Raymond Seller has purchased from the Davison estate that most desirable hotel property on Kent Street, known as the Morell house. Half of this property was formerly occupied as a private dwelling by A. F. Webster. Mr. Seller has taken over the whole property and has had it thoroughly renovated. The hotel now contains twenty-four rooms, two street entrances and all modern conveniences. A new granite sidewalk and a coat of paint adds greatly to the hotel's appearance. Mr. Seller is to be congratulated on his venture and no doubt will meet with a large share of permanent and transient patronage.

Yesterday afternoon the second of the series of yacht races was called. There was only a very light wind, though the day was a delightful one, and there were many sailboats of all rigs on the harbor making a very pretty scene. There were four starters for the race; the Charlotte, Capt. Rogers, the Skidoo, Capt. Blaine, Mimosa, Capt. Pineau, and the Mary E. Capt. Messervy. The race was carried out with varying favor, first one boat then the other showing to advantage. At the start the Mimosa seemed the leader, but later on the Charlotte pulled up on her and the Skidoo got away in the lead with the light airs that were blowing. Lack of wind however prevented the race being finished within the time limit of three and a half hours. The race is postponed till the morning of Labor Day (next Monday) at 9.30 sharp.

The Northumberland arrived at 8.50, and the express at 9.30, last night.
