

Drillon To Return To Game On Sat.

TORONTO, Jan. 8.—(CP)—Gordie Drillon of Toronto Maple Leafs, injured here last Saturday in a National Hockey League game with Montreal Canadiens, will return to the lineup against New York Rangers here next Saturday, Manager Conny Smythe announced late today.

Drillon, the league's leading scorer, was taken to hospital after he suffered a deep cut on the instep. Following preliminary examination it was believed Drillon would be kept to the sidelines for at least 10 days. Dr. J. W. Rush said, however, that Drillon will be ready for action Saturday and might even take part in a Thursday game here against Boston Bruins.

Meanwhile, Nick Metz, Leaf wingman, remains in hospital with a ruptured kidney suffered in the Saturday game and will be out of action at least two weeks. Smythe said that either Don Metz, brother of Nick, or Hank Goldup, recently loaned to Pittsburgh Hornets of the International-American League, will take Metz's place against New York Americans in New York tomorrow night. They were recalled from Pittsburgh today.

Duchess Gets Gift of 200 Dogs 60 Cats

LONDON, Jan. 5.—When war on Hitler was declared by Britain and blackouts and evacuation of population centers began, the Duchess of Hamilton realized what would happen to pets, appealed through the British Broadcasting Company for homes for animals in safety zones. The Duchess, who is past sixty, is chairman of the Animal Defense Society.

Her appeal had startling results to herself. Cats and dogs addressed to her began to arrive by the score. But her Grace, far from being dismayed, rose instantly to the occasion. She turned her beautiful country mansion, Fern House, near Shaftesbury, Dorset, into a clearing station for animals before evacuating them elsewhere.

"Here," says a writer in the London Daily Express, "is a dog's heaven—and a heaven for cats too. Two hundred dogs and sixty cats have been evacuated to Fern House."

"Cats first. Large cats, small cats 'mongrel' cats, pedigree cats live in a hangar where the Duchess's four flying cats used to keep their planes. Each has a sleeping box round a warm stove. Each gets all the milk it can drink night and morning."

"But it's the dog's life the Duchess really looks after. She goes among the pets in a skilling suit. Every pocket bulges. The suit is streaked with mud."

"And there is a connection. The bulges are made by biscuits. The streaks of mud by paw marks. A side garden has been fenced off for dogs that like to be alone. But most of them—all sizes, all colors, all ancestries—romp on the lawn, in and out of the great front door of the house."

"The Duchess gives healthy dogs biscuits, cooked meat and vegetables. Special cases are on milk diets."

Trainer Hard Pressed For Scoring Lead

George McLeod and Charlie Deignan both of the Junior Royals were hard on the heels of Bucko Trainer for the scoring lead in the Commercial-Service Hockey League unofficial statistics showed last night. Deignan picking up four points against the Navy climbed from fifth place to within striking distance of the leader while McLeod's two points broke the second place tie he had shared with Charlie Hogan for runner-up position. McLeod and Deignan have 12 points to Trainer's 13.

Millionaires Swamp Glace Bay Miners 8-0

GLACE BAY, N. S., Jan. 8.—(CP)—Players of Sydney Millionaires fattened their scoring averages tonight as the Cape Breton Colliers Hockey League leaders gave the tattered Glace Bay Miners an 8-0 drubbing. Doug Fritz helped himself to three goals and an assist, while Tony Graboski, the league's leading scorer, got two goals and two assists. T. Williams and Harold Wreby each got two points. The win gave Sydney a 21-point lead over North Sydney Victorias. Minard's kills pain.

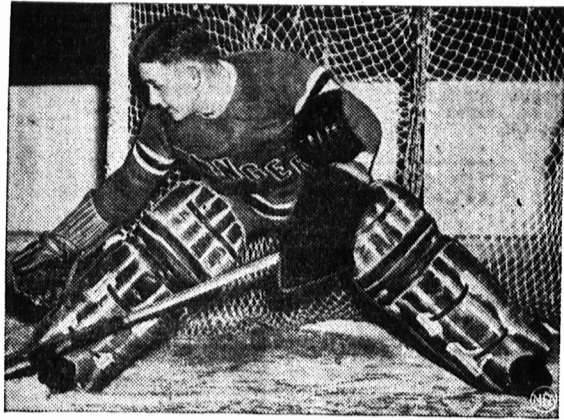

The SNAPSHOT GUILD MAKE SIMPLER PICTURES

The simple subject-matter and plain background lend appeal to this child study. Strive for simplicity in your pictures.

SIMPLICITY is an outstanding feature of most good pictures. And an excess of detail—especially confused detail—is seen in most pictures that are not up to par. Mark Twain once wrote: "As to the adjective; when in doubt, strike it out." That is a good rule for the camera user. When you're in doubt about including some detail or omitting it—do the latter. It's a safer course. Nearly every picture includes a main subject which should be shown clearly. If the background is full of detail, it draws attention away from the main subject. Details in subject and background may even seem to run together, so that there is no clear separation. Thus, the picture is spoiled. It is easy to prevent this. Often, a change of camera position will change the whole background. In indoor shots, the background can often be cleared by moving one or two objects—such as a standing lamp or wall picture. Things such as this should be eliminated, unless they are proper and essential parts of the picture.

Leads in Race for Goalie's Trophy

Drillon Holds Wes Ferrell Believes Still Major Pitcher

MONTREAL, Jan. 8.—(CP)—Toe Blake ace sniper of Montreal Canadiens, keeps strange company for a man whose team took 10 games to break a losing streak that almost plummeted them to the National Hockey League cellar. Gordie Drillon of Toronto Maple Leafs—inactive since Saturday because of a foot injury—still leads the league scorers, of course. But Blake is right behind him. The official statistics issued today give Drillon 25 points—15 goals and 10 assists. Blake gathered three points during the week to raise his total to 12 goals and 11 assists or 23 points.

SARASOTA, Fla., Jan. 8.—Pitcher Wes Ferrell, released from New York Yankees mound staff after a disastrous 1939 season, believes he still can win in the majors. "A lot of baseball men seem to think I'm an old man," declared the temperamental Wes. "It has been 11 years since I broke into the big time but I'm still only 31 years old. I ought to be able to pitch winning ball at least seven or eight more years."

Neil Colville of the New York Rangers picked up four points during the week to tie with Milt Schmidt of Boston points who not three. Both have 21 points in third place, two more than Alex Shlibsky of Rangers and Porky Dumart of Boston Bruins. Syd Apps of Toronto, Murray Armstrong of New York Americans, Bryan Hextall of Rangers, Charlie Sands of Canadiens and Eddie Wiseman of Americans are tied in fifth place with 18 points apiece. Rangers' Dutch Hiller leads the penalty parade with 46 minutes. Blake is not far behind with 35 minutes.

U. team in what promises to be a battle of speed all the way.

Ron Hudson Holds Place At League Top

(Canadian Press) Seems like Ronnie Hudson likes it up there, atop the scoring list of former Maritimers now performing in the International-American Hockey League. At any rate, the former Halifax Wolverines shows no signs of surrendering the lead he gained three weeks ago and has been adding to ever since. He collected a goal and four assists during the last week, to boost his point total to 32, split evenly between goals and assists. Jackie Keating of Saint John, plugging along in second spot, lost ground to the leader during the week, although he swelled his total by a goal and an assist to 19 points. Moncton's Sammy McManus featured the week by picking up his second goal of the season and added it to his 16 assists for third place with 18 points.

Pete Kelly of Charlottetown gained two assists to gain a point on McManus. He now trails the Moncton star by a single point, his total of 17 giving him a firm hold on fourth place. The standings:—Hudson, Ind. 16 16 32; Keating, Syracuse 8 11 19; McManus, Pittsburgh 2 18 18; Kelly, Pittsburgh 10 7 17; Lamb, Springfield 10 5 15; Jackson, Springfield 2 10 12; Currie, Pittsburgh 4 8 12; Sherwood, Providence 4 6 10; Steele, Hershey 3 5 8; Little, Hershey 2 0 1; Kuhn, Syracuse 0 1 1.

Baseball Player Told To Quit Basketball Games

SEATTLE, Jan. 8.—(AP)—The idea of an $80,000 piece of baseball bric-a-brac playing basketball did not appeal to Walter O. Briggs, owner of Detroit Tigers, so Freddie Hutchinson retired from the court sport today. The youthful righthanded pitcher for the American League Tigers was the star of a Seattle hoop team until he received a letter from Briggs. The letter "suggested" Hutchinson find some other form of winter exercise. Now Freddie will stick to golf. Seattle sold him to Detroit for $80,000 cash and players.
