Considerable Trading in Municipals

The following is taken from one of the current numbers of the "Montreal Star" financial page:

"Heads of local bond houses, which do a considerable business in handling municipals, state that while the bond business generally is very quiet they have all along been selling good municipals without any trouble.

They state that the yields on this class of investment is still very attractive and there are people in the market who are taking them on while they can get them at the present level.

In other respects the bond market in very slow. Industrials are almost nothing doing in that line."

We have a splendid list of municipals to offer conservative investors.
