ST. JOHN, N. B. HAS TROUBLE WITH MAINS

A Night of Peril and Alarm—Industrial Establishments Were Shut Down Business Houses Closed, Fire Danger Made Serious

St. John, N. B. Dec 10.—Water began to come through the mains in the lower levels of the city shortly after midnight and early this morning the quality was increasing but was still unsatisfactory. There was every promise, however, that one main would be given the city a fair supply this morning except on the high level and that before night conditions would be normal or almost so. For the twenty-four hours ending this morning St. John experienced alarm, loss and inconvenience because of the interruption of the water service, such as it had not encountered for twenty-seven years. In 1880, during a fierce winter storm, the service went to pieces completely for fourteen hours; but that was before St. John had spent a million dollars to insure a plentiful and continuous supply of water for all purposes. Early last evening, before the street lights were turned on, when the city was fog-bound; the position was not only one of general gloom, but of actual and great danger. The street lights were turned on a little later, and just as the city had assumed something like its normal appearance several alarms succeeded each other at short intervals. Fortunately the fires were slight but one brought the city to a sudden and complete realization of its position. A blaze in the Main street, North End, must have spread with great rapidity and with what result no one could guess but for the providential arrival of No. 2 of local re-igning after responding to another alarm and all ready for action. In a few minutes that particular danger—and it was a great one—was over. The people spent a day and night of helplessness as well as dread. The story of the manifold expedients to secure a little water is told in detail elsewhere. The industries of the city were paralyzed and life generally was turned topsy turvy by the accident on McSweeney's farm. This morning as The Telegraph goes to press it looks as though the serious part of the immediate trouble were over but the whole city is left wondering about the value of its costly service for this winter and the people expect both safeguards and explanations.

BTDEGROOM SAVES BRIDE IN A FLOOD

Procession is Shipwrecked On Way To Church By Rushing Water

PARIS, Dec. 3.—An extraordinary adventure happened to a wedding party near Neres, the home of president Fallieres. The bride and bridegroom and forty guests were driving from the church to a village six miles distant when the wedding breakfast was to be held. On the way they were overtaken by the waters of the flooded Garonne, and their carriages were literally "shipwrecked." The coachman who was driving the bridal carriage whipped up his horses and tried to get through the water which was rolling across the fields. A tree floating by killed one of the horses and the other was drowned, but the carriage, with the bride and bridegroom in it floated. The bridegroom jumped out of the carriage into the water, bidding his bride have courage, and swam for help. By this time all the guests, ten of them, in carts driven by oxen, were more or less in danger of their lives. The bridegroom rescued his wife on the back of a horse, and after three hours' danger the entire party reached dry land but there were twenty-two on one side of the rolling flood and twenty on the other and the wedding breakfast was eventually held without the bride and groom.

A.A. MCLEAN'S STRONG SPEECH FOR TUNNEL

Thinks Government Should Build it and Not Bother With Steamers

OTTAWA, Dec. 9.—(Special)—During the continuance of the debate on the address which developed no remarkable features, Mr. McLean of P. E. I. made a strong speech in favor of the Tunnel and denounced the Government for not taking the matter up instead of persisting in the futile attempt to maintain winter communication by steamers.

LETTER REC'D BY THE SUMMERSIDE BOARD OF TRADE

From Minister Replacing a Steamer on Summerside Tormentine Route

The following letter was received on the 7th inst, by the Secretary of the Summerside Board of Trade:—Office Minister Marine and Fisheries, 3rd December, 1907. Dear Sir:— With reference to my letter of the twenty first ult, informing you that the Stanley had not arrived in Canada from undergoing repairs in Scotland and that on her arrival the agent of the Department in Charlottetown would be instructed to carry out the wishes of your Board with regard to placing the steamer on the Summerside-Tormentine route if possible, I would beg to inform you of her arrival on this side. I find however that owing to the accumulation of farm products at Charlottetown, it will not be possible in the public interests to place her on the proposed route. While I regret not being able to meet the wishes of your Board I am pleased to know that the port of Charlottetown is not only a central distributing point, but has good facilities for handling any merchandise that may be shipped to the Island as well as any produce shipped from there. I therefore trust that the arrangements made will prove satisfactory to the public generally. Yours faithfully, signed L. B. Bodeur.

THE WINELESS TELEPHONE IS IN DAILY USE

System Is Successful In Germany Over distance Of Sixty Miles

BERLIN, Dec. 9.—Telephoning without wires for fifty or sixty miles is now in daily progress between Berlin and Nauen. The transmission is effected by means both of "damped" and "undamped" waves. Less than a year ago it was possible to send an audible wireless telephone message only three or four miles, but I am officially informed today that perfectly articulate conversations are now possible for fifteen times that distance. The company hopes that its test will shortly be rewarded by still stronger triumphs.

A BOYS' REFORMATORY.

The daily life in one of these institutions will be shown on the canvas at Wonderland this evening and tomorrow. It is a subject in which many are deeply interested, as these institutions are the means of reclaiming wayward boys time and again from lives steeped in sin. The building, the surroundings, the working of the institution and all connected with it, will be depicted, and as the film is a splendid one it will be worth remembering this number on the programme, and then seeing it. Tomorrow is another fine picture, and a magnificent subject. Mr. Meddler will be quite enough in the comedy line to supply fun for the evening, and when Mr. Meddler gets his deserts, which he certainly does, every one who sees the story told, will consider that he got all that was coming to him at any rate. The Red Sceptre is a superb subject, superbly portrayed, and Mr. Harney will on Thursday evenings sing one of the popular fancy catches in the illustrated song world "The Land of the Buffalo." The illustrations are grandly attractive. Miss Blanchard will play several new selections, and the programme in toto is full of interest and amusement.

Doctor's Evidence Shows Skull Was Fractured But Not By a Blow—Death Was From Suffocation—This Favors the Defence

MONCTON, Dec. 10.—(Special)—Charged with the murder of his wife, Charlotte Horseman, Christopher Horseman was today committed to trial at the next session of the Westmoreland Circuit Court. The witnesses this afternoon were Eben Lewis, John Clerk, John Hope and Aaron Lewis. Mr. Milton told of the efforts made to resuscitate Mrs. Horseman, of hearing her answer "No" when asked if she fell into the well, and wanted to die. She heard Horseman say: "If she comes to she will mind me now." She told of accused having his hand on his wife's throat, choking her, and Mrs. Johnson compelled him to stop. No external marks were found to show that the fracture of the skull had been caused by a blow, but Dr. Addy thought that the bruise on the head and the fracture of the skull were caused by the deceased falling and striking her head against some object. A fall in such a well as described would produce the result found.

The Spread of Prohibition In United States

No More Liquor in Illinois—Local Option Law Effective in Fourteen Counties in State—Saloon Keepers Fight Hard

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 7.—Hundreds of saloons were closed in Illinois today, the local option voted at the last election in fourteen counties becoming effective at midnight. Eight counties are now totally "dry," while six allow saloons only a few precincts. The Prohibition sentiment was also felt further north in the state, where many towns voted out the saloons. In addition a systematic campaign for the Sunday closing of saloons has been undertaken in Chicago, and several scores of saloon-keepers of the city have been arrested on evidence gathered by agents of the Chicago Law and Order League. Liquor dealers of the state are alarmed at the situation and have taken steps to combat the reform movement. In Chicago the local association of saloon keepers, and the restaurant keepers' association have united forces, and will make vigorous attempts to secure the discharge of the arrested saloon keepers.

$50,000,000 FOR ADVERTISING.

"James B. Duke, the tobacco king of Long Branch, New Jersey, recently claimed in an interview that he had spent more money in advertising than any other living man. He said that the figures would reach fifty million dollars.—Newspaper item." Yet James B. Duke is to-day one of the wealthiest men in the world. When you see a liberal advertiser you see a rich man. The business man who in this age of advertising is afraid to invest his money in publicity will never accumulate a fortune.

BATTLESHIP GETS ADRIFT AND IS DAMAGED

The St. George Breaks Away and Collides With Other Warships

FORTSMOUTH, Eng., Dec. 9.—There was an exciting scene in this harbor last night when the battleship Prince George broke away from her moorings and went adrift. She was finally brought under control, but she was so badly damaged in the meantime that she will have to be docked. The Prince George grazed a number of warships anchored in the harbor and then collided with such force with the new cruiser Shannon which had just arrived in from her trials, that a big hole was pierced in the battleship's side. The Prince George took in water rapidly and by the time she had been secured by a tug and towed to dock, she had a heavy list to starboard.

THE MAGIC JUGGLER

Will Perform To-night In Fairyard

The complete change of programme at Fairyard tonight, introduces a most entertaining combination of the tragic, the humorous, and the mysterious. "Our pictures are excellent, depend upon that," writes our representative, and the patrons will corroborate him when they see the films unrolled before their delighted vision. Nowadays, transformation scenes are proving highly popular, as the moving picture machine lends itself readily to reproduction of the marvellous and mystifying. "Enchanted Glasses" is the title of one of the best pictures of this class. The many metamorphoses which reveal themselves are certainly extraordinary and the color effects are charming. The eye never tires of watching these kaleidoscopic scenes.

Pistons number two deals with another theme. In the realm of the tragic, the spectator is taken as "Another Crime" is vividly presented by motion photography. The drama is heart-rending, and the unfolding of the plot holds the close attention of the audience, from start to finish. Many instructive glimpses into life in a great metropolis are also given. One of the highest price acts on the vaudeville stage, today, has been captured by the moving picture machine, and you get it for the nominal admission fee. It represents the many delightful mystifying tricks of one of the greatest living jugglers, who is also a comedian of the highest class. It is entitled the "Magic Juggler" and the term magic is certainly true to name. Every programme is none the worse of humor, and this element will be represented tonight, by the highly enjoyable production, "I Never Forget the Wife." This is a rare bit of comedy in which the pretended thoughtfulness of the husband for the wife proves to be hypocrisy of the worst type. The illustrated song will be sung by Parker H. Oyer.
