Unhooking the Hookworm.

Pathologists in the United States army service in Manila say that almost nine out of ten persons in the Philippines have hookworm infection. The cases are not serious, but they lower the efficiency of the Filipino worker and likewise reduce the powers of resistance against malaria, tuberculosis and other ailments. The army scientists are using carbon tetrachloride as a specific against the parasite. This is powerful stuff, but if chemically pure seems to be safe. The doctors tried it out by giving four times the usual dose to prisoners under the death penalty. They got so spry and boisterous that the only way to get rid of them was to hang them. It is a big job to unhook the hookworm, but science is going to do it. Give it time and practice. Los Angeles Times.

Titles Come High

Advertising men tell us that the most important part of an advertisement is the headline. All authors agree on that. But there they stop. Some of them insist that the headline should be four words long and no longer. Others insist just as strongly on as many words as it takes to tell the story. All of the foregoing was inspired by the novel contest Congoleum Company is running in Canada. A picture is shown and prizes offered for the best title. The title may be conversation, or a slogan, or a bit of description. But must not exceed twenty words in length.

The picture shown in the advertisement offers all kinds of suggestions for clever heads. It shows a very attractive entrance hall with three people. A young man has just come in out of the rain his umbrella and raincoat dripping wet. An older woman is greeting him and a young lady is tripping gaily down the stairway to meet him. Chance for a good love story right here.

But the point of the picture is all the water from the raincoat and umbrella is running right on the rug. No one seems the least interested in the pool of water. Some explanation must be made to satisfy good housekeepers that the attractive rug won't be ruined from such abuse.

One who told that story in twenty words or less? The one who does it best wins $500. Most everyone would judge his or her brains to win that amount of money. A second prize of $200, a third prize of $100 and eight prizes of $25 are offered.

The conditions of this contest are very simple. You submit your titles on an entry blank. Every Congoleum dealer has these blank titles. The title may be written in French or English. This Contest runs from October 20th to November 1st but titles may be mailed Monday, November 3rd and still receive consideration.

Here's a tip for you. When you go to your nearest dealer for your entry blank, ask him to show you these rugs—and demonstrate their waterproof qualities. He will probably give you a good lead for your headline.

All of the Congoleum dealers are offering special prices on Congoleum Rugs during the Title Writing Contest, October 20th to November 1st.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS GEORGE CARR

The death occurred in this city Oct. 19th of Mrs. Geo. T. Carr, after a short illness which she bore with good patience.

She leaves to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother six sons and one daughter, namely, William George, Joseph, Albert, David, and Mrs. Samuel H. Carr of this city and Wallace of Waltham, Mass.

The funeral service was held at St. Pauls Church, Rev. Mr. Raymond officiating assisted by Major Hilscock of the Salvation Army.

The pall bearers were P. J. McDonald, Benj. Carter, John A. McDonald, John James, Joseph G. Mart and Timothy Carroll.

Floral tributes were received from the following: Pillow from family; wreath from grand children; cross from grand children; sprays from grand children; cross from Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McLean; spray from the employees of the Harris Abattoir Co.; crescent from the staff of the Harris Abattoir Co.; spray from Mrs. Andrew Cudmore; spray from Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cudmore; bouquet from Miss Josie MacGee.

Lieutenant Governor of the Province, and Honorary Chairman of the E. Island Orphanage Campaign made the following statement to reporters last night:

"With such great enthusiasm on the part of this splendid volunteer corps, I feel that success is assured."

"In my several trips through the Province, I found that the Protestant people are in full accord with this movement to save Prince Edward Island Protestant Orphanage."

Mr. J. D. Stewart, Provincial Premier, was unable to attend the supper but sent a cordial letter to Chairman James wishing every success to the campaign.

Mr. James M. Murlie who is in charge of the Outside the Province Appeal Committee has sent a large number of appeals to former Islanders who have taken up residence in Canada, United States and other countries.

The following telegram received last night by Mr. George S. Inman, Executive Chairman speaks for itself:

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 24, 1924. "Your letter received. I agree Bank cannot make subscription but am sending you today my cheque for $200 as my personal subscription to the Orphanage."

The following is a list of the advance pledges procured during the last week as reported to R. Harbottle, Campaign Treasurer. Announcement of the total $87,588.95 was received with much satisfaction and elicited prolonged applause from all present.

December last was after night, but forgot to say, or shall we drop the "forgot" and put it plainly and say that he deliberately included in the figures required to make this average, trips made in the evening up to 10.40 p.m.; and furthermore, I would like to point out that two long freight trips made between the passenger trip in the morning, and the trip from the boat in the evening, means that the boat is not in port for some time before the train on arrival. I am not blaming Capt. Read for this delay, but am pointing out the fact that his return to this side is delayed by making freight trips which to my mind, might be made before and after the present time of sailing and docking.

Capt. Read also gives us a little further insight into the cause of the late arrival at Borden in the evening, when he attempts to explain that the coaling, which the Board of Trade suggested could be done at night under the proposed schedule, is now done before leaving with the last passenger trip. The Board in stating that two hours daylight were used every other day in coaling under the present schedule, were using figures supplied by the Railway. The Captain's statement, that this is done in the evening before returning to Borden, does not have any bearing on the subject whatever. If it occupies daylight time that could be used to better advantage, it delays the passenger return trip to Borden or else cuts out a freight trip.

I have tried to be as explicit in my explanation, as Capt. Read requested. As far as learning something about safe navigation is concerned, I have no desire to get into this line of business, and am quite satisfied to leave it in more capable hands.

I am, Sir, Etc., R. E. MUTCH.

There was no doubt but that the Protestant Orphanage was a great public asset, even more so than a local institution, as for the latter there was not such an imperative need. But the orphanage was the only shelter available to most orphans, who had no choice but the walls of safety or the street. The family relation of the child did not matter, whether it was a half orphan or a whole orphan. And even if its parents were living, someone had to bear the responsibility that irresponsible shifted from their shoulders, and undertake to provide for the welfare of these helpless children. The speaker gave instances of unjust criticisms directed at the Board of Trustees. Under the new system the people would elect their own board and they then should have no occasion to find fault. The resolution recently passed calling for a new Act had been unanimously consented to by the present board, which had included no less than five members of the fraternal organization that had founded the institution. There was no reason then, why the new act should not be passed and go into force next year.

Mr. Barber appreciated the presence of His Honor Lieutenant Governor Hertz, who had taken a leading part in the last local drive directed by the speaker.

When he beheld around him so forceful an array of workers he felt absolutely certain of the campaign's success and that they had already won out. He went on to give campaign instructions to the assembled workers, who go into action this morning.

His Honour, Frank R. Hertz.

Fiery, Itching Skin Is Quickly Soothed With This Sulphur

Mentho Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema; that is covered with ugly rash or pimples, or is rough or dry. Nothing subdues fiery eruption so quickly, says a noted skin specialist.

The moment this sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops and after two or three applications the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the bacteria that cause the burning, itching or disfigurement. Mentho Sulphur always heals eczema right up.

A small jar of Rowles Mentho Sulphur may be had at any good drug store.

Insured for $6,000,000

MR. Rodman Wanamaker, of Philadelphia, son of John Wanamaker, the famous retail merchant, is a very wealthy man, but he realizes that life insurance gives his fortune a stability which it might otherwise lack. Already insured for more than $6,000,000, he is reported to be seeking to increase that amount to the limit of the policies procurable at his age. The limit of the insurance obtainable by Mr. Wanamaker if all existing companies issued their maximum on one life is estimated to approximate $7,200,000. Mr. Wanamaker has instructed his agents to "get him the limit."

More and more is life insurance being recognized as the soundest investment a business man can make. In life insurance the policy steadily increases in value, and should the assured die it is available in full to his heirs in spot cash. Mutual Life Insurance is insurance at actual cost because the entire net profits of the company are paid to the participating policyholders.

Let us send you details about Mutual Policies. Write our head office or call our nearest agent.

CANADA IS MENTIONED

(United Press) Slowly an inkling of what really happened at Lausanne between Britain and Canada is being revealed in the heat of the election campaign. Mr. Thomas, in his personal attack on Lord Curzon at Gravesend last night, threw some more light on the enigma who he referred to as "the White Paper dealing with the conference, which he declared was not allowed to be issued on account of the possibility that it might cause strained relations in the Colonies."

Mr. Thomas' explanation Lord Curzon that "by his own action at Lausanne he so strained relations between Canada and ourselves
