Gaynor And Baxter Triumph In "Paddy" At Prince Edward

Janet Gaynor has never shown her talents to better advantage than in her newest starring vehicle, "Paddy, The Next Best Thing," in which she is co-starred with Warner Baxter at the Prince Edward Theatre.

Cast as a lively little Irish lass whose sole fault is her ability to tell white lies, a quality that eventually embroils her in all sorts of entanglements, she performs in her usual charming manner. Warner Baxter, as the scion of the Irish coastal town in which "Paddy" takes place, does an excellent piece of acting in a typically romantic Warner Baxter role.

The others of the cost, including Margaret Lindsay, who will be remembered as the "Titanic" girl in "Cavalcade" and Walter Connolly, famous performer from the New York stage, all do their utmost to make "Paddy" an enjoyable screen work.

Harry Lachman, who directed many film successes abroad, has done his best work with "Paddy", which is set against as beautiful a pictorial background as has been viewed in films in many months.

Father Makes Sure Provision for Son

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

HAMILTON, Ont., Feb. 5 — "Warm room and board, clothing, laundry, tobacco, medical attention and other incidentals and $1 a week pocket money" are provided in the will of Robert Edgar Waugh, retired railroad agent, for his son, Frederick Lorne Waugh for life. The will was probated Saturday.

Mr. Waugh left an estate of $14,688. His widow, Emma Ann Waugh, was left only furniture and personal effects, the remainder of the estate to be held in trust to provide for the son. If there is a surplus it is to go to a daughter, Agnes May Gloom.

S.S. Montcalm At North Sydney

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

NORTH SYDNEY, N. S., Feb. 5 —Completing an errand of mercy to isolated communities along the shore of Victoria County and St. Paul's Island off the north-east peak of Cape Breton Island, the Canadian Government ice-breaker Montcalm is in port here again.

It was probable, officials said, the vessel would be requested to make another voyage to the ice-clogged harbors and little coves along the coast where fishermen and settlers have been suffering from shortage of supplies. The trip last week brought an end to the shortage of provisions in many communities, but relief workers said the shipment would be insufficient to last until the winter months had passed.

Some settlements reported last week they were unable to bring in supplies but latest information revealed there was no dire need, pointing out provisions could be carried by horse and sleigh from other settlements, scattered through the hills.

"The Mad Game" Gets Paean Of High Praise At Capitol

Put the new Fox film, "The Mad Game," down on your list as one of the most exciting and entertaining pictures it may be your good fortune to see. This screen play, with Spencer Tracy in the featured role, opened at the Capitol Theatre yesterday and makes movie-going a distinct pleasure.

The story concerns itself with the efforts of the federal government to wipe out the newest and most dangerous national dread—the rocket of kidnapping. And Spencer Tracy, portraying a part that encompasses a complete conversation of character, does a splendid job. Claire Trevor, cast in the leading feminine role opposite him, establishes herself in this one film as one of the screen's most attractive actresses. Ralph Morgan has a fine role as a fearless judge and plays it for all it is worth.

Others in the cast, rating high praise, are Howard Lally, J. Carrol Naish, John Miljan, Matt McHugh, Kathleen Burke and Mary Mason. Irving Cumming's direction is excellent.

DOLLAR-FIFTY SUGAR COSTS SIX-SIXTY IN CANADA

Leading Confectioners Meet In Protest

Sugar bears the greatest percentage of tax burden of all Food commodities, according to Canada's leading Confectioners, who met in Toronto recently to register objection to the excessive taxes and duties placed on their principal raw material. It was pointed out that refined sugar can be purchased at $1.50 a hundred pounds in Cuba, but that it would cost the Canadian manufacturers around $6.60 a hundred pounds to lay it down in their factories. The difference of nearly 350 per cent is made up almost entirely of duties, dumping duties, the special sugar tax, and sales tax.

It was pointed out that to load such high duties and taxes on a fundamental food product was particularly unjust, both to the sugar-using manufacturer, and to the Canadian housewife. The high duties, totalling nearly 200 per cent. aimed to protect Canada's few sugar refiners, have always been borne philosophically, but the additional two cent excise tax placed on Sugar, when the 1933 Budget was brought down, is regarded by the Confectionery manufacturers as a gross injustice and imposition. It is working a terrible hardship on many Confectioners. Chocolate bar and penny goods manufacturers, with products of uniform size and price, find it impossible to pass any of the additional cost on to the customer, and are obliged to absorb the loss. Many confectionery houses have been losing money, or barely breaking even, during the past four years, and the sugar tax has aimed an additional blow at a very important group of Canadian Industries, that is having a disastrous effect.

The Confectionery, Biscuit and Chocolate Industries of Canada, National association of the Industry, has decided to ask the Government to remove the Excise Tax on Sugar when the 1934 Budget is brought down. It will be suggested that if the Government feels it must secure revenue by excise taxes, it should do so by distributing the tax load in a more equitable and less burdensome manner among several products.

Those present at the meeting included: F. T. W. Saunders, J. S. Fry and Sons, Limited, Montreal; E. Littler, Walter M. Lowney Co., Limited, Montreal; Wm. Robertson, Robertson Brothers, Limited, Toronto; Jas. Wardropper, Rowntree and Company, Limited, Toronto; W. A. Patterson, Patterson Chocolates, Limited, Toronto; C. E. Spooner, Willard's Chocolates, Limited, Toronto; H. W. Hunt, Hunt's, Limited, Toronto; F. J. Waud, McCormick Mfg. Co., Limited, London; J. W. Ross, Canada Biscuit Co., Limited, London; and W. H. Hamblin, Hamblin-Metcalfe, Limited, Kitchener.

URGES NEED OF INTERNATIONAL CO-ORDINATION

Sir Josiah Stamp On Monetary Stabilization Project.

NEW YORK, Feb 5—Sir Josiah Stamo warned today that unless the operations of the British and United States stabilization funds are coordinated they will be a menace rather than an aid to recovery.

The prominent British economist in a speech at London, also expressed the hope that the United States "will not attempt to have too great central authority in finance and banking, but will use the Federal Reserve system even more than in the past.

"The idea that you are getting a sort of sinking fund for a currency war from your profit on revaluation," said the transcript of his speech given out here, "strikes me as an attempt to control fundamental movements, and to do so in the worse way.

"In all our different countries we are beginning to get some kind of domestic revival of trade and confidence, and we are all right in attending to these home questions first. The time has now arrived when we should try to make international trade join in the upswing, and the effect will be cumulative.

"If we continue working blindly at cross purposes with these exchange equalization accounts, we shall not achieve the object but simply cancel each other out and leave the trade worse off.

"I am astonished that so much attention is paid on your side to our exchange equalization account," he said on the same subject, "for as much appears in your papers in a single week as we get in six months on this subject. The average citizen here is barely aware of its existence, but I strongly suspect that a very large part of the 350,000,000 pounds sterling nominally set aside for this purpose has never in fact been called upon.

"The purpose of the account is to help flatten out erratic, rapid variations in the foreign exchanges between sterling and all the others and so to make international trade more stable, but it is certainly not to hold the exchange at any fixed, unnatural point. The man engaged in foreign trade wants to have some fair idea of what the proceeds in his currency are going to be when the price in the foreign currency is turned back to his own. He may be protected from short-term fluctuations but not from the fundamental ones."

REV. MR. RYAN TELLS STORY

Rev. Wm. Ryan, of Auburn, N. S., who was recently given a degree by Mt. Allison, is the son of an Irish soldier who fought at Waterloo. He was born in Moncton in 1833. As a youth he visited relatives in River Philip, and on the occasion of his birthday related to a Chronicle representative the thrilling story of a contest with a young bull on his cousin's farm in the latter place. The story will bear repetition:

"On one occasion he went to the pasture to drive the cattle home. He was warned that the young bull was a little ugly, but undaunted, he set off. When he attempted to start the bull homeward the animal turned on him and charged. Mr. Ryan says he saved himself by jumping upon a mound of earth caused by an unrooted tree. The bull buried his horns in the earth and before he could extricate them Mr. Ryan jumped on his back. He says "That was the most surprised bull you ever saw." Then began the struggle, the bull attempting to throw off his burden but failed. When he attempted to lie down he was whipped with a stout switch which Mr. Ryan had kept with him. Attempt as he might he couldn't dislodge his burden and in Mr. Ryan's words "Then he was the maddest bull you ever saw" and the roars he gave were enough to wake the dead. At one place the animal made through the bushes, but the passenger thought wherever the horns could go through he could, so putting down his head and holding on for dear life he came safely through. By the time they reached the barnyard Mr. Ryan says "He was the fiercest bull you ever saw."

SKATING ON HARBOR—Last week's thaw left the harbor ice in prime condition for skating and on Sunday many enjoyed a spin over the glassy surface. Yesterday, also, many skaters took advantage of the splendid sunshiny weather to enjoy a skate or hockey match on the river. The ice is reported to be shelly in some places particularly near the wharves but further out a fine skating surface is found. Several people broke through the top ice and were drenched in the layer of water beneath. Two automobiles one on the North River and one near Bonshaw met similar fates, without harm to the occupants, however.

Gen. Balbo Is Governor of Libya

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

MONTREAL, Feb. 5—Appointment of General Italo Balbo, famous aviator, as Governor of Libya was a promotion said His Excellency Piero Parini, Italian plenipotentiary minister abroad, as he arrived here Saturday on a visit to Montreal's Italian colony.

Signor Parini was asked to discuss rumors the appointment was in the nature of a "sort of exile."

"No, on the contrary, it is a promotion for Balbo for Libya is the biggest colony we have and needs an able administrator. His being sent to Libya is a promotion and not a punishment."

Extension Of The Fresh Lamb Market

One reason why fresh lamb will be available throughout the present winter season, particularly in Ontario, is the success which has attended an experiment of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. In order to spread out the season for fresh lamb, the Dominion Department of Agriculture, through Mr. A. A. MacMillan of the Live Stock Branch, brought 3,000 picked lambs from Southern Saskatchewan and placed them for finishing with 26 farmers in Ontario. These animals have made splendid gains and are now being gradually placed on the market.

Owing to the success already attained by this innovation, it is expected that the plan of bringing Western lambs to Ontario for finishing during the winter will become a regular practice in the future. The meat from lambs that have been winter-fed is a little firmer in texture and is of a very high quality. However, the main point of interest to the housewife at the present moment is that there is a consistent supply of fresh lamb, and fresh lamb may be used at any time. In this it differs from frozen lamb. Frozen lamb should be cooked immediately after thawing out, and it is a point of paramount importance, and one over which the housewife has little or no control, that the frozen variety should have been kept frozen all the time since storing.

The leg of lamb is essentially a roasting joint, but it can be boiled, or sliced into steaks and broiled. The rib and loin cuts are used for either roasts of chops. They are delicate and deliciously flavoured, and lamb chops, as every housewife knows, are most convenient to serve and an easily prepared meat. The front may be boned, rolled and roasted, or cut into smaller sections and made into stews, casseroles, shoulder and soup. Shoulder chops are very economical cuts, and the flank is used for stewing and braising, and is especially handy for making broth. All these cuts are now available.

FALCONWOOD PATIENTS ARE EAGER FOR IT

Benefit Skate Arranged to Provide Much-Needed Radio Facilities.

Through the courtesy of the supervisor, Mr. MacLean, and his first assistant, Mr. Picton Brown, a Guardian representative yesterday had the privilege of inspecting, from basement to top story, the quarters of the Falconwood male patients in the Sims Building. The reporter was impressed, both with the care and attention given to the patients' welfare, and with the obvious need of some recreational facilities, especially during the winter months when outdoor exercise is impossible.

There are about 125 patients in the building—a fewer number than was accomodated last winter, but still a large "family" to be looked after and kept in cleanliness and good health.

The great majority of the patients are well behaved, and appreciate everything done on their behalf. Papers, magazines and other literature which reaches the institution are eagerly read and discussed, and a much greater supply of such literature could be used with advantage.

There is, however, another form of inexpensive recreation which has been tested out satisfactorily and which it is hoped to instal permanently. This is a radio, equipped with a loud-speaker on each floor. To purchase this equipment, a benefit skate at the Forum is being held on Thursday night, and tickets are now on sale at 25 cents each for the event. Those interested are invited to visit the institution and see for themselves to what splendid use a radio could be put.

The object is one which should have the support of all our citizens, and the promoters of Thursday night's skate are to be commended on their efforts, which it is hoped will meet with the fullest success.

Rabbi Assaulted For Good Works

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

TORONTO, Feb. 5—Police tonight were seeking the man who struck Rabbi Faiwel Rizenmann of the Shaarey Zion Synagogue with a club, severely injuring his left shoulder. Although dazed by the blow the Rabbi said he saw a young man running away after the attack.

The Rabbi believed he was attacked by a member of another Synagogue because he had offered his congregation meat at cheaper prices than that sold the members of the other body. The Rabbi sold Kosher at eight cents a pound compared to the 12 cents asked by the other Synagoguge.
