Gifford-Large Nuptials

Greenbush United Church was the setting for a very pretty wedding on the afternoon of Saturday, September 28 at 3 o'clock when Mary Rosamond, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ethan Allen Gifford, Addison, was united in marriage to Ellsworth Field Large, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Large, of Charlottetown, P.E.I. The Rev. A. L. Mackay, of Montreal (friend of the groom), officiated at the ceremony and was assisted by Rev. H. E. Frair, of Addison.

The church was attractively decorated with autumn leaves and flowers and with white gladioli at the altar. The wedding music was played by Miss Helen Hollingsworth, of Ottawa, and during the signing of the register Mr. John G. Sutherland (also of Ottawa) sang the Panis Angelicus by Caesar Franck.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white slipper satin appliqued with corded silk taffeta in white orchid design the sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her full-length veil was arranged with gardenias and orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and baby 'mums.

Mrs. Lloyd Dixon, as matron of honour, wore a floor-length gown of pink jacquard crepe with a headdress of pink and white ostrich plumes and carried a nosegay of sweet peas, carnations and 'mums.

The groom was attended by Lt. Arthur Currie, R.C.N.V.R., of Ottawa. The ushers were the twin brothers of the bride, Donald, of Toronto, and Douglas of Guelph.

Following the ceremony the reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother, wearing a gown of silver foam gray crepe with matching hat and a corsage of pink roses, and the groom's mother wearing a gown of French blue wool with black accessories and a corsage of yellow 'mums assisted in receiving the guests.

Later the bride and groom left by train for Montreal and points east. They will take up residence in Saint John, N. B., where the groom is employed with Imperial Oil, Ltd. For travelling the bride wore a wool suit of fine shepherd's check with black accessories and a corsage of red carnations.

The bride is a graduate of the Ottawa Civic Hospital, School of Nursing. The groom was formerly a Lieutenant in the R. C. Navy and served for four and a half years at sea.

Other out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. Wilmot Large of Charlottetown, P. E. I.; Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Gifford, of Brockville; N. B. Pritchard, of Sherbrooke, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith, of Guelph; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Dixon of Winchester; Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Sutherland, Miss Bessie White, Miss Dorothy Smith, Reg. ## In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear father, Michael McCaughey, who passed away October 9, 1941.

Happy were the years together
Lonely are our hearts today
For the one we loved most dearly
From this world was called away.

In our hearts your memory lingers
Sweetly, tender, fond and true
There is not a day dear father,
That we do not think of you.

Sadly Missed by Sons and Daughters.

LAUCHLIN McKINNON

At Southampton on August 22nd, there passed to his eternal reward Lauchlin McKinnon at the age of 82 years.

Despite his advanced age the late Mr. McKinnon was unusually alert both physically and mentally until a few hours before his death and his sudden passing was a great shock to his family and friends.

The death of Mr. McKinnon has removed from the community a citizen of rare merit. Noted for his friendliness and hospitality, he was in every way an ideal neighbor.

His funeral on Sunday, 25th, to St. Peters was largely attended. Services at the church and grave were conducted by Rev. L. Landrigan. His wife and several children predeceased him.

To his sorrowing family the sympathy of the community is extended.

Card Of Thanks

The family of the late Mr. McKinnon wish to thank all who sent Mass Cards and assisted them in their recent bereavement.

Farewell Party

On the evening of September 27, 1946, the members of the Emyvale Women's Institute, met at the home of Mrs. Matthias Murray, to bid farewell to one of their members, Miss Helen Shreenan. The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. Matthias Murray who also read the address, while Miss Myrtle Costtelo presented Helen with a beautiful Rosary. Helen in a few well chosen words thanked the members for their gift and assured them that they would always be remembered by her. For She's a Jolly Good Fellow, was sung and a dainty lunch was then served by the ladies.

Following is the Address:

Dear Helen:—We the members of the Emyvale Women's Institute, have assembled here this evening for the purpose of expressing our sorrow, on learning of your departure from our midst.

We certainly shall miss your cheery greeting and your friendly smile, most of all your presence at our Institute meetings, where you were always willing to do your part towards helping out.

We shall miss your hospitality in the parish house; where we all at some time or another have partaken of your delicious cups of tea and enjoyed your company for a friendly chat.

Wishing to show our appreciation of your help and the esteem in which you were held by your fellow members of the Institute, we ask you Helen, to accept this small gift, as a token of our friendship and our happy evenings spent together. May God bless you and grant you the choicest of blessings wherever your work may chance to take you.

Signed on behalf of the Emyvale Women's Institute.

MRS. KATHLEEN MURRAY, President.

MYRTLE COSTELLO, Secretary.

The Girl From The Double R

pocket in the heart of the Nopoco range, its floor was level and bisected by a stream, its sides rising like great solid walls.

The next page gave more intimate views of the valley—views of big trees and parklike expanses of grass. And then, Rusty forgot the beauty of the scenery, for there was a notation—"October 5th. Grass still green; plenty of water in stream. Stream fed by springs. No bog land.

"A feeder's paradise," she murmured.

The final picture showed Hank crouched over a fire, iron spider balanced between the rocks, frying fish.

Softly Rusty quoted. "'A great place to camp. Stream rushes down in a roar, then spreads out in a green pool. There are big trees, and the ground beneath them is like a park.' Now where," she demanded, sitting up, "did I hear that? Oh—Decker—that night he proposed. He said we'd go there for our honeymoon. But could he—"

She scuttled downstairs for a map, located Low Valley and tried to relate it to Decker's ranch, the Four D. True, Decker owned some of the lower Nopocos.

"And he could have a valley of his own," she thought.

That night, Rusty sent a night letter to Ralph:

Feeders refusing stock. Need summer range. Must have place safe from black market rustlers. Is Low Valley possible? If so, wire where map can be found.

Ralph didn't wire. He air-mailed concise instructions and any number of warnings.

Low Valley is perfect for what you need; plenty of feed and water. It has protection at every point save the trail you will have to build out over the south wall. You'll need your bulldozer and tractor over one stretch —I've marked that on the map —but once that section is cleared, a one-man relay can handle the valley gate guard.

You'll have to take a surveyor in with you on your first trip. Have him lay your trail lines according to the history I drew up on the map.

I'd advise waiting until after the roundup, and, Rusty, if you can't find a vet who'll come out to vaccinate the calves, you'd better take up the offer that fellow made, the one Mother wrote about, and learn to do it yourself.

A small pleased smile softened Rusty's lips. If Ralph insisted she take that short course in animal first aid; if he believed it necessary, then she could go to Doctor Westmore with a clear conscience.

She read the last part of the letter:

Better keep your plans quiet. And for Pete's sake, don't ask Decker to ride herd on the new trail project. From what Mother writes, he's practically taken the Double R over. Haven't you women any mind of your own? If I were running things, he'd not know there was a valley accessible.
