The body of Mary McKearney, 20-year-old Charlottetown girl missing since July 1 was recovered about a mile outside the entrance to Charlottetown Harbor early yesterday morning. No trace had been found of her companion, however, the 21year-old Reginald Paoli. The two were believed to have drowned while swimming from a sail boat on Dominion Day. The small craft was found ashore at Langie, Beach just inside the entrance to the harbor late the afternoon the two disappeared.

Miss McKearney's body was sighted by Capt. Trenholm of the small freighter, "Shamrock" which left port at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. Marking the spot with a buoy he returned and reported to the Mounted Police who went out and recovered the body which was taken to Frank Hennessey's Funeral Home.

Coroner Dr. I. J. Yeo decided an inquest was unnecessary.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon to St. Dunstan's Basilica, thence to the Roman Catholic Cemetery. Services at Church and grave-side were conducted by the Rev. Dr. P. McMahon. Pallbearers were: Albert Murley, Frank Lappin, Frank Hughes, Everett Jay, Louis Lafferty and Henry Peters.

Beside her father, James McKearney, of Westville, N.S., and a step-mother, the young drowning victim is survived by five brothers James and Anthony, of Westville, Joe and Patrick, of Guysboro, N.S.; and Alex, who is thought to reside somewhere in Northern Ontario, and an aunt, Mrs. Alex Lafferty of Charlottetown, with whom she resided.
