INDIAN MEDIUM BENDS IRON BARS AND BITES CHAINS

BERLIN, Dec. 12.—Marah Farah, Indian medium of normal physical makeup, yet the strongest woman in the world when hypnotized bends heavy iron bands and bites massive chains in two as the final test of the strength of mind over body.

The entire Berlin athletic world, representative newspapermen and psychologists attending a special exhibition of the extraordinary physical powers of Marah, testify to her enormous strength when under the hypnotic influence of her co-worker, Erick Jan Hanussen. Hanussen orders and Marah obeys.

He orders this normal appearing young lady to bend massive iron bands, which four police and newspapermen could not bend. Without apparent effort Marah obeys. Further, Marah tears heavy iron chains in two with her teeth, lies with her bare back upon a board of nails and permits a couple of husky blacksmiths to pound with heavy sledges upon an enormous anvil lying upon her chest.

Twelve strong men carry forward a platform bearing three huge granite stones weighing more than 1,000 kilograms, which she holds upon her fraud body.

CARLSBAD CAVE A NATURAL PALACE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—A palace of nature has been preserved by President Coolidge's recent proclamation establishing the Carlsbad Cave National Monument, located twenty-five miles southwest of Carlsbad, New Mexico. Its beauty reminds of the illustrations of Dore in Dante's Inferno, government experts who explored the cavern reported. They traveled several miles through underground passages, no one of which was explored to its end. They descended vertically about 800 feet, but the depth of the cave is unknown.

So far as known no limestone cavern exists whose chambers approach those of Carlsbad Cave. The internal decorations rival in variety beauty and magnitude those of any cave heretofore described. The chambers are of phenomenal size and the deposits of travertine so voluminous and varied in form as to be of unusual scientific as well as scenic interest.

The new national monument comprises an area of 719 acres of land. The cave was discovered 22 years ago and was first known as "Bat Cave" because it was the habitat of thousands of bats which have largely been driven out.

Fur Marketing

not, but be a benefit not only to the owners of large ranches but to everyone engaged in the industry. I do not think that there is any possibility for some years to come of the supply being larger than the demand, and so tending to lower prices of the fox skins; but, on the contrary, as with every other article of commerce, it is first of all necessary to keep an article always before the consuming public. Endeavor to keep the class of foxes marketed up to the highest possible standard by eliminating from the ranches all foxes of poor quality, and if this policy is followed out and the necessary publicity provided for this article, which cannot be done by any individual but by the Association as a whole, then the fox breeders in this way will be assured of a continued paying business for some years to come."

At the present time, Mr. Herzig stated, the American Fox Breeders' Association of Boston and the National Silver Fox Breeders' Association, which have their headquarters at Muskegon, Michigan, are negotiating for the purpose of forming a working agreement to co-operate together for their mutual interest could be made between these organizations and the Canadian associations, because anything that will advance the interests of the American associations will certainly be to the interest of the Canadian organizations, and vice versa. It would then be possible by working in harmony to put on an international live fox show and fur exhibit in the city of New York which would stimulate the demand for silver foxes throughout the continent.

The outlook here, Mr. Herzig believes, depends to a considerable extent on how conditions turn out in the fur market and Austria have been heavy buyers of furs and they take most of their supplies from the United States and Canada. If conditions continue to improve in Russia, one of the best markets North America has had for furs will be re-opened. It may only be a question of another year before they are in the market again.

On account of the Socialist government present in Saxony, where Leipzig, formerly the largest distributing fur market in Europe, is located, the business is practically at a standstill in that city.

Mr. Herzig has a world wide reputation as a fur merchant, having travelled in practically every country where the trade exists, including South America, Russia, France, Germany, England, Denmark, Holland, Sweden, Spain, Italy, China and Japan. Every class of furs engages his attention. In South America, for instance, his business included marketing of red and grey foxes, chinchillas, nutria, otters and seals. He is the fur adviser for a Russian company known as the Arcos (which means the all-Russian Co-operative Society) and which has practically the monopoly of the export and import of goods into the country. Mr. Herzig's last foreign trip was in 1921 to Argentina, South America, where he crossed the Andes mountains and came up along the west coast through the Panama Canal.

Buffalo Bill's Ranch Mixed up in Suit

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., Dec. 12.—Scouts' Rest Ranch, for many years a show place of the west while owned by William F. ("Buffalo Bill") Cody, now is a run down and ordinary piece of property but buffalo are no more and where social gatherings are of another day.

The ranch, located about two miles west of North Platte, now is known as "Cody's Ranch." It passed from the ownership of the famous scout and buffalo hunter several years before his death in 1917.

Its 20,000 or more acres of land has dwindled to 1,200.

The land that remains as a part of the famous ranch and rendezvous for visiting nobility, celebrated statesmen and army officers, now is owned by a company and leased to a tenant. Trouble has arisen over the lease and the property now is the subject of litigation.

Cody came to this part of the country following the Civil War. His job was to furnish laborers engaged in constructing the Union Pacific line west, with meat. The meat provided was that from the buffalo, which were more numerous then than jackrabbits are at present. During an 18 months period, in 1867 and 1868, Cody personally killed about 4,300 buffalo for the Union Pacific laborers. It was at this time that he was given the name Buffalo Bill.

HEIGHTS OF GERMAN EXCHANGE Baffle Human Imagination

BERLIN, Dec. 12.—Before the war the wealth of the entire world was estimated at about three trillion gold marks. That number of gold marks, at the rate of early November, was worth only about two dollars. A box of matches today cost more paper marks than there were gold marks in the greatest fortune in Germany before the war. The fortunes of Bertha Krupp, the Princess of Hohenlohe, Donnersmarck and the Duke of Oldenburg were variously estimated at from one to three hundred million gold marks, but a beggar would scarcely accept that number of paper marks today.

Germany's entire circulation in paper notes before the war was less than the number of paper marks which can be realized today by converting a gold pfening into paper marks.

Every seventh week, on the average, since the close of the war, the number of marks which could be realized on a dollar has been doubled, and thirty-seven duplications have sent the exchange figure into the trillions and baffled all imagination.

body for a more rigid enforcement of the same in the hope that this will make for greater safety to the children on our streets.

FURTHER RESOLVED that danger signs be placed at once in the vicinity of all of our schools and that suitable playgrounds under proper supervision be provided at such points and in such localities as the city may determine;

FURTHER RESOLVED that the candidates in the forthcoming civic elections be asked to pledge themselves to immediately carry out these reforms after being elected.

The above resolution was further strengthened by the signature of all present, as follows: Mrs. H. Alchorn, Mrs. J. W. Stewart, Mrs. W. E. Fletcher, Mrs. P. A. Farquharson, Mrs. G. E. Ritchie, Mrs. Ross McEwen, Mrs. R. E. Mutch, Mrs. J. H. Blanchard, Mrs. Andrew Gahlan, Mrs. William T. Wellner, Mrs. K. S. Rogers, Mrs. Jack Fraser, Mrs. Willmer Taylor, Mrs. E. D. Nicholson, Mrs. T. W. L. Prowse, Mrs. L. E. Wellner, Mrs. J. F. H. Arsenault, Mrs. Jas. Lawlor, Mrs. William Doyle, Mrs. Fred S. Purser, Mrs. Jas. McMillan, Mrs. Alfred Pickard, Mrs. Gordon Hughes.

The general opinion was expressed that there was great danger in allowing people under age to drive cars, this being a frequent occurrence in the city, and a resolution calling for the prohibition of this practice, moved by Mrs. G. E. Ritchie and seconded by Mrs. W. T. Wellner, was unanimously adopted.

Toboggan Slides for Children

After discussion a committee consisting of Mrs. Keith S. Rogers, Mrs. W. T. Wellner and Mrs. G. E. Ritchie was appointed to interview the School Board with regard to the placing of toboggan slides on the school grounds for use of the pupils after school. To better achieve the purpose of the committee the suggestion was adopted that a petition be first circulated among mothers interested, and their signature secured, asking for this convenience which would greatly help in keeping the children off the streets when at play.

The generosity of the Rotary Club was referred to. The situation, however, was not convenient for general purposes at least one more slide was deemed necessary. It was felt that the expense of this should be met by the School Board or the City.

In regard to reckless driving it was the general opinion of the meeting that the police court fines should be increased and strictly enforced. The case of drunkenness while driving was less common than called for sterner measures which should not stop short of a forfeiture of license. The fact was referred to that recently in the police court fines of $5 were imposed against motorists convicted of over-speeding. This was considered altogether inadequate and the meeting unanimously adopted a resolution, moved by Mrs. J. A. Farquharson and seconded by Mrs. G. E. Ritchie, asking that fines of this nature be increased to $25.

Attention was also called to the disregard of traffic laws by drivers of vehicles other than motor cars, and also to the dangerous habit of some car drivers in using garbages as headlights. The practice of boys riding bicycles on the sidewalk, which recently was the cause of a bad accident, was also condemned.

For the purpose of stronger organization the meeting formed itself into a body under the name of the Women's Community Club, to meet at least once in every three months for the discussion of matters affecting the welfare of the home and family.

The following officers were duly elected:—
Pres.—Mrs. Gordon Hughes.
Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Ross McEwen.
Sec.—Mrs. Jack Fraser.

It was decided to appoint the members of the Executive Committee from each of the church organizations, and the date of the next meeting was fixed at January 14.

The total vote was: City, Black, 6,759; Redmond, 6,107; County, Black, 5,194; Redmond, 4,370; Dartmouth, Black, 1,412; Redmond, 956. Majority for Black, 1,932.

Boost in Price of Bootleg Liquor

(Canadian Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—A sharp rise in the "market quotations" in bootleg liquor is pointed out by prohibition enforcement officials as proof that their big drive to cope with the pre-Christmas rum trade is meeting with success.

Two weeks ago imported Scotch whiskey was being offered along "rum row" for $14 a case; $1.7 a bottle; Canadian rye, less plentiful, went begging at $46 a case.

Two weeks ago the land runner paid the bootleg fishermen $24 a case for the Scotch and $56 for the Canadian rye—the ship price plus $10 a case, for the offshore smuggler.

Today, with such a vast supply declared to be in sight, and custom's clamoring for it, the prices aboard ship was reported to the State police as being: Scotch, $53 a case; Canadian rye, $90. Shore prices were quoted as: Canadian rye, $120; Scotch, $70.

Washington, Dec. 12.—Why are so many of the novels and movies written nowadays set in the dim and distant past when heroes wore ten-gallon hats and heroines were not permitted to show their ankles?

Answer by Mrs. Inez Hayes Irwin, wife of Will Irwin, novelist and war correspondent: "Because it is so hard to account for the life of every character during the years of the war."

Speaking before a meeting of the National Women's Party here, Mrs. Irwin commented upon the post-war reaction which has manifested itself in nearly all fields of thought.

"I mark constantly in my own profession, which is that of an author of fiction," Mrs. Irwin said, "how this tendency shows itself.

"A great interest has suddenly manifested itself, for instance, in the past of American history. Perhaps some of you have seen Emerson Hough's firm, 'The Covered Wagon' and perhaps you have noted how thrilled audiences are by it.

Why Novelists Go Into Distant Past for Today's Fiction

"It perhaps helps in this tendency of writers to go back into the past that almost any book of fiction of contemporary life which is not of the very instant has to account for the life of every character during the years of the war. This is a technical difficulty the irritations of which no layman can thoroughly understand."

Mammoth Dam Started in Kentucky

(United Press)

HIGH BRIDGE, Ky., Dec. 12.—Construction has begun on the Dix River dam, near here, which when completed will surpass the Roosevelt dam in Arizona, according to engineers. It will be larger and will be capable of developing 30,000 horsepower, as compared with 23,000 horsepower of the Roosevelt dam.

For the last fourteen years engineers of international reputation have acclaimed the location an ideal place to build a high dam.

The project, when completed about February 1, 1925, will tower 120 feet between the rugged cliffs of Dix River and will be the highest dam east of the Rocky Mountains, it is announced. The cost will be $7,000,000. More than 1,600,000 cubic yards of material will be used in its construction. It will be 700 feet thick at the base tapering to twenty-four feet, and 760 feet wide at the top. Its backwater will form a lake thirty-six miles long, storing approximately 6,000,000,000 cubic feet of water.

Scientific calculations were made for twelve years, by prominent engineers from many parts of the world who checked and rechecked calculations and estimates and at last approved the hydro-electric development project. Arthur P. Davis, an engineer of international reputation who planned and built the Roosevelt dam, is associated with L. F. Harza and other engineers in building the Dix dam.

Declares in Favor of Labor Party

(Canadian Press)

LONDON, Dec. 12.—Lord Inchcape presiding at a meeting of the P. and O. Steamship Company directors, of which he is chairman, said: "I do not share the apprehension with which many regard the possible advent of the Labor party to power. I do not believe in the labor party's program, but no section of the people has more interest in the country's welfare and stability than the great body of weekly wage earners. I think we can trust leaders to keep wild men in order."
