"For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" was sung and Mr. Taylor was given a good old-fashioned bounce. A dainty lunch was then served by the ladies and the remainder of the evening spent in music and dancing. The guests departed at a late hour, wishing Mr. Taylor and his bride many years of happy wedded bliss. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were tendered a shower on Friday evening, October 19th, by the people of Granville and surrounding districts. Many beautiful and costly gifts were received which testify to the popularity in which the bride and groom are held.

Spain's Costly Revolution

MADRID, Nov. 12.—(A.P.)—Spain's ill-remembered, now forgotten but a lurid memory, was the bloodiest and most destructive in many decades. Although chiefly confined to Asturias and the autonomous region of Catalonia, it was estimated the movement cost 10 times as many lives as all the rest of the Spanish revolts in the last 50 years. The government has refrained from issuing any official casualty lists, and censorship has prevented accurate figures. But data carefully compiled by the Associated Press would seem to make the following estimates fairly conservative: Dead—3,500; wounded and injured—10,000; property loss, 4,000,000,000 pesetas (almost $500,000,000 at current exchange). The Asturias phase of the revolt accounted for about 3,000 of the dead, about 7,000 of the injured and approximately one half of the property damage. The capital city of Oviedo, once a delight to the eye, must now be rebuilt. Prisons today are crowded with rebels, and the overflow is handled by merchant marine and war department vessels converted into prison ships. It was estimated more than 20,000 persons were arrested in the course of the rebellion.

For months left wing factions, headed by the Socialists, had been buying arms and marshalling their forces. Then came the overwhelming victory of the leftists in congressional elections last November, and the Socialists became convinced that the time had come for a return to power by force. The strength of the leftists front was tried, and found satisfactory, by several general strikes. The Lerroux government was severely tested in the support of the general strike. The rebellions seemed to begin auspiciously. A wave of terrorism such as Spain had not seen in many years swept over the land. There were shootings, bombings, pillage; churches and convents were burned; sabotage and slaughter ruled.

The focal point of the uprising was the Socialist stronghold of Asturias, Spain's rich mining region, but the movement spread quickly. Rebels seized 400 towns and set up their own forms of government. There were raids on arms factories. But the new government, far from faltering, brought down a mailed fist. Martial law was declared, first in Asturias, then throughout the nation, and more than 60,000 troops were rushed to the spot. Police and 20,000 civil guards. The Spanish Foreign Legion and the Moorish regulars were ordered to the peninsula from Africa.

At this point the Separatist President of the Generalitat, Lluís Companys, thought he recognized opportunity. In the general turmoil he attempted to bring about a realization of his dream of an independent Republic of Catalonia. So he barricaded himself in the Generalitat Palace, confident that his life-long friend and fellow Catalan, General Domingo Batet, chief of the fourth division troops, would support the central government in defying the central government. General Batet, in those tense moments a man torn between the impulses of friendship and loyalty as a soldier, decided to remain a soldier. He opened a bombardment on the palace, and after a siege of 10 hours the single-starred flag of the Federal State of Catalonia fluttered down and Companys surrendered.

After two weeks of bitter fighting, the desperate Asturian insurgents laid down their arms, or fled to the mountains. There would appear to be a serious shortage of strike for domestic needs in Canada next spring as the 1934 production, plus the small carry-over, is not expected to exceed more than one-half normal requirements.—Dominion Seed Branch.

Remembrance Day was observed in Kensington with a service in the Presbyterian Church, the congregations from the surrounding districts attending. Rev. Mr. Crabb, of Geddes Memorial Church, was the speaker and delivered an eloquent sermon appropriate for the day. Special music was rendered by the choir. A duet was sung by Miss Miriam Proffitt and Mr. Parmenas Phillips.

AT SUMMERSIDE
The male choir had charge of the music at the evening service of the Summerside Presbyterian Church on Sunday. Appropriate hymns and anthems were sung. Mr. Hancock sang the solo parts of the anthems. Rev. Mr. Jeans preached an eloquent sermon.—S

ALBERTON FOX SHOW OPENED YESTERDAY

Large Attendance Despite Weather—Over 200 Entries.

The fox show at Alberton opened yesterday with over two hundred entries, there were six classes. The three quarter silver was the largest class, with twenty five entries in each section. Other classes were all well filled. Mr. F. G. Clark, President of the Prince Edward Island Fur Pool opened the show, which was held in the spacious building on the exhibition grounds. Mr. Clark complimented the exhibitors on the large number of exhibits and the excellent quality of the fur. He gave an interesting talk on the fur industry as it is today and also some valuable information on marketing of pelts. Mr. O'Brien, President of the Exhibition, also addressed the exhibitors.

There was a very good attendance considering the bad weather. Foxes shown came from all over Prince County as far east as Summerside and were the pick of the ranches. Mr. George Calbeck, President of the C. N. S. F. Breeders Association and Mr. Donald O. Stewart are the judges. Judging will start this morning.—S

First Division proposed by T. M. Fraser responded to by C. B. Rogers. To the army responded to by W. E. MacDonald. To the navy responded to by Dr. J. C. Simpson and Gerald Black, Amherst. ## Home is Lucky With Bequests

(By The Canadian Press)
WINNIPEG, Nov. 12.—The Old Folks Home at Middlechurch just outside the northern city limits was acquired from the Dominion government for $4,000—a sum of money derived from the sale of the McDermott Ave house, and from donations.

"We have always been lucky in special cases," said Mrs. Little, a great worker for the interests of the inmates. "An oldtime grocer, T. W. Smith, left us $10,000 and all his furniture and clothing. Churches in those days had fewer calls made upon them than today, and they all gave us donations. Yes, we have been indeed lucky, and consequently we have never had debts," Mrs. Little recalled, with maternal pride.

Mrs. Little points to the early days of Winnipeg when there were no old people. This was a young man's land. But in 1906 aged folk without home or means of support were found by Mrs. Margaret Scott. The first old man encountered would be a typical case. He was too old to care for himself, but he feared that being cared for by others would mean parting with the last of his possessions. This was a grim old wooden creak, the women—Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Little, and others—did not risk breaking an old man's heart, and the beloved timepiece went with him. That spirit has permeated the Middlechurch Old Folks' Home ever since.

Another early institution in which Mrs. Little played a part was the Canadian Women's Hostel. "People were flocking out to the new country, never a true Canadian, but there were Old Country families aboard. The story went on, of course, that husbands were as easily picked up as the proverbial gold bricks. So, girls came out here to find husbands. And plenty found them!"

Starting Drives To Tea Drinking
(By The Canadian Press)
MONTREAL, Nov. 12.—The old English habit of serving tea as a mid-morning and a mid-afternoon refreshment to employees in offices and factories will soon be more common in this country, according to F. E. B. Gourlay, commissioner of the Dominion Tea Industry. Mr. Gourlay announced a long drive would be launched to increase the consumption of Empire-grown tea in Canada.

The campaign, he said, will extend to a five-year period and will be financed by the tea growers through an export tax on the tea placed in effect by the Ceylon government. One of the objectives will be encouragement of the tea-tween meals tea-drinking habit in business houses and workshops.

Mr. Gourlay pointed out that in Ceylon alone more than 600,000 workers are employed in the tea industry, never a true Canadian, but there were Old Country families aboard. The story went on, of course, that husbands were as easily picked up as the proverbial gold bricks. So, girls came out here to find husbands. And plenty found them!"

Question Women's Eligibility as Municipal Candidates
(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
YARMOUTH, N. S., Nov. 11.—Campfire carelessness almost brought death to Joe Burrill while he slept in a roughly built lean-to, his heavy breath began to blow and the fire started to spread. Reaching his side, the heat discharged his rifle, and the shot lodged in a bundle scarcely an inch from Burrill's body.

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 12.—The intention of several women to enter the municipal elections here has raised a question of their eligibility as candidates without being assessed as property owners. A judge may be asked to rule on the question. Officials point out that because a woman is a wife of a person assessed, she is entitled to vote, but she does not qualify as a candidate.

Sir Wilfred T. Grenfell

GRENFELL MAY RETIRE FROM LABRADOR
Sir Wilfred T. Grenfell, whose pioneer medical work on windswept Labrador has brought him world-wide fame and praise, thinks he is through pushing behind dog teams, and plans to "take it easy" for more than 12 years. Sir Wilfred has been erecting hospitals, orphanages and schools in his "little kingdom." Aboard his hospital ship, Strathcona II, aided by enthusiastic helpers, the doctor annually cruised up and down the rocky Labrador coast, treating patients, and helping troubled natives.

Trade Prospects Brighten As Result Of U.S. Election

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
MONTREAL, Nov. 11.—In a dispatch from its Ottawa correspondent, the Gazette today discusses the possibility of a mutually advantageous trade treaty between the United States and Canada being negotiated shortly. The sweep made by supporters of President Roosevelt in the off year elections, the paper says, giving the administration almost complete senatorial dominance of the Atlantic seaboard, and the strong position held by the Democratic party in the Western States are known to have revived hopes for a commercial deal between the two countries.

"Fish, cattle and lumber," the paper says, "continue to be, as they have been in previous negotiations, the commodities which Canadian producers would like to sell in much larger quantities to the United States while some consideration to the Maritime potato growers, particularly to enable them to dispose of this season's heavy crop, would also be warmly welcomed."

"The almost insuperable obstacle to a larger sale of Canadian fish in Boston has been the Gloucester fishermen who were instrumental in having the heavy duty of two cents per pound imposed on the Canadian products. This duty, together with the fact that the Canadian fishermen were fortunate if they got 1-2 cents a pound for their catch, made the Boston market practically inaccessible."

Situation Improved
The paper says the political situation has now improved, with a solid Democratic representation in the Senate from Massachusetts as well as a Democrat, "Jim" Curley, elected governor of the state. It states people of the Maritime Provinces declare that if the statement issued from the State Department of Washington last February meant anything, now is the opportunity to prove it was a serious document.

"A considerable amount of business is still being done in fish with the United States," the paper continues, "but not in the volume or in the kinds that are regarded as most lucrative to the Maritime people. In 1929, one of the peak years, Canadian fish exports to the United States were valued at $15,514,000; in the next year they dropped by about $500,000; in 1931 they declined to $13,000,000 and in 1932 they had dropped to $10,500,000 and the downward movement has continued to the present time. A 50 percent reduction or complete removal of that duty of two cents per pound would give the Canadians a most attractive market in Boston."

Maritime Potato Exports
"Of deep interest to the Maritime Provinces, too, is the possibility of adjusting the market situation for their potatoes. As a result of the present season's operations Canada has an exportable surplus of 7,500,000 bushels but against this there is a production in the United States of 40,000,000 bushels. Canada and the United States each have a duty of 75 cents per hundredweight against the other's product. A substantial reduction of this duty by the United States in spite of the large surplus in that country would give Canadian growers an important

THE DOERS AND HELP BRING OUT THE BROTHERHOOD OF MAN

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass., Nov. 15.—"The amelioration of women dates from the introduction of mass production, for with this new freedom came opportunities for them to make worthwhile spiritual and intellectual contributions to the world," said Miss Frances Perkins, United States Secretary of Labor, in speaking here at exercises celebrating the 97th anniversary of the founding of Mount Holyoke College.

"It is the doer and not the verbalist who make the most valuable contributions," said Miss Perkins. "You who stay here must be doing if you have social vision and wish to help bring about the brotherhood of man for which we all long."

Order Arrest Of Church Personages

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
MEXICO CITY, Nov. 11.—Police received orders today to arrest Leopoldo Ruiz Y Flores, papal delegate to Mexico, and Jose de Jesus Manrique Y Zarate, Bishop of Huejutla, Hidalgo, on charges that they fostered rebellion.

The orders were issued by Attorney General Fortes Gil after he had investigated allegedly seditious activities by the Catholic clergy. Both Ruiz Y Flores and Manrique Y Zarate are in exile in the United States. The attorney general instructed police to take them into custody if they tried to re-enter the country.

No charges were brought against Pascual Diaz, Archbishop of Mexico, who has continued his religious duties here, or other functionaries of the church in Mexico. The accusations against Ruiz Y Flores and Manrique Y Zarate were based on letters they had written. The government held that matter in the letters violated religious laws and constituted incitement to rebellion.

Rayon From Slash Pine

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 11.—Rayon made from slash pine is the latest fashion note in Georgia. The synthetic yarn has been made from wood pulp by the state engineering experiment station at Georgia Tech and research workers are studying the possibilities of its commercial production. The pine pulp used in the experiment is the same as that from which Dr. Charles E. Herty has made rayon.

QUESTION WOMEN'S ELIGIBILITY AS MUNICIPAL CANDIDATES
HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 12.—The intention of several women to enter the municipal elections here has raised a question of their eligibility as candidates without being assessed as property owners. A judge may be asked to rule on the question. Officials point out that because a woman is a wife of a person assessed, she is entitled to vote, but she does not qualify as a candidate.
