SHIP REACHES

This Port were Pilot Wallace MacDonald of Charlottetown, William Gillan, pilot from Souris, George Buntain, Charlottetown shipper, George Thompson of the Associated Shippers and Nicholas Power of Canada Packers.

The Karmoy is in charge of 30-year-old Captain Erickson of Haugesund, Norway. She arrived in Charlottetown with a cargo of fertilizer New Year's Day, escorted in through light ice by the C. C. S. Brant. Before unloading operations were completed, however, near zero weather had closed the waters of the harbor to everything but an ice breaker.

Assistance of the C. G. S. Mont-cam, at Quebec City was requested and the ship left for Charlottetown. Heavy fog over the lower St. Lawrence River compelled the Mont-cam to return to port however. Then shippers, becoming anxious, made arrangements to have the car ferry free the freighter.

Yesterday it was learned from Marine authorities at Charlottetown that the Mont-cam was expected to reach this Province, having left Quebec City at 7:30 yesterday morning. It is expected that the weather conditions were favorable the ship would reach Prince Edward Island waters 48 hours later. It was expected. Whether she would call here, or go to Souris is in the hands of the Karmoy's captain. The shipper, however, needed assistance in reaching Charlottetown, was not known. It was expected by shippers the Norwegian freighter would have no further trouble with ice.

Shippers greatly appreciate the efforts of all concerned in getting the Karmoy to Charlottetown, and in freeing the Karmoy. They mentioned Capt. John Read, who leaves this morning on a holiday trip to the Pacific coast but who took charge of the car ferry both Friday night and again yesterday; together with C. N. R. Superintendent E. V. Macdonald, Charlottetown, E. Sinclair, and J. Lester Douglas, M. P., who were instrumental in obtaining the assistance of the ferry.

Several Clashes

At Munkacs, seven persons killed during the fighting Friday, including one woman, were buried. A wreath from the municipality of Munkacs was placed on the grave. Hungarian light artillery arrived in Munkacs and the city was full of soldiers.

Border observers said fixing of responsibility for the incident promised to be a long and complicated argument in case the Serbs refuse to have a different notion as to where the border runs.

It was a rather general presumption that the Serbs would result in dividing the village of Oroszvek, northwest of Munkacs, and the scene of some of the bitter fighting Friday.

Gallant Case Further Adjudged

The case of Armand "Mickey" Gallant, charged with having stolen goods from his possession, was adjudged in City Police Court Saturday before the evidence of one witness had been completed. Hearing would be resumed on Tuesday, it was announced.

Magistrate K. M. Martin is hearing the case.

Witness giving evidence Saturday was John S. Waugh, telephone employee in Charlottetown. He told how on instructions from Gordon Starratt, maintenance foreman, he had connected phone 523, at the residence of Mr. D. J. Riley, phones 892 and 465, the former at the residence of Corporal Cordwell and the latter at the R. C. M. P. Barracks.

The 892 and 465 phones were connected as extensions to the phone at Mr. Riley's house, the witness said. Anyone calling the Riley residence would ring the other two phones where he was connected as extensions.

The connection was made in the terminal room at the telephone office about a mile before seven on the evening of December 28th last, and was taken down sometime before ten o'clock the same night when "what he understood" as Mr. Waugh. Police called and told him to do so.

The hearing was adjourned when Mr. J. J. Johnston, K. C. counsel for the accused was cross examining the witness.

Mr. Frederick Large is appearing for the Crown.

Slew Woman Because She "Laughed" At Him

LEBANON, N. H., Jan. 8—(AP)—The nude body of Mrs. Freida Edson, 28, identified by police as a divorcee, was found in a wooded area near Lebanon, N. H., today. Her husband, George Edson, a barber and police chief James F. O'Neill of Manchester said Edson confessed shooting her because she "laughed" at him.

The body was found, covered with barbed wire, after O'Neill notified police of the discovery. Edson, 35, a hairdresser, had surrendered in Manchester. He was booked on suspicion.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Suggested by the scathing words of Jesus in Matthew 23:27, in the Rev. Harvey L. Denton, B. D., in his morning sermon took as his subject the question "Is your Religion Fundamental or is it Ornamental?"

Is our religion basic to life? Is it always the starting point of our thought of the universe, of which we are the creatures? Are all of these based on a true conception of religion. Or is it possible that we plan first, with in mind, our own interests and conveniences and then add religion as a sort of justification and adornment? Make religion basic to every effort of life to the end that we shall be better people, better neighbors, gracious, kind, just and good in our home relations, in our business relations.

Is our religion essential to life? Is it something without which we cannot live, without which there is no true happiness, something without which that for it we might gladly die?

What is our reaction to such a pointed question? Let us this day search our hearts and in true sincerity and unworldly to Christ, in happy full surrender.

The morning anthem was "In God's Hands" with Mr. J. E. Stearns taking the bass solo.

The subject of Mr. Denton's evening sermon, thoughtful, eloquent, appealing, was "The Might of the Bible."

The anthem of the evening was "O Ye That Love The Lord."

At the meeting of the Church School at 3:30 the Junior Brotherhood, meeting in their assembly room, were favored with a deeply interesting informative and thought provoking address on child welfare work by Mr. W. L. Brewster.

"BRIDE HONOURED—The choir members of the United Church, Monague met at "Spencer" the pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. Allison MacLean on Tuesday evening to do honor to one of their members, Miss Vivian Ann MacLean, who was married to Mr. Jack Chapman, formerly of Murray Harbor. A very humorous address was read by Miss Alva Brethart and Mrs. Chapman, presented with a gift of money. Both bride and groom thanked the choir for their kind thoughtfulness in the address. Mrs. Chapman stressed the pleasure her work in the choir had been and spoke of the pleasant associations existing between the members and herself, also for the lovely sentiment expressed in the address. Refreshments were daintily served by the hostess and a committee of ladies, and a pleasant evening came to a close, all joining in the very best wishes for the happiness of the young couple who are leaving shortly for U. S. A. where they will reside for some time."

ST. JAMES CHURCH COMMUNION

The usual New Year Communion Service was held yesterday forenoon when there was a large attendance of members—the largest number of communicants at a January celebration in the history of the church. The service was presided over by Rev. Dr. Moorhead LeGale's ministry here. An inspiring post-communion address was given by the Minister on the significance of the Feast of Commemoration of a death. There was another fine service in the evening, when Dr. LeGale again was the preacher. The evening anthem was "Savior again to Thy Dear Name" by Lysberg, in which Mrs. N. D. MacLean and Mrs. J. A. Lawson sang the duet.

tions was fortified by his triumphal swing around France's Mediterranean Empire.

Delighted returning to Paris today, warned Frenchmen of the "great task" to come to preserve France's Empire intact while French newspapers published ex-claims from the German and Italian press to show growing Fascist pressure on France to meet Italy's expansionist demands.

When Mr. Chamberlain reaches Rome Wednesday it will be his second meeting with It. Mussolini invited him to make the visit when they first met at Munich during the "Crisis" over Czechoslovakia on Sept. 29.

Victory In Rome

Germany's Economics Minister, Walther Funk, is in Rome talking trade but he will have left before Mr. Chamberlain arrives. Chamberlain can give Mussolini France's precise point of view on Fascist clamor for Tunisia, Corsica and other French territory. But he will not offer to help settle the issue directly.

The French Govt. does not want his intervention. Besides, he will have many Anglo-Italian issues to deal with in four days, among them the Spanish civil war, the growing strength of Germany-Italy's axis partner—in southeastern Europe, and closer business and political cooperation between Rome and London.

Ukraine

This long predicted move might precipitate a Russian-German war. Observers generally believe Hitler will, as usual, try to achieve his goal by indirect—by inspiring the Ukrainians to rise-up against Moscow and establish an independent nation over which he would then assume authority without causing minority problems for himself by actual annexation. Naturally, war between Russia and Germany might break out of this, and Poland would be lucky to escape being involved.

The world, of course, always be in danger of a war spreading, but at present the prospect of it being confined to eastern Europe is good. The most serious threat of the conflict, growing might be expected to lie in the French-Russian alliance for mutual military aid in event of "unprovoked" German aggression.

Rescue Crew Of Scallop Sloop

DIGBY, N. S. Jan. 8—(CP)—Captain George King and his crew of two were rescued by fellow fishermen Saturday night when the Digby scallop sloop Freda and Blanche caught fire and burned to the water line.

The scallop boat caught fire when her engine backfired. Freda and Blanche were fishing nearby and took the three men from the burning craft. A line was made fast to the Freda and Blanche and she was beached at the water line. It was feared she would be a total loss, although hope was held her engine might be salvaged.

Parliament Will Open On Thursday

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

OTTAWA, Jan. 8—Ceremonial opening of Parliament Thursday, and its accompanying functions will share the spotlight in Ottawa this week with publication of the Brien gun report, scheduled for Friday.

Apart from the pageantry of opening, the introduction of new members and tributes to those who died in the recess, there will be little actual work attempted Monday. Customarily the Speech from the Throne is not taken up until the Monday following opening day.

Friday there will be the usual flood of reports and papers laid on the table of the House and among these will be the report of Mr. Justice H. H. Davis of the Supreme Court of Canada who, as a commission of one, investigated the Government's contract for 7,000 Bren machine guns, with John Inglis Company, Limited, Toronto.

Close Secret

Pending its tabling the report's contents remain a close secret outside of the Government and the Commissioner.

Interest in the opening of Parliament is increased by the fact that it will mark the return to the House of Commons of Hon. R. J. Manion as Conservative chief-in-charge and leader of the official opposition. Dr. Manion was defeated in the 1935 general election, selected National Conservative leader to succeed Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett last July, and elected in London in a by-election Nov. 14.

Another interesting feature will be the reunion of Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce in the last Conservative Government, and his former Conservative colleagues on the opposition benches.

Now that Mr. Stevens is back with the Conservatives and will be one of Dr. Manion's chief lieutenants. The Conservative leader will hold a pre-session caucus of his House supporters Wednesday.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King and his colleagues are understood to have their legislative program well in hand, prepared to have a short and business-like session which can be prorogued within four months if other parties agree and leave members free to attend to the Canada-wide welcome to the King and Queen when they come in May.

Sussex Man Killed Instantly In Level Crossing Accident

SUSSEX, N. B., Jan. 8—(CP)—Edwin Creighton, 45, of Sussex Corner, was killed instantly here last night when a train and his car collided at a level crossing on Main Street.

Mary Bonnington, 18, also of Sussex Corner, was hurled 45 feet from the car but escaped death. She suffered scalp and facial wounds, a possible skull fracture, bad bruises and severe shock. Her condition was reported "fairly good" tonight.

The locomotive whistle blew twice before the train reached the crossing and the crossing bell was ringing. The car was proceeding slowly and visibility was hazy. The "good" train was carrying steamship passengers, mail and baggage to Saint John from Halifax.

A kidly trick of fate saved two boys from death or injury in the accident. Waiting on the other side of the crossing to get a lift home in the Creighton car, they saw the collision.

Creighton was unmarried. A decision has been made regarding an inquest.

SUCCESSORS CONNAUGHT

LONDON—(CP)—The Duke of Kent has succeeded his great-uncle the Duke of Connaught, a grand master of the United Grand Lodge of the Masonic Order in England, a position Connaught held 38 years.

RHODESIA RE-ARMS

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia—(CP)—The Government of this British territory in northern South Africa has decided to expand and re-equip its military forces at a cost of £500,000 ($2,340,000) spread over five years.

In Great Britain

In Britain there is very considerable dissatisfaction both in Parliament and among the public with Prime Minister Chamberlain's policy of appeasement towards the dictators. There is a growing feeling that there isn't much use trying to bargain with Rome and Berlin. Even the Premier's own Conservative Party, to which he owes his control of the House of Commons, is split on this issue.

Should the opposition continue active it is quite within the cards the Prime Minister may decide to submit the problem to the country in a general election. If he should win, he then would have to decide whether to continue to head the Government, or in view of his three score years and 10 give way to a younger man and thus concede something to the "young" Conservatives who long have been claiming that the oldsters monopolize all the places in the political sun. This cry goes back almost to the end of the Great War.

French Reaction

As regards a revolt by the Ukraine, it may be said with assurance that the present French Government would regard it as an "internal" Russian affair in which France had no concern. Should the Daladier Government fall—as it may—and be replaced by one of the extreme left, including the Communists, the picture might possibly change. Such a Government would lean more strongly to Russia.

Apart from the Ukraine, Hitler will continue to consolidate his new trade and political gains in the Balkans, and reach further towards the Baghdad and India of former Kaiser Wilhelm's dreams. Great Britain disturbed by this creation of a new economic empire, has made it plain it will continue vigorously Hitler's effort to maintain near exclusivity in trade in the Balkans.

Arade war—if any—in that area will be interesting to watch. However, Herr Hitler appears to have that whole territory neatly trussed up.

There is no present indication that the body Spanish civil war is near its end. Even should the

Girl Guide News

A NEW YEAR MESSAGE

Dear Guides: My wish for you and for all of us at this blessed Christmas time is that we may make our Guiding worthy of the high ideals of the Guide Law, and of practical use to the wonderful country which we call "Home".

You Guides will be the makers of Canadian History for the future. See to it that the foundations are well and truly laid of usefulness, of resourcefulness and of understanding.

Let us do our utmost to be friendly within our own borders so that we may be able to appreciate the problems of our sisters in other lands.

The New Year is a time of loving greetings from friend to friend and so, Guides, accept my affectionate wishes for a wonderfully happy Christmas and a very "Guiding" year.
