Itching Piles

A Fearfully Bad Case—Much Pain and Acute Misery From the Terrible Itching—Cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment.
 It is doubtful if any remedy ever received so much grateful, unsolicited testimony as Dr. Chase's Ointment.
 The reason is not far to seek, for it is the only preparation known to man, which never fails to cure piles.
 Mr. F. G. Harding, a retired farmer, living at Nllestown, Middlesex county, Ont., writes as follows:—I have been troubled with bleeding, and itching piles for four or five years, and suffered intense agony at times. I had tried almost everything, but could get nothing that would give relief. On hearing of Dr. Chase's Ointment I purchased a box, and it only required part of it to completely cure me. I am recommending it to all afflicted as I was.
 Such incontrovertible evidence from responsible persons cannot, for a moment, be doubted. A few applications of Dr. Chase's Ointment will convince the most skeptical of its wonderful healing and soothing cure the most severe case of piles; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmansou, Bates & Co.,

THE SABLE ISLAND PONIES

The People Thoroughly Are Patriotic and Have Named a Number of The Ponies After British Generals.

As well as being hard workers, the people under Gov. Boutiller's supervision have proved themselves thoroughly patriotic and have named several of the ponies after the great British generals now in South Africa. One pretty little pony is called after Lord Roberts, another after Buller, and hearing for the first time on June 11, that Pretoria had been entered, named the breeding horse that was taken down on the last trip of the Newfield, "Pretoria." When the first intimation was received by them that the Boer capital had fallen, nearly half of the population (20) gathered at one place and sent three ringing cheers in the air and lastly sang the National Anthem. The next thing on the programme was to get the late papers, which are always sent there on each trip of one of the Government cruisers, by Chas. Neal, the obliging storekeeper at Marine & Fisheries wharf, and read the welcome news for themselves. This is how the loyal people of Sable Island celebrated the great achievement of the British.
 From all perceptibility the breed of Sable Island ponies will be extinct after several years, as those being born lately show that they are not thorough Sable breed, but show signs of mixed breed, on account of the breeding horses from the mainland being taken there during the past few years, the cross breed proving every success as far as strength and intelligence is concerned in the horse output of the island. At present there is supposed to be 125 horses at large, not more than 25 of them being of the straight Sable breed; and most of those are several years old, there being only a few young ones. On only one portion of the island do the equines congregate, and that is on the south side, near the east end, and herds may be seen there at any time. The past few winters have been very hard on the wild race of horses, and quite a few have died in consequence of not being able to withstand the severe cold weather. To make it more comfortable for them, lean-to's have been erected on the different portions of the island which they inhabit, and in a gale of wind and on blustery days they are glad to take advantage of them, to shelter themselves from the bleak weather. The coralling of the horses of the sandy desert for the annual shipment to Halifax, will commence about September, and this year's export will be about the same as for the past few years—about

THE RUNNING OF A HOTEL.

Hotel Men of P. E. Island not Exempt From the Many Trials of Hotel Life.

The following article by Simeon Ford, the well known New York Hotel man, appeared in a recent issue of "Success." It is such a pleasure to write for you that I gladly accede to your request to give my advice to young people who intend to follow the hotel business. If my humble experience will help others to help themselves in a proper way, of course, you are quite welcome to it. You have a beautiful mission in life, and so have I.
 You entertain people and so do I. Your energies are more largely devoted to the public good than to money getting, and so are mine. It is difficult to properly advise the inexperienced. I will assume, however, that the beginner, the man or woman whom I am now advising, has a hotel.
 The running of it is much easier when this point is looked after first. Of course, there have been cases where people simply imagined they were running hotel, when they were not doing so in reality, not having hotels to run, but the safest rule is to get your hotel secured at the start. The size does not make so much difference, though I should say the larger the better, as your experience will be in proportion and you will enjoy yourself accordingly.
 Almost the first guest you will have, after throwing open your house, will be the semi-respectable individual who asserts that your business is one of vast unmitigated profit. He will stray into your hotel, use your soap and towels, correspond on your stationery, have your clerks distribute his mail, balance his books on your furniture, toy at brief intervals with your free lunch, gather in everything of a portable nature in sight, and when he meets you, will say, with a merry laugh, "I tell you, old man, you've got a regular Klondike here." Another guest will be the promoter.
 He will wonderingly inquire why you haven't bought up the entire hotel erty in order to control the entire hotel trade of your town or city. His enthusiasm will know no bounds. Before you know it, he will have pictured for you a sixteen-story building, costing infused several million dollars, and will have into your mind such delightful dreams of wealth that, when he tries to borrow two dollars as a temporary accommodation, you will gladly hand it over. You should prepare for kicks, more of them, in fact, than the football gets in the average Yale-Princeton game. There will be a large one registered by the dude who dines on beef and beans in an all-night lurch wagon, and then puts on a dress-suit and lolls about your corridors, complaining bitterly if the orchestra refuses to render his favorite selection. You must provide electric hair curlers, vases of hot-house roses, and hand painted pianos, or there will be trouble.
 A very important feature of a hotel is the man behind the desk, the hotel clerk. A good hotel clerk must be a walking encyclopedia, directory, railway, steamship and postal guide, and, in short, a universal fountain of knowledge and information. No man is more maligned than the hotel clerk. In current fiction, he is described as a haughty and unap-proachable despot, who, entrenched behind a large diamond shirt-stud, superciliously assigns trembling travellers to remote and cheerless chambers. As a matter of fact, he is usually the most good natured and accommodating of mortals.
 Were he not a serene and placid nature, he would have long since decorated a cemetery. He is expected to remember everybody and to give everyone the best room in the house; to laugh at every humorous anecdote related to him, no matter how antique; and to lend a sympathetic ear to every traveller who is in distress, or imagines that he is.
 In conclusion, let me say that your claim and damage department should be well organized. You can safely figure on seventy-five per cent. of your gross receipts being demanded by the man who left his valuable diamond stud in the washroom; by the woman who left her satchel in the street car; and by the individual who induces you to cash his check on a bank three thousand miles away. But, in the course of time, you will get used to all these petty annoyances. You will then be able to run a hotel. When that time comes, you will look back with gratitude to this article, and think of me.

What You Pay For Medicine is no Test of Its Curative Value—Prescriptions Ver-us Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

 Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are just as much a doctor's prescription as any formula your family physician can give you. The difference is that Dr.
 Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were perfected after the formula had proven itself of inestimable value in scores of hundreds of cases.
 Dr. Chase won almost as much popularity from his ability to cure kidney disease, liver complaint, and backache, with this formula, as he did from the publication of his great recipe book.
 The idea of one treatment reaching the kidneys and liver at the same time was original with Dr. Chase. It accounts for the success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in curing the most complicated ailments of the filtering organs, and every form of backache.
 As a family medicine Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are unapproached.
 They keep the kidneys, liver, and bowels healthy, active, and regular, and so Perfumed Beds.

The recent fad for perfumed beds has gained great popularity. The perfuming is managed by spreading a cotton pad, thoroughly sacheted, beneath the lower sheet. By this one's bed can be made to seem stuffed with roses or violets.
