The following appears in a Connecticut paper. Mr. Hodges referred to is a nephew of Mrs. John A. McLean, 25 Richmond Street, Charlottetown:

The funeral of Arthur Frederick Hodges, 25, New London hero of the S-4, was over today, but it will not be forgotten soon—it was different, and the native son of New London who gave his life in his first years of manhood was honored as few others have been honored in this city.

Hundreds of men, women and children gathered at the Brainard temple long before 3 o'clock yesterday and when that hour arrived every available seat in the temple was occupied and there was not an inch of standing room left. The crowd which gathered outside the temple blocked traffic and a detachment of policemen was necessary to detour traffic from Green and Starr streets; there was hardly space for the vehicles conveying the immediate family to get through the front of the temple; nearby porches and verandahs were packed.

Of it all, civic, fraternal and military honors, perhaps no feature will remain so touching with the family of the late sailor as the all-night vigil maintained beside the casket by Machinist J. M. Rekos, upon whom it fell to enlist Hodges in the navy and with whom Hodges served as shipmate and pal for several years.

Rekos, who is now stationed aboard the submarine O-2, deeply moved by the loss of his friend and soon after the tragedy he visited Hodges' mother, Mrs. Sophie Kenerson, and expressed his heartfelt sympathy.

Stands All-Night Watch

Tuesday evening Rekos again went to the late sailor's home, have a last few minutes with his late pal. There was a close bond between the two men, a sort of brotherly love. Rekos was reluctant to leave the body of his dead buddy and quietly informed members of the family that he would stand watch over the body for the night that they might gain a little rest.

I had been thought that a guard of honor would be sent from the Submarine Base to stand watch over the body through the night, as is sometimes done, but none came.

Taking a position at the foot of the casket, Rekos stood at attention all night. Many times before he had good watch with Hodges on vessels in China and in the Philippines. Through the long night he stood and gazed into the silent casket, paying his last respects to a lost comrade. Yesterday he attended the funeral.

It was decided that the next meeting of the lodge should be conducted with Masonic rites, by Brainard Lodge of which Hodges was a member. The service opened with the members of the lodge marching in to form three deep in rectangular formation around the casket. Chaplain J. A. Bentley opened the services with prayer, following which the impressive ritualistic ceremony was conducted by Worshipful Master Eileen N. Edwards, Mrs. Ira S. Avery of Groton was soloist.

Long Line Views Body

At the close of the service nearly an hour was required to allow those in the temple to pass by the open casket where the late sailor lay in his uniform, well preserved despite the fact that death had taken place 24 days before.

At the grave in Jordan cemetery Chaplain M. M. Leonard of the Submarine Base spoke briefly, following which taps were sounded by a bugler from the marine barracks at the Submarine Base and a volley of shots was fired by the naval escort of 18 men from the Submarine Base. In sounding taps before firing the volley of shots the usual military procedure was reversed.

Pownal News

The following were recent visitors to the city: Messrs. J. R. Brown, Arthur Moore, Will Drake, Clifford Jenkins, Wendall Jones, Nelson Carver, J. B. Jones, Layton Jones, Wilbur Jones and Breckon Wood.

The thaw of today (Wednesday) is taking a large amount of the snow and it now looks as if we would have car roads again which many would welcome although it will be rather late for Burns' concert. In this section of the province the wind blew at a great velocity accompanied by torrents of rain, so that do we have bigger freshets during the spring thaws.

The weekly prayer meeting of the Hazelbrook Baptist Church was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Lawton, Pownal village. Rev. Mr. Lindsay led the session and a very helpful and refreshing time was spent. This is a good example of our little village which would profit by fewer "whist" parties and card playings and more cottage prayer meetings.

The young and beautiful of the surrounding districts are taking advantage of the open air rinks wherever they may be found. Jack Frost of the last few days helping to add to their pleasures.

Smelling is in full swing on Pownal Bay many little houses springing up out of the ice, so if anyone would wish to hear a genuine fish story and get a feed of beautiful smells all they need do is to come to Pownal village.

Germany Submits Memorandum

(Special to The Guardian)

GENEVA, Jan. 28.—Germany submitted a memorandum on the subject of international security to the League of Nations tonight. Germany's conclusion is that causes of war can only be removed by political arrangements guaranteeing a durable peace, and such as would eliminate all situations impeding world peace.

Some observers saw in this statement an admission to the desirability of revising the treaty of Versailles and reparations.

To increase security, which means the avoidance of armed conflicts, Germany urged a more general signature of the compulsory arbitration clause of the world court. This would take care of judicial disputes and for political disputes, which are considered more dangerous, Germany urged extensions of the practice of conciliation through bilateral or multilateral pacts, believing that settlement by obligatory arbitration is impracticable at the present time.

Germany opened the session of the League in the event of rupture of peace would be impossible while general disarmament is lacking.

CURLING

This afternoon and evening the second contest between the Eastern and Western Curlers will take place as follows:—

Curling 4 o'clock
Supper 6 o'clock
Curling 7 and 8 p.m.

The energetic president, S. C. Moore, has secured from Ben's Ltd. a quantity of the famous Ben's Beans to go to the winning teams on either side and it is hoped up to each and every Curler to find out who can curl for Beans. The supper is also entirely donated by Ben's Ltd.

SOUTHAMPTON NEWS

Miss Mary McIntyre returned to Charlottetown after spending New Year's at her home here.

Mrs. James J. Wilson visited Charlottetown recently and while there was the guest of her sister, Mrs. John Herald.

Mr. Franklin MacAulay, Southampton, had the misfortune to cut his foot very badly. His friends are glad to hear that it is healing satisfactorily. However, this regrettable accident did not prevent Mr. and Mrs. MacAulay from welcoming the young people of the district to their home, where they spent a very enjoyable evening in dancing and other amusements.

Mr. Harry Thompson visited Souris quite recently and reports business brisk in that part of the country.

Ronnie McKinnon of Southampton spent New Year's at Greenwood the guest of his cousin Harold McInnis.

Messrs. Neil McIntyre and Albert Wilson were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Matheson, Forest Hill.

Mr. Ronald MacAulay has purchased the dwelling recently owned by Joseph MacAulay. He intends moving it to the site of his home in Southampton.

Kelloggs Arrive
Monday, Feb. 6th

(Special to The Guardian)

OTTAWA, Jan. 28.—Secretary of State, Kellogg and Mrs. Kellogg will arrive here on Monday, February 6th, and Mr. Kellogg will have luncheon at the United States Legation, receive foreign consuls, and dine with Lord and Lady Willingdon at Government House. On Tuesday, he will lunch with the Prime Minister, visit Parliament and will be the guest of the American ambassador, Hon. William Phillips at dinner at the country Club.

On Wednesday he will be tendered a dinner by the Government in the Parliament Buildings and a reception afterwards at Government House. Mrs. Kellogg will dine informally at Government House on Thursday, the distinguished guests leave for New York.

PERSONALS

Miss Jessie Power left Saturday on a visit to Montreal.

Miss Pauline Seaman left Saturday on a visit to Fredericton, N.B.

Mrs. James Robertson arrived in the city Tuesday night enroute to her home in Kingsboro, after an extended visit to the U. S. A., while there she visited friends and relatives in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Boston, and surrounding suburbs, while in this city, she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Creston Sertner, Orlebar St. Her many friends will welcome her return.

CHARLOTTETOWN LADY RESEMBLED—Many who had the pleasure of listening in St. Paul's to the talented and patriotic dignitary who, in concluding his tour of the Dominion, from sea to sea, spared enough of his valuable time to visit our little island, will be pleased to learn that, in his beautiful English home he has not forgotten the kindly reception accorded him here. In a much prized, self-written note, received by Mrs. E. S. MacLeod, the revered ecclesiastic says in part: "I look back to my visit to Canada with deep gratitude to my Heavenly Father. It was a time of Grace, of Guidance and Blessing, etc., ending with quotation Hebrews 13th Chapter, 20th and 21st verses. Mrs. MacLeod is also the recipient of kindly and much appreciated remembrance from another widely revered apostle of the Highest, Rt. Rev. Bishop Morrison, Antigonish, who, although his life and interests are especially devoted to another and more extensive field of labour, never forgets when opportunity affords, to pay a friendly visit to this, the Island of his birth.

MAPLE LEAFS AND Y. M. C. A.
PLAY SECOND DRAW GAME

Saturday night at the Arena rink, the second game was played between the Maple Leaf's and the Y. M. C. A., the game ending in a draw by a score of 1 to 1.

This is the second game played between those two teams and each game ended in a 1-1 draw.

The game got away at 8 o'clock with F. Cox on the whistle and both teams fighting hard for center and near the end of the first period the Maples forward line attacked the Y. M. C. A. defense with success. MacFarlane getting a pass from Trainor gets a beautiful wing shot and scores the first score of the game, this period ending 1 to 0 in favor of the Maples. About five minutes after the face-off in the last period, Murley getting past the Maples' defense calls upon McGuigan for a beautiful save. Spillet gets the rebound for the last score of the game and the game ends 1 to 1.

The line-ups:

Maple Leaf's: Y. M. C. A.:
Ernest McGuigan, W. MacEwan, R. Defence, Ernest Larter, H. Spillet, Terrance Campbell, A. Nicholson, Archie MacFarlane, Easton, L. Wing.
