PHANTOM ENEMY RAIDER APPEARS OFF WEST INDIES

Greeks Advance Into Albania; Tommies Help British Ferry Troops Across Mediterranean; No Opposition From Fascists.

(By Max Harrelson, Associated Press Staff Writer)

ATHENS, Nov. 24—(AP)—British soldiers, forced from Europe last summer on the fall of France, have regained a continental foothold on the Greek mainland, it was disclosed tonight as Greek troops pushed on into Albania.

British warships transported an undisclosed number of soldiers across the Mediterranean without interference from Italian planes or warships, it was reported, and landed them at Greek ports some time ago. They were welcomed enthusiastically by the populace and since have been aiding the Royal Air Force in its battle against the Italians.

In the Greek-Italian fighting, a Greek spokesman said, advance units of the Greek army have reached Pogradetz, about 25 miles north of Koritza, the base which was captured last week from the Italians.

Hundreds Arrive for New Roles

Servicemen Describe Crossing as "Un-eventful"; Some are Invalided Home.

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Nov. 24—(CP)—Hundreds of men in uniform scattered throughout Canada tonight to play new roles in the war against the Axis. They came from Britain aboard a big, sombre-colored liner that was flying the flag of the Belians, when her passengers streamed ashore today to put their feet on land for the first time in 13 days.

Their voyage, the servicemen said, was entirely uneventful except for a lashing Atlantic storm. Submarines were reported near a few days out but they did not attack.

Men of all three services lined the piers, shouting good wishes and some yelling for Canadian officers; American pilots who have officers, as the ocean-going vessel tied up.

Many of them were able to tell firsthand stories of the conflict. There were Royal Air Force youths coming to Canada for training that will fit them for active duty; R. A. F. officers to help instruct them; and to do other tasks; R. C. A. F. officers; American pilots who have officers; American pilots who have officers; American pilots who have officers.

Desert Patrol Wins Victory Over Italians

(By Edward Kennedy, Associated Press Staff Writer)

WITH THE BRITISH DESERT FORCES IN EGYPT, Nov. 24—(AP)—Out of the silent desert came the news of a British desert patrol's victory over Italian forces in a six-hour battle on Nov. 19.

The official communique dismissed it with a few lines, but to these desert-wise men it was the most important encounter between British and Italian forces here since the Italians pushed their advance base to Sidi Barrani last September.

The "little party"—as they put it—took place at Hiliqut, 15 miles south of Sidi Barrani in the 70-mile-wide, no-man's-land between the Italian and British lines.

The fight started at 8 a.m. when Italian planes dive-bombed and machine-gunned one of the British desert patrols in the area. As such attacks usually precede Fascist hand movements, British headquarters, upon hearing about it by wireless, immediately sent out

Two N. B. Boys Fatally Injured While coasting

CAMPBELLTON, N. B., Nov. 24—(CP)—Joseph Ross, 19 and Joseph Kierstead, 9, were injured fatally in a coasting accident Saturday evening and another boy, Clifton Robinson, escaped with a scalp wound.

The trio were sliding down a hill when their toboggan collided with a truck driven by Harry Poey, Campbellton. The boys tried to steer the toboggan into a ditch but it swung into the front of the truck.

Ross, the head of the toboggan, was killed instantly. Kierstead died in hospital a few hours later. Robinson, on the rear of the toboggan suffered only a minor scalp injury. No inquest will be held.

Prime Minister Of Northern Ireland dead

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Nov. 24—(CP)—Vicount Craigavon, 69, first Prime Minister of Northern Ireland and bitter opponent of proposals for union with Eire, collapsed and died tonight at Glen Crafe, his County Down home near here. His death was attributed to a heart ailment.

Lord Craigavon, who had been Prime Minister of Northern Ireland since the establishment of the Ulster government in 1921, worked right up to the end.

He attended the last session of the Northern Ireland House of Commons Tuesday and was occupied even today with government matters.

The Prime Minister had not been well recently, working under the severe strain of war-time conditions.

Newsman Gives Vivid Account Of British Life

The following story he gives a vivid account of the British situation and life in London.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 23—(AP)—Britons, tremendously stimulated by events of the last few weeks, are starting to rebuild their pocket-marked capital as earnestly as Hitler's forces try to tear it down.

They feel they have won the battle for survival.

They seem to have lost any fear whatsoever of bombing or invasion. The bombing of the Italian fleet at Taranto gave them a tremen-

Pope Prays For "Peace In Our Days"

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 24—(AP)—Pope Pius XII, in an impassioned prayer for peace in our days, pleaded anew today for an end to the whirlwinds of war that in the light of day or in the dark of night scatter terror, fire, destruction and slaughter on humble folk.

The Pontiff, vigorous of voice, broadcast his 20-minute homily from the Basilica of St. Peter's, where he had just concluded a special mass for the war dead.

He called for a new golden rule of war, urging that combatants, under no circumstances, "do to others that which they would not have done to themselves or their country," and to fight the war as humanely as possible.

For the text of his homily the Pope referred to Christ's answer to the Apostles as to what would be the sign of the world's end, concluding: "You shall hear of wars and rumors of wars. See that you not be troubled. For these things must come to pass, but the end indeed is not yet come."

"We must not be troubled," he said. "But nonetheless the present hour is a phase in the so-called story of humanity predicted by Christ."

Swiss hear Nazi Leaves are cancelled

BERNE, Switzerland, Nov. 24—(AP)—Reports reaching here said all leaves have been cancelled in the German army of occupation of Alsace and Lorraine. No explanation was given for the German troops' movements from Baden to Alsace continued.

Enemy feels Heavy blows From R.A.F.

LONDON, Nov. 24—(CP)—In one of the mightiest attacks yet in its ever-broadening offensive, the Royal Air Force drove home shattering blows at both ends of the Rome-Berlin Axis from Turin, Italy, to the Nazi-held continental coast by way of Berlin, the Air Ministry announced today.

Another heavy attack opened on the coast tonight in the Boulonne area. As the attack spread, the coastline was lit up for miles by anti-aircraft fire and by fires dropped by the R.A.F. as they searched out their targets.

An hour after the raids started the fighting was still going on and English ships were fired with anti-aircraft guns and by fires dropped by the R.A.F. as they searched out their targets.

From Saturday's dusk to today's dawn British bombers leapt at it and returned home with accounts of blazing destruction left in their vital objectives as Berlin's Palaststrasse and Leichter street were blown to smithereens. Kenyon works and the Royal Arsenal and the Fiat works at Turin.

First Hints Of Nazi Action Against Greeks

BERLIN, Nov. 24—(AP)—The first chilly warning to Greece from Germany came tonight in a statement by the Foreign Office spokesman, Deutsche Diplomatische Anstalt, as Premier John Metaxas, of Greece, has "made himself openly a tool of the British policy of spreading war."

The statement came shortly after Slovakia, tiny nation made up of the remnant of Czechoslovakia, had signed the Axis military and economic pact and promised to rush to the aid of Germany, Italy and Japan should they be attacked by some outside power not already at war.

The publication contended that General Metaxas' statement that he is fighting for all the Balkans was "extraordinarily risky and dangerous."

"By such a statement," Korrespondenz said, "Metaxas has made himself openly a tool of the British policy of spreading war."

"Europe" today stands against "Whoever in the face of consequences wishes to stand outside of the German sphere and sacrifice his own people to the whims of the changing of the order of the day brings ruin to the one at fault."

The statement by the Foreign Office was the first notable instance where any German mouthpiece has warned Greece of the full possible consequences of her refusal to capitulate before the demands of Italy, Germany's original Axis partner.

Nazis Shell Kent Coast; 3 Enemy Planes Downed

LONDON, Nov. 24—(CP)—The Germans lunged unsuccessfully at London today and peppered the Kent coast "shell's corner" with air bombs and shells from long range guns across the channel, then with the setting sun launched their nightly assault on the capital.

The day's subdued activity followed a night of heavy attacks lasting several hours on a town in southern England where the Government announced some persons were killed and considerable damage done.

For an hour German batteries opposite Dover tossed shells across the sunlit channel today and Nazi planes dropped bombs at several points in Kent but failed to inflict casualties or damage, the air ministry said.

The Air Ministry announced two bombers and a Messerschmitt fighter were downed in the day's spasmodic air fighting.

Nazi Official Leaves Turkey; Has Answer?

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Nov. 24—(AP)—The military attaché of the German Embassy left for Berlin by plane tonight, unofficially reported to be carrying confidential memoranda on the results of a conference which Nazi Ambassador Franz von Papen had with the Turkish Foreign Minister Saturday.

The Turkish press meanwhile laid considerable stress on its statements that the recent invocation of martial law in vital parts of Turkey was a purely defensive measure against any possible surprise attack.

The Government newspaper Ulus said the extraordinary defence regulations were ordered enforced "after Italian attacks on Greece in our zone of security."

"Except for this they have no further meaning," the paper continued. "We shall never permit material or moral weakness to pave the way for a surprise attack against us."

Yeni Sabah said Germany is trying to conceal the increasing importance of United States aid to Britain by drafting recruits for the Axis. But this, it added, was "like trying to cover the noise of bombs with firecrackers."

British Steamer Shelled; Fate Of Ship Unknown

PORT HOBART REPORTS SUSPICIOUS VESSEL SEVENTY FIVE MILES OUTSIDE NEUTRALITY BELT BEFORE SILENCE CLOSURES DOWN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24—(AP)—A phantom sea raider shelled the British steamship Port Hobart off the West Indies today, invading a cross-road of Great Britain's extended sea lanes.

The attack was accompanied by an intensification of the submarine siege of Great Britain by the Axis powers off Ireland.

The assault on the Port Hobart, a vessel usually in the England-Australia trade via the Panama Canal, again brought the sea war to the outskirts of the so-called neutrality zone set up by the Pan-American republics.

Ploughing through waters where British sea-borne commerce from South America converges with vessels from the canal, the 9,430-ton freighter was 500 miles northeast of Puerto Rico—approximately 75 miles outside the neutrality belt—when it finished work it had started a "suspicious vessel."

That was at 11:47 a. m. AST. Twenty-five minutes later MacKay Radio picked a second terse signal from the Port Hobart: "Being shelled by raider."

Since then the fate of the freighter and the identity of its attacker, which shipping circles said might be one of Germany's two pocket battleships or one of a dozen fast Nazi freighters thought by maritime men to have been armed and sent forth to prey on shipping.

The attack marked the first appearance of a surface raider since Nov. 5, when a German warship of the Admiral Graf Spee class attacked a 35-ship convoy midway between Newfoundland and Ireland.

The gallant stand in the face of overwhelming odds of the escorting merchant cruiser Jervis Bay enabled all but four of the ships in the convoy to escape the raider.

Several hours before the Port Hobart's appeal today, MacKay Radio intercepted a call for help from the Swedish freighter Anten.

The Anten was crippled Saturday by a submarine after picking up survivors of the Irish coast where two British steamships had been torpedoed earlier.

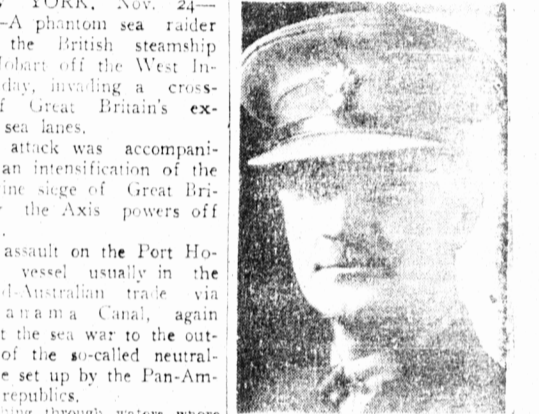

The Swedish ship reported it was drifting due east and in need of "compass bearings and assistance."

A third vessel, which MacKay Radio said identified herself by the calls letters "Glo", expressed that an unknown vessel had been torpedoed "18 miles off Inishtrahull," the northernmost tip of Ireland.

MacKay Radio also picked up a call from the 4,817-ton British freighter Tebhata reporting she had sighted a "suspicious vessel" about 500 miles west of Ireland. No further word was heard from her.
