AVISITOR'S IMPRESSIONS OF OUR EXHIBITION

Here card for the races mister! Here card! Fair Week is now in full swing and this supplement with smiling weather, everything is going on "high."
The Exhibition visitor on leaving his hotel for the main thoroughfares is much impressed with the smiling faces of the natives and optimism is in evidence on every hand.
After a hearty dinner one saunters out, everything is hustle bustle; of course one's first inclination is the Exhibition and races, but one mustn't tarry too long as again is heard the lusty voices of young boys selling race score cards, and not to be outdone the taxi drivers about even more loudly drive to the Exhibition! You board a taxi, which by the way is loaded to full capacity, and away you go to the Exhibition. On arriving—as cars as possible—as long lines of cars unloading their human freight are ahead. Finally the taxi-man gets through, you are left at the gate. On going inside, one is greatly surprised with the gigantic size of the buildings, all nicely white-washed and everything looking spick and span. Your eyes wander over the grounds, hundreds of automobiles are conveniently parked on all sides, far out of line of motor and pedestrian traffic. You turn your head as some person or persons are shouting at the top of their lungs—its the great midway. Oh boy! here's the spot for young and old, especially the former. To the youngsters eyes dance with delight as the magnificent merry-go-round sends out lively airs, is worth the price of admission alone. The prancing horses and other animals fascinates the boy or girl and dad or mother has got to "come through," and away we go on the merry-go-round. Other attractions too numerous to mention gets the eyes and this intermingled with the showmen whose voices are heard over all announcing what is going on inside makes one feel like feeling that "great-to-be-alive" singing takes full charge of your whole being.

Why We Do Not Want Annexation

Because the U. S. in both population and territory are already so large that they are unwieldy. We do not want their negro problem nor their Jap problem. We do not want their judicial system, in which judges are elected and in which the rich can escape penalties that the poor alone must suffer; where the rich can commit murder for a thrill and escape the supreme penalty. We do not want their world outlook that refuses to be one of a police force to keep world peace. Being a population of 8,500,000 with resources just as great as theirs, we do not want to hand our resources over to 105,000,000 people who have already laid claim to all their own resources and depleted many of them.
We want to have our own outlook, to preserve our own ideals, to live our own lives. We do not want to break the greatest link of Empire, the alternative roadway to India and Australasia. If we decided to join the U. S. it would only be because the burden of debt internal and external had become unbearable. But in joining the U. S. we would not free ourselves of one dollar of our taxation either internal or external for reasons explained elsewhere.
Our Canadians in the Province of Quebec are the happiest people in the world. They prize their language, their religion, their schools and their traditions. All would be lost in the great overwhelming population of the United States. The United States' advantages are available to us without our accepting their disadvantages. Our troubles are nearly all caused by a 3 to 1 trading arrangement that bleeds us of $200,000,000 or more annually and the remedy is in our own hands, to trade only on an equal basis with the U. S. If we apply this remedy we shall hear no more talk of annexation.

GOOD ATTENDANCE AT PROV. EXHIBITION YESTERDAY

Judging in Most Classes is Finished.—Fair
But Cold Weather Greets Second Day
Of Fair, But Does Not Daunt Enthusiastic Sight-seers Nor Racing Fans.

The attendance at the Exhibition yesterday afternoon and evening, notwithstanding the discomfort caused by the cold weather was above the general expectation, but was much larger in the afternoon than in the evening.

While the principal attraction was the horse racing, yesterday's meet, being the first of the meet, the main building and the stock barns and pens came in for their usual share of attention.
Between the heats of the races, and in the evening, a pleasing program was rendered by the Halifax Rifles Band, including several solo numbers. The solos included a cornet and a trombone number. Jack Gieuy of Halifax took the audience by storm with his vocal rendition of "Waiting for You," which he was obliged to repeat in the evening. The Radke Sisters gave the grand stand several thrills with their daring stunts on the bar.

Judging, which began on Tuesday, when the greatest progress was made in the poultry section, was continued yesterday, and the following classes were cleaned up: Purebred Ayrshires and Holsteins; sheep, cattle, light and heavy horses, beef, poultry, butter, and cheese, ruit, field roots, educational exhibits and natural history, grains and seeds, mounted insects and weeds, and art work. In live stock the swine section is the only one that remains to be completely judged.

Following are some of the principal exhibitors in the different classes:
Ayrshires, Experimental Farm, Charlottetown; Easton Bros., B. R. Brown, York; Ings and Son, Mt. Herbert; A. McRae and sons.
Beef Cattle: Shortorns, Horne Bros., Winsloe; John Miller, Ashburn, Ont.; J. C. Irving, Vernon; K. Boswell, Victoria.
Heredford—Saunders and Sander son; Hayden and Jenkins, Vernon Bridge.
Aberdeen and Polled Angus, Horne Bros.
Swine: A. H. Boswell, Dunstaffnage; P. Brodie, York; Department of Agriculture; Mt. Mellick Farm, Pownal, George Watts, York.
Heavy Horses, Lewis Hayden, Cherry Valley, Department of Agriculture.
Light Horses: Byrne Bros., North River.

Poultry: A. H. Boswell, Marshfield; H. L. Boswell, Marshfield; Horne Bros., L. Hyde, Cherry Valley, C. and H. Tweedy, Earnscliffe, H. Hyde, Cornwall; Lewis Hayden.

A New Industry For P. E. I.

Among the art exhibits in the main building is to be found a somewhat unique exhibit of pottery made by Miss Mary Allison Doull. The pottery consists of glazed and unglazed vessels, flower plates, and other articles all made from clay taken from the Richmond tile works and from Cape Traverse shales. All are of splendid design and are in fact works of art. They reveal the possibilities latent in the types of island clay suitable for this work.

Electro-Plating Booth

The display of electro-plating work at the Provincial Exhibition done in Charlottetown by Mr. J. T. Cronin was not commented on in our issue of yesterday's date. The high class of work displayed both in nickel and in silver has won the admiration of visitors, added interest being supplied by the fact that his work is done right here in Charlottetown. Re-nickel plated stove parts; bumper bars and silver plated table ware are on display next to the Post Office Educational Booth.

Post Office Educational Booth

An exhibit attracting a great deal of attention is that of the Dominion Postal Department. It shows in striking fashion the proper way in which to use His Majesty's Mail and with attractive placards and posters points out the common forms of carelessness in mailing letters and parcels. Several electric illustrating machines give views of different stages of postal work. The Post Office Department is asking the co-operation of the public in perfecting and facilitating its work of service.

Art Exhibit by 12 Year Old Boy

An exhibit that shows traces of genius is to be seen in the art section on the second floor of the main building. A replica of the stock pens at an agricultural fair, it is the work of twelve year old Louis Hermans of Pownal. Animals and poultry, judges and farmers are molded in minute detail and in life-like and natural attitudes. The coloring also is most artistically done and the whole would do credit to one of more mature years. The exhibit is deservedly attracting more than ordinary attention.

MAE EDWARDS PLAYERS BETTER AND BETTER

Miss Edwards surely selected an exceptionally good play for last evening's performance in Little Miss Light Fingers a three act comedy drama telling a powerful story of a little girl and boy from the orphanage who won their way into the hearts of a crabby old millionaire and by so doing won a home for themselves and a few good things in life that all children must have. Miss Edwards in the title role of Little Miss Light Fingers captured the hearts of her audience and gave a remarkable performance proving once again that she can be depended upon to make good in any and all parts regardless of how difficult they might be. This comedy-drama turned out to be one of the very best shows the Mae Edwards Players have ever offered. The curtain had hardly risen before the laughs began coming thick and fast. These were tempered with a number of effective dramatic situations, verging at times into scenes of pathos which registered deeply, judging throughout the audience.
Miss Edwards the capable and charming leading woman of her own company, has been seen to advantage on numerous occasions in seasons gone by, but there is no doubt at all that her portrayal of the pathetically humorous child part is the greatest bit of acting she has ever done. Miss Edwards was given wonderful support by the past three seasons in the role of Tom Paige. His drunk was perfect his big scenes in the play were handled only as an artist could handle them, and his appearance was a delight to his many admirers in Charlottetown and he has had his fair share of the role. Miss Edwards has his real chance in the role of Raymond Paige. Senior the crabby old millionaire, but if all old men are as lovable as Mr. Linton then please let us have a few more grousches. Mr. Linton is an actor of the old school and the back bone of Miss Edwards Company. He looks his parts, dresses them, and then steps out in the field, like any real general on the field, Charlie Downes, as the boy orphan Freddie, proved to his many friends that as a comedian he is par excellence. Theatre goers are always sure of a laugh when Charlie makes his entrance each night.
Laurence Hayes was delightful and gave a good performance of a hard part, while Peggy Downes as the Matron, Miss Ophelia Horton, gave one of the most realistic

Some Phases Of The Present Political Situation

Mr. George D. Fope, Summerside writing in the Summerside Journal has the following to say about the political situation:
I notice our Liberal friends are busy publishing forecasts of the coming Dominion elections with the object of showing the impossibility of the Conservative Party being returned to power. Elections are somewhat like horse races and sometimes it is difficult to pick on the winning horse, but let us examine the changed conditions which now face Hon. Arthur Meighan and the conditions which he met with in 1921.

In 1921 the Liberals and Progressives had control of all the Provincial Governments in Canada. Since then Ontario, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island have gone solid conservative. The withdrawal of Sir Lomer Gouin from Minister of Justice in the Mackenzie King Government, the retirement of Hon. Mr. Fielding the large gains made by the Conservatives in the Quebec Provincial elections and the fact that the Montreal District is very dissatisfied with the tariff conditions of the country all goes to show that the Conservatives will take at least 20 seats out of the 65 in Quebec. If we next turn to the West which went solid Progressive in 1921 we find that their real leader, Mr. O'Leary, has retired from the political field, as well as several other leading lights in the Progressive Party. Let us examine the western vote. In 1921 Manitoba returned one Liberal and 14 Progressives. There will be seventeen seats in Manitoba this coming election. The reports are that the Conservatives will carry at least nine seats leaving eight to the Progressives and Liberals, Saskatchewan and Alberta together had 28 seats, all went Progressive except one, which went Liberal. These two Provinces will have 37 seats in the next Parliament, and out of (Continued on Page 6)
