

FURS

Show Days Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of this week. August 18th, 19th, 20th.

In making our debut to the buying public in the fur business, we do so now with a feeling of pride. The matter of buying Furs is one which concerns the Public more than any other article. The manufacturer must be known, and the goods must have a reputation behind them.

In this instance we are pleased to announce, that we have secured sole control of the famous Corostine Jackets for this city.

These goods are now so well known in this province, that no further introduction at this time seems necessary.

The goods have already made a lasting name for themselves in this Province and City. When buying your Fur Coat demand the Corostine label, as none is genuine without it.

Our first showing of furs takes place this week, comprising the new novelties and staples as well.

During our fur exhibit this week we will make a grand display of our new mantles, being the products of the best Mantle House in Canada, as well as the United States, Paris and Germany.

The buying Public are cordially invited to our store to inspect the advance styles in Mantles and Furs.

PORTABLE TELEPHONE IN THE VEST POCKET

Wireless Instrument is now Rapidly Approaching the Practical Stage and Great Things are Looked For.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Wireless telephony is the latest development of science. At Nuremberg, Herr Wirth has perfected an invention which is capable of accomplishing the steering of dirigible balloons by wireless means. Writing in The Daily Mail, T. Thorne Baker says:—It is equally within the bounds of possibility to equip military airships with wireless telephones; day by day the weight of the apparatus—that vital factor—is being diminished, and who can tell how soon it will be made sufficiently light to render possible telephonic communication with those who navigate the sky? TESTS BETWEEN BATTLESHIPS. One great value of wireless telephony lies in the fact that an inexperienced man can talk by telephone, for any form of telegraphic work. Only recently twenty-eight sets of wireless telephones were ordered by the United States Government, and tests were carried out between battleships Connecticut and Virginia, the distance varying between ten and twenty-five miles! Every word spoken was distinctly heard, and the trials were eminently satisfactory. The enterprise of the United States Government was thus as successful as it was legitimate. One of the most up-to-date wireless stations is at the Technical High School of Charlottetown, and experiments were recently carried out there with a portable military station fixed thirty kilometres away. Messages were used in each station about sixty feet in height, and the transmission of speech was so perfect that it was not even necessary to hold the receiver close to the ear. ARC LAMP'S PROPERTIES. Practically the whole of the recent advance made has been founded on the discovery of a method of producing very rapid oscillations. The electric arc lamp is employed for the purpose, and it is interesting to note with what extraordinary properties this modern illumination is endowed. Simon discovered that by having a microphone attached in a special way to the dynamo which generates the electricity for running an arc lamp it is possible to make the lamp vibrate and repeat every word or sound spoken into the telephone. An actual "arc lamp concert" was given at Frankfurt at which the arc was made to speak and sing almost like a human being. It was due to Duddell, three years later however that the present system was inaugurated, for he discovered that the arc lamp could be employed to transform any ordinary electric current into one which supplied electrical oscillations of many thousands per second, such as were essential to the successful wireless transmission of speech. Poulsen, the Danish physicist made extraordinary progress with the system, and making the arc burn in a sphere of hydrogen, he found it possible to generate a current of electricity sending off waves half a million to the second. THE SCIENTIFIC EXPLANATION. The simplest explanation of the method of transmitting speech is as follows:—These exceedingly rapid waves are generated at the sending station and the sound waves formed by them that they carry the sound impression with them. The waves are sent off by means of an aerial or antenna, and this speech is transmitted in the form of electric waves to anyone who is waiting to receive it. The receiving station is fitted with an aerial, which collects the waves and these are made to actuate the electromagnet of a telephone. Both sending and receiving stations can be "tuned" in the manner already adopted in wireless telegraphy, so that only the person to whom the message is addressed can receive it. This is, of course a matter of vital importance in warfare, and at present the most likely applications of speech without wires will be to naval and army work, and shipping.

OBITUARY.

A deep gloom was cast over Hunter River on Tuesday night when it became known that Alfred Wharton Seaman, dearly beloved and best child of Thomas and Mary Seaman had been killed by the explosion of a train at Kensington. The deceased was a young man of irreproachable conduct and his early death has cast not only a gloom over Hunter River but many other places as well that his friends and relatives will long feel. He will be much missed in the community, but it is in the home where the loss will be felt most keenly, the idol of an aged father and mother naturally of a bright and sunny disposition, his presence was like sunshine in the home and how often the dear ones who are left will long for the touch of a dear voice that is still, but "God's ways are not our way's" and the dispensations of his Providence are often mysterious. Hours find comfort in the thought that our Father knows and He cares, he has but called a loved one to a higher service, while we are left amid life's shadows a little longer. Besides a heart-broken father and mother, three brothers and eight sisters, the deceased leaves a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn. This was indeed a beautiful life and the number of carriages that followed his remains to their last resting place in the New Glasgow Baptist Cemetery, testified to the esteem and respect in which he was held in the community. Deceased was in his twenty-fourth year. We loved you Darling Alfred yes we loved you well, But God still loved you more, And he has sweetly called you to your dear shining shore, The golden gate was opened, a loving voice said come, And with farewell unspoken you have gone to your last home. USEFUL FOR SPECIAL WORK.

Asked as to the likelihood of wireless telephony being adopted by the postoffice a prominent official told me that it was sure to be used at some future time for special work through the ordinary telephone business it could never replace the present system in which two wires are used insulated from one another. But more than one portable wireless telephone is on the eve of introduction, which will prove invaluable in factories, hospital and large business houses, where speech can be transmitted with the utmost readiness over a distance of five hundred yards or more. Even in this compact little apparatus the speaker has the power to tune his electrical voice for any particular person, so that while everyone is ready to receive a wireless order from the "head" the latter individual will just speak with whom he pleases.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, it is entirely closed, and perfect hearing is lost. Unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. It is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO, Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. If You Intend Painting Your Houses Churches or Halls etc.

Then use pure Linseed Oil—That's the life of paint—You can't do durable work without it. A terated Oil means early destruction of the best paint manufacturer. Linseed Oil foisted on the unsophisticated painters. It pays dealers to sell it; but it don't pay anyone to use it. Be satisfied with nothing but absolutely pure Linseed Oil—You can be sure of getting it, if you buy only Genuine Pure Linseed Oil manufactured in England from a Calcutta Flax Seed.
