"DISHONORED LADY" WITH HEDY LAMARR OPENS HERE TODAY

Next attraction at the Prince Edward Theatre, beginning today, is Hunt Stromberg's psychological drama of a beautiful woman in search of a new personality, "Dishonored Lady." Starring Hedy Lamarr as the fickle, restless Madeleine Damien, brilliantly successful as the art editor of a smart magazine and the toast of New York night life, and the picture features Dennis O'Keefe and John Loder as two contenders for her hand, representing respectively the life she hopes to lead and the life she is trying to forget.

Prominently cast in the film, which United Artists is releasing, are William Lundigan as a charming ing weakling who maliciously involves Miss Lamarr in a murder scandal as she tries to remodel her life. Natalie Schafer as her co-worker on the magazine, Paul Cavanagh as her editor and Morris Carnovsky as the psychiatrist who helps her find the path to happiness.

Under the direction of Robert Stevenson, actual New York back-grounds in Greenwich Village, residential districts around Central Park, LaGuardia Airport and the New York Court of Appeals were used in the film. The courtroom sequences, bringing the picture to its climax and conclusion, were shot under the technical advice of Harry Hunt, a prominent Southern California attorney.

An interesting sidelight to "Dishonored Lady" is the fact that

1949 Ford "Monarch"

An all-new automobile, low, spacious and distinctively styled, will carry the name "Monarch" into a new luxury field of passenger car transportation. The 1949 Monarch, powered by a big, 110-h.p. V-type eight cylinder engine of new design, will be publicly introduced in dealer showrooms across Canada this month. It will be available in the sport sedan shown here and in a six-passenger coupe model.

Bodies of the new Monarch are markedly spacious. Three adults may ride in comfort on either front or rear seat, the latter being a full fully cast and fabrics are refreshingly new. The system which carries a controlled flow of cool, clean air to all parts of the interior. When combined with a heater unit, it provides uniformly warm, comfortable. All-round visibility is achieved without sacrifice of structural strength and there is exceptionally large luggage space under the "bustle" back in both models.

The Monarch's engine has automatic choke and an automatic "fast-idle" feature to prevent stalling after a cold start. The engine itself is completely insulated from the frame by three rubber-bonded-to-steel mounting units.

The frame of the new car is described by the makers as one of the most rigid yet designed. Resilient coil springs are employed in the front end installed within the springs. This enables them to work on the same plane as the springs for maximum effectiveness. The same type of shock absorber function with new, longitudinal springs. "Equalized steering", another feature of the 1949 Monarch, is achieved by the use of turning arms of the same

AUCKLAND, N. Z., May 2 — (AP) —Mounts Ngauruhoe and Raupahu in the central part of New Zealand's North Island erupted together Saturday for the first time on record. Some ash settled at Gisborne, 130 miles away, scattering soot over rooftops and on sheep in the fields.

BIBLICAL DATA FOUND IN CAVE

JERUSALEM, April 29 — (AP) — Dr. Elieser Sukenik said yesterday several hundred pages of Biblical and Apocryphal Hebrew manuscripts were discovered in a cave near the northern shore of the Dead Sea.

Sukenik, head of Hebrew University's Archeological Department, said the find, made several months ago, represented "probably one of the most important archeological discoveries ever made in the Holy Land."

"The leather scrolls on which these texts are inscribed are only partly deciphered yet, but I am certain some of them are over 2,000 years old, which means they are from the period preceding the destruction of Jerusalem by the Romans in 70 A.D." Sukenik told a press conference.

The oldest Biblical Hebrew manuscript hitherto known to us dates from the ninth century A.D.

The scrolls were found by Bedouins in a cave in the Judean Desert. They were hidden in earthenware jars, wrapped in linen and covered with a black wax.
