His ankle was also badly cut and required a number of stitches. The boy is eleven years old.

NOT AFRAID TO ENDORSE IT.

People have learned to have such confidence in Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for every form of piles that they do not hesitate to endorse at every opportunity. As a result Dr. Chase's Ointment is probably recommended by more persons than any preparation on the market today. There is no guess-work about its effects—relief is prompt and cure certain.

An excellent opportunity will be afforded the citizens on Sunday in the Opera House to hear an eloquent and inspiring address. Rev. J. L. Batty of Halifax will speak to men only on "Individuality". A silver collection will be taken.

THE train held at Hazelbrook yesterday afternoon by the Baptist Sunday School of that place was the most successful held for many years. The attendance was large and a splendid outing was enjoyed by all. The visitors, booths, etc., were well patronized and the proceeds were large.

F. E. Boothby, General Passenger and Ticket Agent of the Maine Central Railway writing to The Guardian says: "I came down from Boston Monday night and there was one first-class car and two second-class cars i. e. those which run through from Boston to Point du Chene completely filled with passengers and there was not a single berth left in sleeper from St. John showing that our through train services is being appreciated."

LILY Shepherd, adopted daughter of L. E. Prowse, was married Wednesday at Sydney to C. H. Shaw of Brackley Point P. E. I. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw arrived last night and are the guests of the bride's sister, Mrs. Alex. Murray. The ceremony was performed at the residence of L. E. Prowse by Rev. Mr. Huestis pastor of the Methodist Church. The bride has many friends in this city where she resided till three years ago. Mr. Shaw is a progressive farmer of Brackley Point. To the happy couple The Guardian extends its sincere congratulations.

THE Diplomats, a very strong society drama was put on last evening by Miss May Nannary and her company at the Opera House where there was a good attendance. The play was admirably staged and was played in a manner that engaged the closest attention from start to finish with repeated applause and curtain calls. Miss Nannary as the Countess Zicka, a difficult role proved herself an accomplished artist, especially strong in the emotional scenes of the play. Henry Beauchere, the wily and astute diplomat suffered nothing at the hands of John W. Dillon, while Monroe Salisbury, as Capt. Julian Beancherck gave an excellent presentation alike as a lover, and afterward in a newly wedded husband placed in most agonising circumstances. Miss Genevieve Blinn, as Dora, the betrothed, and later the suspected wife of Julian, won golden opinions throughout. The supporting parts were well sustained. Evidently Miss Nannary has a strong and capable company who may be expected to fill the house tonight when the attractive comedy Too Much Johnson will be put on. Those who fortunately attended the opening performance will no doubt be at the Opera House to-night bringing their friends and acquaintances with them.

HUDSON WILLIAMS, eldest son of John Williams, of this city, and formerly employed in The Guardian had a narrow escape from death at Perth Amboy, New Jersey, a few days ago. He is engaged in rigging the four masted schooner, Young Brothers, lying at that place and was sent aloft to set some rigging. While at work he threw his weight on a stay which was rotten and he started on his headlong plunge to the deck 50 feet below. Whirling in the air he shot downward nearly 25 feet. Then, while half a hundred workmen stood spellbound waiting for the terrible end, Williams clutched a rope. He hung to it but could only slightly check his slight downward. Still hanging to the rope with both hands he slid to the deck like a flash. So rapid was the descent that the rope burned into the bones of all his fingers on the way down. His injuries were very painful, but there never was a more thankful man than Williams when he recalled how close he had been to death.

A VERY GOOD RULE

It is well known that the majority of human ills arise from constipation of the bowels and on this account many people make it a rule to use the bowels more once every day. If you are subject to constipation you can be cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These pills not only make the bowels active but by their action on the liver ensure a regular flow of bile, nature's own cathartic and so remove the cause of serious disease.
