, as notes on this important subject should be taken back to every Branch in the Province. If this Health address is published. I ask you to read it over and discuss it at your next meeting, with the aim of carrying out what is contained therein.

Never refuse to be represented on the School Board in your district. You are needed there to suggest improvements and to assist in carrying on the work in such a manner that your children may have all the advantages possible, and that the teachers may know you are interested.

It is twenty-five years since the first Women's Institute was organized in our fair Province (by Miss Katherine James, of Charlottetown. A graduate of MacDonald College Ontario.) The names of special speakers and their subjects have been made known through the courtesy of the Press. We hope you will not miss an opportunity to get all possible out of this Silver Anniversary Convention, that you may carry back to your Branch something really worthwhile.

The sessions will continue until tomorrow, Thursday afternoon. At 4 o'clock the delegates will be the guests of His Honor Lieutenant Governor DeBlois and Mrs. DeBlois at Government House. In the evening a banquet will be held at the Canadian National Hotel. as a climax to the Convention. All delegates have had the privilege of accepting the invitation to attend this Silver Anniversary function, through a circular letter sent to each Branch. We hope you have sent in your names, as requested, that your place may be reserved at the banquet table.

You have come to this Convention leaving your cares behind. Forget your homes for two days and enjoy all deliberations to the full! Get acquainted! Never mind the formalities of an introduction! We are all women, working together for one great aim, the betterment of humanity. Let us make this Silver Anniversary Convention the best ever and return to our communities with new enthusiasm and determination to make Canada a land of happy homes.

We have taken up many lines of work in connection with our Organization. There is one howfully entered —Legislation. There are some things only women can see the need of, and bring before a Legislative Assembly. Men are too busy, with what they deem, more important, to see the vital things that go to make our homes and communities what we dream of. Some day, in the not too distant future, our dreams will come true, and we shall have representatives from our Institutes in Parliament. Let us work to that end. There are many women in this audience whom this Province would be proud to honor as their representatives. I tell you, women, we need to wake up and put into action our better impulses! It is true,—"The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world."

SUPERVISOR'S REPORT

Miss Mary MacDonald submitted a report of the work carried on by Miss Jean Rodd, who resigned as Supervisor on April 30th, and of the work carried on under her own supervision since May 5.

Since last convention the following new Institutes have been enrolled: New Zealand, Westmoreland, St. Avard's, Bedeque, Belle River, St. George's East and Greenwich. It was regrettable that six Institutes have disorganized, leaving a total of 254 active Institutes.

The convenors of the standing committees were commended on the untiring effort they put forth on the questionnaires. The Supervisor hoped that each Institute will do its best to fill them in promptly.

Emphasis was placed on the need of a well balanced programme, appealing to different types of members.

The report reviewed briefly the transactions at three executive meetings and one committee meeting, held during the year.

Thirty-one district conventions were scheduled and all were held. These annual gatherings were well attended and the majority had thoroughly prepared programs. Handicrafts were emphasized, with the result that a large number of the conventions exhibited very fine work. Demonstrations on the older types of handicrafts including carding, twisting and spinning of yarn and the weaving of cloth were followed with much interest. At some conventions members gave very fine papers on subjects pertaining to Institute work, and as usual the meetings were made interesting and educational by talks given by doctors, public health nurses and other outstanding speakers.

Reference was made to the 10th. Biennial Convention of the F. W. I. C. which met in Toronto, Nov. 16, to 23, and which was attended by Mrs. Walter Shaw, 2nd Vice-President; Mrs. Allison MacMillan, Convenor of Public Health and Mrs. Fred MacLaren as representative of the Provincial organization. A practical plan to improve sanitation in the rural homes throughout Canada was outlined at this convention by Mrs. Allison MacMillan. A Dominion-wide discussion is to be made of this subject for 1937-39. Mrs. Fred MacLaren was made a director; Mrs. MacMillan was re-elected Convenor of Public Health and Child Welfare and Mrs. Walter Shaw, Convenor of Education and Better Schools. The exhibit of handicrafts including pottery, weaving, hooking and needle-work sent to the F. W. I. C. was made possible by the kind co-operation of interested Institute members and friends of the organization. Another exhibit of handicrafts was sent to the British Empire Exhibition which is being held in Glasgow, Scotland. They will form a unit in the larger collection sponsored by the A. C. W. A.

September saw the completion of the fourth year of the Junior program. In order to enable a larger percentage of club members to participate in the final competitions, three county days were held in Montague, Coleman and Charlottetown. This arrangement proved to be very worth while as ninety-six girls, as compared to thirty-four of the previous year, competed in darning, buttonhole making and hemstitching contests prepared for the first, second and third years respectively.

Competition was exceptionally keen in the six classes showing the completed outfits. At the County Achievement Days ten awards were made. The three prize winners exhibited their work for provincial honors, which went to the following:

First Year Junior: Nona Bruce, Valleyfield.

First Year Senior: Hilda Coles, Milton.

Second Year Junior: Mildred Bulman, Anglo Rustico.

Second Year Senior: Mabel Robertson, Red Point.

Third Year Junior: Jean MacRae, Heatherdale.

Third Year Senior: Olive Dewar, New Perth.

An outstanding feature of the Achievement Day at Montague was the public speaking contest on "Being Well Dressed and Well Groomed" for the Third Year Club members. The following were the prize winners:

Junior: Jean MacRae, Heatherdale.

Senior: Ena Bruce, Heatherdale.

During the fall twenty-four first year Clubs were organized, seventeen continued with second year work and three units are completing the third year work. Splendid essays were written by second year girls on "What the Sewing Club Has Meant to Me." The Junior prize was won by Glenn MacNeill, Knutsford and the Senior by Ruth Gallant, South Milton.

The Sewing Clubs were visited during the month of May and it was found that splendid work was being done. Several of the Clubs were practically ready to hold their Achievement Days.

Miss Haszard and Miss Rodd judged the Home Economics exhibit at Souris, Georgetown and Egmont Bay. At Alberton Miss Haszard was assisted by Mrs. Willard Prowse.

Youth Training

During October, November and December nine Short Courses ranging from three to nine days each, were conducted at the following centres: Coleman, St. Nicholas, Tryon, Mt. Stewart, Cardigan, Morell, Souris, Tignish and Kensington for the purpose of training the unemployed between the ages of eighteen and thirty. Instruction was given in Health Education at six centres; rug-making, including design, color and hooking at six centres; and glove making at six centres. Three hundred and twelve girls and women took advantage of this opportunity to learn the elements of practical home nursing and to become proficient in handicraft.

The short courses which were held in Charlottetown during the months of January, February and March were very successful and accommodated a larger group of young women than usual, there being 143 enrolled. Instruction was given to two groups simultaneously, thus enabling twice as many girls to take advantage of the service offered by the Department of Agriculture. In addition to the regular classes in cookery, sewing, home nursing and handicrafts which were held daily, two periods each week were devoted to Physical Training and community singing.

During the courses the young men, who were attending the other short courses being held at the same time, were entertained in the College Auditorium by the Department of Agriculture, the girls and boys furnishing the program.

We extend thanks to Miss Mona Wilson and the nurses of the Public Health Department who conducted Health classes during these courses.

Ten dental clinics have been held during the year with children attending, at the following places: In Prince County: Bloomfield Corner, MacNeill's Mills. Piusville and Ascension. In Queens County, Mt. Herbert, Uigg, Red Cross Crippled Children's Camp, St. Andrews, North Wiltshire. In Kings County at Eglington.

Out of 254 Institutes 108 are subscribing to the Institute News with a total subscription list of 355.

REPORT ON EDUCATION

Mrs. Douglas Bell submitted a report, on the questionnaire "Education and Better Schools" as received from approximately half of the Institutes. She dealt with each question in the order in which it appeared on the questionnaire.

Question 1. (a) Should the standard of teachers be raised by requiring a longer period of preparation? The greater number are in favor of more normal training others are opposed and more are of divided opinions. Some suggestions offered were: "when students pass out of Prince of Wales College they should receive a temporary license for two years; if, during that time they show no intention of following improved methods demonstrated in their training course then they should be disqualified and have their license cancelled." Another "one year academic work and one year normal training so that at the end of the training period individuals taking the course would not be termed "inexperienced teachers;" such a course might also help to eliminate the abuse offered the teaching profession when it is regarded as merely a stepping stone." Those opposing this matter cry out the extra expense and no extra raise in salaries; also that teachers taking the two years at P. W. C. —first class teachers —are capable of teaching in our ordinary schools.

(b) Should the matter of hiring the teacher be placed wholly in the hands of the School Board? Again the majority suggest consulting the ratepayers at the annual meeting, consulting the Superintend of Education and Inspector of Schools, supplying a list of successful teachers each year to be mailed to each school district on the organization of a large unit of administration in this regard.

(c) Should there be a large unit of administration? Half of those replying consider this a favorable proposition; all except nine of the remaining half have not considered the project as they in some cases were unable to get material. Two of the reasons in objecting to this proposal (1) This is not practicable due to our road conditions. (2) The centralization of anything tends to lessen the interest taken by the individual.

Question 2 Improvement of School property, etc. All except three Institutes reporting have been active in this community work, supplying school supplies for junior grades, furnishings, first aid kits, flags, treats for children, traffic signs, drinking fountains, lamps, hot lunches, sanitary lunch cupboards, scrap books of current events, maps, library books, bookcases, pump, financing sewing clubs, portfolios as "Coronation," "Birds and Animals of P. E. I." and "Prominent persons of the Day," several report having elected a lady trustee.

Question 3 (a) The Public School Act has been studied by individuals and in some cases discussed at their meetings but several report they have made no study. (b) A study of the Bye-laws of the F. W. I. C. has (I am sorry to report) been made by very few, no doubt this was partly due to a small supply of books. However I am hoping after our "Open Forum" on these Bye-laws more of our members will be interested.

Question 4 (a) Co-operation between parents and teachers is being encouarged and several report beginners commencing in reading. Others plan to help in this work which lessens the number of junior classes.

(b) Children between 13 and 15 in all reports barring two are attending school regularly.

(c) A number of Institutes report assisting the teacher in the observation of public holidays by supplying flag poles and flags to be flown on the day and seeing that school is closed to observe same. Others help in having a suitable entertainment in the evening, talks by the teacher on the Day, planting trees, picnics, parades, bon-fires and sing-songs after which treats are passed to the children.

REPORT ON LEGISLATION

On the subject of Legislation Mrs. Dolor Richard reported that the number of questionnaires received this year has fallen to eighty-seven. She congratulated the majority of those who did answer, for they showed that the questions had been well discussed.

Regarding the first question, sixty-six out of the eighty-seven replied in the affirmative, giving well founded reasons for such a decision, such as: Women in general are just as intelligent, business-like, and honest as men, and would be in the front ranks as legislators in connection with some laws, especially those concerning child-welfare, education, sanitation, temperance and moral conditions. I think that our two subjects of legislation and education are very closely connected.

The fact that twenty-one replied "No, the woman's place is in the home," shows that some of our rural women still hesitate in asserting their rights of being human beings with heads, as well as hearts and not just serviceable machinery. Of course a woman's place is in the home. But doesn't legislation come back to the home? I do not think that our Island women are all one-track minded, but while taking an interest in the laws of our country, they can still be good homemakers.

The answers to the third question led to the conclusion that many members are not very familiar with methods of legislation. "Consequently, if we wish to have women legislators we must learn political procedure. So I would suggest that the study of legislation form part of the programme of our monthly meetings," Mrs. Richard reported.

"I have corresponded with Mrs. Humphrey, our national convenor, and she suggested that a resolution be sent to our provincial legislature, asking that members of the female sex be admitted as candidates for next election.

"Would such candidates be supported by members of their own sex? It is questionable, unless our women become more familiar with the necessity of proper legislation, and such information can only be attained by study along these lines."

The second question dealt particularly with hygienic conditions in the schools and homes. Some suggested that more health officers should be appointed to inspect rural homes and schools, and to look after the water supply, sewerage, ventilation, cellars, control of flies and general cleanliness; others suggested that teachers and pupils should be examined every year by doctors. One branch in particular had its teacher and pupils examined for tuberculosis, another asked that vaccination be made compulsory.

Comparing rural schools of a few years ago with those of today in the districts where Women's Institute branches are functioning, I think Mrs. Richard believed everyone will agree that the change is amazing, and the women's high ideals can sometimes take concrete form.

The fourth question was, "What are the duties of a conscientious citizen?" Many and varied answers were received showing that the question had been thoroughly discussed. The predominating answers were that citizens should first respect authority, then have a proper regard for his own rights and those of his neighbors, and finally the promotion of peace since the ravages of war are so unjust and criminal in their nature; in a word "Fear God and honor the King."

Librarians To

ests in the large town; Miss Jean Gill, Charlottetown, summarized her experiences with reading interests in the small town, while Mrs. Robert Donahoe, Souris, spoke on the reading interests apparent from the point of view of the small country library.

Many others also contributed to the discussions and many valuable points came to light.

The latter part of the afternoon was spent at the summer cottage of Miss Margaret Jenkins at Keppoch where the visitors were entertained at tea.

At the evening session, which opened at 7.30, Hon. M. R. McGuigan, Minister of Health and Education for the Province, gave an address of welcome to the visiting librarians. He stressed the importance of reading in a troubled age such as this and declared that if education would not settle problems confronting this generation nothing else would ward off disaster.

The next item was a paper by Miss Doreen Harper, librarian at the Legislative Library of New Brunswick at Fredericton. She spoke on government document holdings in the Maritime Provinces and told of her efforts to gather information on the various government publications available in Maritime libraries. Her work of collecting this information, while not complete, represents a great bulk of information which was not available before.

Miss Harper's paper was received with great appreciation and on motion it was decided to distribute it to all members of the Library Institute.

The meeting then adjourned to join with the Women's Institute Convention to hear a lecture by Dr. Kingsley Roberts of New York on Co-operative Medicine. Following the lecture the librarians again met and saw a motion picture, "The Making of a Book."

near the back of the Church hang the three red, wide-brimmed hats of Cardinal Villeneuve's predecessors.

When the Cardinal reached the dais of the Episcopal Throne, the brief of his appointment as Legate was read by a white-cloaked member of the Papal delegation sent from Vatican City by the Pope. It first was read in Latin, universal language of the Church, then in French and in English.

It was addressed by the Pope "to his well-beloved son, Rodrigue Villeneuve, cardinal-priest of the Holy Roman Church of the title of Saint Mary of the Angels at the Thermes, Archbishop of Quebec," and conveyed greetings of "health and apostolic benedcition."

QUEBEC, June 22—(CP)—Unity exemplified by the union of minds and forces in the Roman Catholic Church is "particularly necessary" in this period of social unrest, Cardinal Villeneuve of Quebec, Papal Legate to the National Eucharistic Congress, said tonight in an address prepared for delivery at a civic reception.

"Your presence in such vast numbers is a touching spectacle which moves me deeply, when I reflect that this immense gathering of Catholics from every part of Canada has but one heart and one soul and is united by a bond stronger and more enduring than that created by flesh and blood," he told throngs crowding the armories on Grande Allee in uptown Quebec.

Pioneers Take League Lead By Defeating Red Sox 16-6

The Red Sox stuck with Pioneers for 4 1-2 innings last evening but in the last of the fifth the pioneers scored nine unearned runs and went on to win by the one sided score of 16-6.

The winners pounded out 16 hits including two homers, a triple and a double and made them good for 16 runs. The Red Sox got to Wilson for seven hits including three doubles but the best they could do was get six runs across the plate.

A heavy wind was browing across the diamond and made fielding very difficult which no doubt accounted for the increased number of errors. Millman and Steele for the Pioneers and Williams for the Red Sox took batting honors of the evening with hitting three for four. Millman landed the longest hit of the year on the road in straight right field which was good for an easy home run. Williams landed two on the road in centre field but they only were good for two baggers.

The next game will take place on Friday evening at the same time.

MASONIC GRAND

E. Kemp, Charlottetown; Junior Grand Stewart, Percy G. Ellis, Port Hill; Grand Pursuivant, D. J. Riley, Belle River; Grand Tyler, R. S. Douglas, Kensington.

After the usual opening ceremonies past Grand Master L. M. MacKinnon introduced Most Worshipful Brother Norman T. Avard of Amherst, N. S., who was the guest speaker of Grand Lodge on this occasion. This annual communication was marked by an unusually large number of Grand Officers and members of Grand Lodge who had assembled to celebrate the 75th. anniversary of the founding of Alexandra Lodge, No. 5, Port Hill. The guests were given a cordial welcome by the acting Master, R. R. Ings.

Grand Master Ives in his annual address referred feelingly to the loss by death during the past year of four Grand Masters, Brothers. W. K. Rogers, G. S. Inman, W. S. Stewart, and Peter Sinclair. At the same time he congratulated the Order upon the progress made during the past 12 months in increase in membership, benevolence and lodge work generally.

During his official visitations to subordinate lodges last fall he stated the aggregate attendance was 99.2 per cent of the total membership, which was considered to be a record in Masonic circles in not only Canada but the United States.

Grand Master Ives also explained in detail the arrangements that have been completed for the reception and entertainment of visiting Masons on July 15 next. As has been announced the Grand Lodge of Nova Scotia has arranged a bicentenary celebration on July 11-13 next in Halifax in commemoration of the 200th. anniversary of the founding of the 1st. Masonic lodge on Canadian soil at Annapolis Royal in 1738.

This celebration will be one of the most outstanding events in the history of Free Masonry in Canada in that it will be attended by Lieut. General Sir Francis Davies, K. C. B., K. C., M. G., K. C. V. O., V. L., deputy Grand Master of the United Grand Lodge of England and the personal representative of the Grand Master His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, Brigadier General Sir Norman Orr Ewing, Bart., D. S. O., A. D. C., V. L., Grand Master of Grand Lodge of Scotland, Lieut. Colonel Lord Farnham, D. S. O., Provincial Grand Master of Meath Grand Lodge of Ireland and many other distinguished Masons from the British Isles.

In addition there will be present also approximately 75 Grand Masters, representing the Grand Lodges of the United States, Newfoundland, and Canada.

These outstanding members of the Craft will arrive in this Province as guests of the Grand Lodge of Prince Edward Island by special train on Friday, July 15. They will be met at Borden by cars and following a luncheon at Summerside will attend a special communication of Grand Lodge of Prince Edward Island in Prince of Wales College, Charlottetown. This will be followed by a banquet at the Canadian National Hotel that evening.

During the afternoon session yesterday a 50 year membership button was presented to Herbert Yeo of Port Hill, who has been a valued member of the Order during that period.

It was announced the next annual communication of Grand Lodge of this Province would be held in Charlottetown on June 23, 1939. On the preceding day, June 22, the Grand Chapter Royal Arch Masons of Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island would meet in Charlottetown. It was noted that T. Gordon Ives, was elected Grand King at the last meeting of the Chapter in Halifax last week.
