

What's Good for Chaps

A common question these days and one to which we give one answer. The best thing for chaps is our CARNATION CREAM. There are other valuable remedies, but we know of no other that combines so many good qualities.

It is pleasant to use. It is entirely absorbent. It is not greasy or sticky. It gives immediate comfort. It cures promptly. From the habit of using it and thus have chapped and roughened hands and face one of the evils that never annoy you.

IN MEMORIAM

IN LOVING MEMORY. In loving remembrance of our dear mother who departed this life January 18th, 1912. Gone but not forgotten.

There's a church in the valley by the wildwood. No lovelier place in the vale. No spot is so sweet to my childhood, As the little white church in the vale.

Lies one that we all loved so well. She sleeps, sweetly asleep. Neath the willow, disturb not her rest in the vale.

There close by the side of that loved one, Neath the tree where the wild flowers bloom. When the farewell hymn shall be chanted.

We shall rest by her side in the tomb. Printed by request of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Rankin, 45 State St., Perth Amboy, N. J.

BRITISH TRADE TO HOLLAND HELD UP.

LONDON, January 15.—The Downs that portion of the North Sea off the coast of Kent, between Ramsgate and South Foreland, is filled with ships bound for Rotterdam, which have not been permitted to proceed on their voyages to Holland, and neutral vessels are not being given the course by the admiralty.

In official circles it is said that the stoppage is due to the danger of German mines which they allege have been sown along the Dutch coast, and that the vessels will not be allowed to proceed until the mines have been swept up.

Among the detained ships are several belonging to the commission for the relief of Belgium, and it is feared that if they are delayed much longer there will be a shortage of Belgian relief food.

HOW LIEUT DUKE MET TRAGIC DEATH.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—From eye witnesses I have been able to gather a detailed account of how Lieutenant Duke was killed while flying near Eastbourne. Duke was an expert pilot and was instructing Fraser, an Australian, Fraser was in control of the machine at a time when the weather above was thick and descended to about one hundred and fifty feet. The machine dropped to fifty feet and banked very dangerously to avoid a building. Duke was unable to reach over to gain control of the handles, the machine and the nose dived, being caught by a gust of wind, into a brick pit. Both men were aged when the eyewitnesses turned to the wreck of the machine.

USE "TIZ" IF FEET ACHE, BURN, PUFF UP

"OLD SANDY" A NOVA SCOTIAN MINER

He Enlisted as "Forty-four" but is Really Fifty-nine. He Wanted to be Near his Three Soldier Sons, and "to get at the D—D, Germans"

(By LIEUT. ALEX ROSS, M. D.)

I went into my ward in the Hospital one afternoon, and asked the sister in charge if there were any boys. She told me there was one old fellow who appeared to be very ill. So I went over to the bed indicated and saw Old Sandy; for so he was called by us all here. He appeared to be extremely ill, and looked as if he were all in. He evidently had been a hardy old knot in his day, in my examination of him the following conversation took place:—"Where did you come from?" "Canada, Sir."

"What part?" "I enlisted in Alberta but I was born in Nova Scotia." "Oh, I see," said I. "I come from Prince Edward Island"—and "Old Sandy" warmed up at once. "What did you do before you enlisted?" I asked. "I was always a miner, Sir," and he powder marks in his face corroborated his statement.

"How old are you?" "Forty-five, Sir." "Oh, now," said I "you are older than that." He looked at me suspiciously and said:—"That's my age."

"Oh! come now," said I "that's only your military age. I know the Nova Scotians pretty well and they always look younger than their age. Besides I am not asking to trip you out as your doctor so that I'll have a better chance of curing you." "Well then," said he in a whisper, "I am fifty-nine," and he looked over every day of it.

"Now Sandy," said I, "what made you do it? You ought to have known you could not stand it at your age." "Well, doctor," said he, "I was always strong and could hold my own with anyone, and never was sick in my life till I came over here, and this rotten climate got me and I ought this cold that I can't get rid of. Besides, doctor, I have three boys in the army, one belongs to a Company in Canada that's coming over, another is over here, and one is a prisoner in Germany. My wife is dead and they are all I have. I wanted to be near my boys. I would not mind only for the one in Germany and I want to get at the damned Germans for the way they are ill-treating my boy and starving him there. Now I have to get sick with this fever never sick in my life before; and the tears throbbed in his eyes."

"Good old boy," said I, "your spirit does you great credit. We will not let anything happen to you. You must buck up. It would never do to let a brave man like you die before you can have your go at those dirty Germans. Make your mind easy and we will cure that cough." "But, Sandy, don't you find that the marching and the drilling are too much for you? You forgot you were getting old and though that you could rough it with the young fellows. This life is finding the old spots in you and taking it out of you. You find you can't stand up to it and you are afraid they will send you home. Isn't that it?" "Yes," he said in a whisper. "Now," I said, "I'll see that nothing like that happens. I would be an everlasting disgrace to us to send a man like you home. When you try and get a light job for you as orderly or something so you can be near your boys and have your fling at the Germans by and by—when this dirty weather is over."

His face beamed with happiness, and I am quite sure that his case of mind did more to cure him than anything else. I am pleased to say he is convalescent now. "Old Sandy" is a great favourite with the sisters whom he is ever ready to help. His cheery optimism keeps the whole ward cheerful and even if his O. C. cannot find a place for him we might do well to keep him on after his convalescence is finished to cheer and help others who are sick, till the spring comes and he can have his "go" at the accursed Germans.

"Nerviline" Cures Cramps End Misery Instantly

NO REMEDY SO SPEEDY OR EFFICIENT

A real cramp cure? Yes, a real one—in a twinkling the cramp is a dead one, and the last spasm is over, once you get a stiff dose of Nerviline on the inside. This isn't mere talk—it's a solid, truthful fact. No other remedy—not in single one—will cure cramps so quickly and harmlessly as Nerviline. It hits the spot in a jiffy and saves a heap of misery.

"Last Saturday night my stomach felt like an internal machine," writes T. P. Granger from Hartford. "I was awakened from a sound sleep and found myself suffering the worst kind of torture. I was so doubled up I could hardly cross my room. I had used Nerviline before for the same thing and took a real good dose. Once I felt the warm, soothing sensation of Nerviline in my stomach I knew I was all right. It finished the cramps—just one single dose." Sickness at night is rendered a nightmare of the past if Nerviline is handy. It may be carache, toothache or cramps. Nerviline in every case will cure at once and save calling the doctor. Nerviline is a family physician in itself. The large 50c. family size bottle, of course, is most economical. Small trial size costs a quarter. All dealers sell Nerviline.

BASIC SLAG

(Sometimes known as Thomas Phosphate Powder)

The two sources of Phosphoric Acid, the element of fertility lacking to the greatest extent in the cultivated soils of the Maritime Provinces, are Basic Slag and Acid Phosphate, or Superphosphate. These two Fertilizers both contain from 250 to 300 lbs. of available Phosphoric Acid to the ton.

BASIC SLAG Contains in addition to the Phosphoric Acid from 800 to 1000 lbs. of Lime. In the form in which this Lime exists it does not burn up the humus in the soil like burnt Lime. It is calculated that 95 p.c. of the soils of the Maritime Provinces are sour and the effect of an application of Basic Slag is to correct this acidity.

BASIC SLAG In addition to the Phosphoric Acid and Lime contained in Basic Slag there is also present a quantity of iron, the effect of which is to aid bacterial growth in the soil, a matter of the highest importance.

BASIC SLAG Also supplies magnesia and manganese, which in conjunction with the other elements present, especially Lime, will prove a great aid to the farmer in rendering available the crude potash contained in the soil and making him independent of potash which in former times was supplied at enormous cost from Germany.

BASIC SLAG Is the only phosphatic fertilizer in which all these valuable elements are combined. Do not overlook the fact that when you buy a ton of Basic Slag you get as much available Phosphoric Acid to the ton as in any other fertilizer and in addition you have the benefits of the other elements referred to herein.

Prof. Cumming of the Agricultural College, Truro

In the annual report of the Dept. of Agriculture for Nova Scotia, for year 1914, writes, referring to their experiments in connection with commercial fertilizers as follows:

"In our experience with roots the best results were obtained from Phosphoric Acid, either in the form of Acid Phosphate, or Sydney Basic Slag. The addition of Muriate of Potash did not materially increase the yield. The heaviest yields of mangels were in the plots treated with Slag instead of Acid Phosphate. In the turnip fields Basic Slag gave better results than Acid Phosphate. Where potash was used on this land there was no advantage"
