The Prodigal's Life Dramatically Told in Wonderful Pictures

THE story is that of a young man, who having by his extravagances and wild deeds made a street beggar of his aged father, suffers a career of unbelievable hardship, but finally returns home—a man.

SHOWN FOR THE LAST TIME TONIGHT

A HISTORIC EVENT of tremendous interest and significance is reconstructed, it is not belittled by some petty intrigue having no bearing on the real issue; the scenes depicted are veritable pictures, based on the conceptions of a Russian battle painter; the scenes are laid on the exact locations where the events occurred; every detail is so carefully worked out that the production will be ranked among the classics in moving pictures; and the final effect is a powerful one, the story ending as it did the selfish and useless campaign.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Flowers have a direct influence on health and beauty.

Spare ribs are much improved by par-boiling before roasting.

Meat broths should be made only in porcelain or agate ware utensils.

To remove stains from paints, rub them with a soft cloth wet with alcohol.

To beat the whites of eggs stiff, always have them cold and add a pinch of salt.

Camphorated oil will clean the marks made by hot dishes on the polished table.

Open canned fruit or vegetables and pour into a dish several hours before they are served.

A gas stove should be wiped of each time it is used and washed with turpentine once a week.

Prunes are greatly improved if a little cider is added to the water in which they are cooked.

For creaming butter or butter and sugar, a perforated spoon will be found more convenient than a fork or the hand.

The new arrival at the London hotel owed allegiance to the Kaiser. "From Potsdam I was come," he announced.

"A fine place, sir," remarked the manager politely.

"Dere vos a petter?"

"Yes, Herr."

"Nain, Ohm?"

"Ohm? In-er Germany, of course?"

"Donnerwetter, nein; in this country—in Britain."

"Ohm," repeated the manager reflectively.

"Ya, I vos come from Potsdam to see Ohm. I vos at der concert in Potsdam, and I hear her great Angliish courrant sing hat, 'Der is no black like Ohm,' an all der British peopel in der concert cry like der little babies. Dot must be der vunderful blues Ohm to make der British cry. I tink to myself, I will go and see dis black Ohm, vot der vos no place like. Now, vich is der way to Ohm."

SPRING SHOWING AT PATONS TO-DAY

Now that the early spring days are here and the sun is daily growing brighter and warmer, the attention of all is naturally drawn to lighter and daintier clothes, than the warm substantial coats and suits, so necessary for the cold winter weather of P. E. Island.

Patons, while making over their nicely appointed store, were looking away ahead to these balmy days and ordered for the ladies of Charlottetown a diversity of models, styles and materials, exceeding anything ever before attempted in that line and today present their early spring showing.

TRAPPY COATS

The features of this season's new coats are the loose kimono sleeves, large fancy buttons, shawl and notched collars, while the Sport Coats are made of vivid colors, large check and over-plaids.

Already these smart becoming Sport Coats are a topic among the rising generation of this city and each day one hears the remark "Oh I want a Sport Coat for Easter."

Now is the time to order it, and Patons is the place, as the coats to be shown there today are designed to meet the requirements of the early spring season, but at the same time they'll be dandy for the chilly twinnings of summer.

For the young Miss the exceedingly smart Blazer is strikingly nice and is positively the latest New York style. Models shown are of heavy wool checked in scarlet, sax, navy and brown with wide belts all around and two large pockets.

Red is largely worn and a pretty Red Sport Coat is shown of Bedford worsted with tailored collar and revers and sleeves finished very trap and the same style carried out in tan makes an ideal spring wrap as the visitors will see.

SPRING SUITS

That the growing preference for plaid in one's costume has spread is plainly shown in the models to be exhibited today. It is used in a variety of ways—to suit the individual taste of the wearer. For instance one suit displayed had a coat of plain grey wool ratine with cuffs and collar of fancy plaid with a litching peg top skirt of

A MODEL SHOWN AT PATON'S: plaid, or if desired the coat could also be had plaid to match.

There are plaid waist-coats shown which lighten a dark serge or broad cloth suit of blue or black, in fact the waist coat seems a welcome addition to the majority of tilted jackets which are the ultra style and which are widely displayed today.

Many of the suits also have the Bulgarian girdle which is most attractive.

Brocaded cloths are very much worn this season and many models are shown in blues, blacks and tans for the stouter ladies, while for the slimmer ones comes the checks and fancy cloths.

SMARTER STYLES

The suits this year are decidedly smarter than last season and even RESERVE NEXT MONDAY. That is the date of the old fashioned concert in St. James Hall, 1581.

ISLAND PRIEST.—Rev. Albert L. Canill, ordained last June for the Diocese of Providence, R. I., has been loaned to Archbishop Bruchesi for a term, and is doing good work as assistant to Rev. Dr. Brady, at St. Agnes Church, Montreal. Father Canill is a Prince Edward Islander. Without things have changed since he gloried in debate, he must be a very effective preacher, says the Catholic Register.

THE LEGISLATURE.—The third session of the thirty-seventh General Assembly of Prince Edward Island opens this afternoon at three o'clock in the Provincial Building, Charlottetown. There will be a Guard-of-honour of Militia to receive His Honor the Lieut. Governor on his arrival at the Building, while coincident with the opening of the House is a salute of fifteen guns to be fired by the Artillery from the fort. The reply to the Address will be moved by Mr. A. P. Prosser. M. L. A., Murray Harbour, and will be seconded by Mr. L. Jenkins, M. L. A., of Wiltshire.

OLD FASHIONED CONCERT.—See the anxious young mother at the Ladies' Aid Meeting in St. James Hall on the 15th. 1581.

RESIDENCE PURCHASED.—Hon. J. A. Matheson, Premier, has purchased the beautiful residence on the Corner of Grafton and West Streets, erected and owned by Frank R. Hearty, and for some years occupied by his mother. Mrs. Benj. Hearty. The residence was built at a cost of $7,500.

POLICE COURT.—At the Police Court in Charlottetown, Tuesday, George J. McCormack was convicted of first offence against the Prohibition Act and fined $100 and costs. A lad named Collier, employed with Dr. J. T. Jenkins, was convicted of the value of $20 from the cellar of his employer; the sentence to be imposed upon the lad when called upon.

CORNWALL W. M. S. Mite Box opening and concert. In spite of the unavoidable absence of several earnest workers, and the condition of the roads, quite a large number gathered at the Parsonage and a very enjoyable evening was spent on Thursday, March 5th. Mrs. Pope Crosby, active and genial, President of the W. M. S. had charge of the proceedings. She was also elected delegate to the general meeting of the branch to be held at Charlottetown in June. A very interesting program was rendered, the choir acquitting themselves splendidly. Mrs. William Howard was in fine voice and the rendering of her solo was a musical treat. Mrs. Gordon McMillan sang very sweetly and her accompanist at a most wildly excited person was Mrs. Howatt who was visiting her. Mrs. Frank Howard and Miss Emma McMillan gave readings. Refreshments choice and plentiful, were dispensed. The pastor, Rev. George Orman presided.

The Provincial Grand Orange Lodge of P. E. Island will be held in Charlottetown on Wednesday, March 11th at the hour of 1:30 o'clock p.m., in the Kindergarten Hall, Prince St. 1471-3-4M51.

THE MODISH BLOUSE

Don't rely on the old waist pattern to make the new blouse of soft silk, net or lace, which will accompany the spring tailored suit. No matter how tried and true that pattern is, and how satisfactorily it fits over one's curves, and into one's angles, it is out of style this season. Put it away until small armholes come in again, and use a new pattern with no armholes at all, and the soft blouse effect around the waistline, which is now the mode. If it is of silk, cord the 3-arms that separate the yoke-panels from the all body of the blouse. If it is of lace or net and must be lined, cut the lining by the same pattern and allow the two sheer fabrics to fall softly together in the same folds.

White net is peculiarly lovely in company with pearls and a string of pearl beads, even if the faintest imitation of genuine pearls, will give charm to a V-necked blouse of white net. A pretty blouse, noted in a shop window the other day, was of white net over flesh pink chiffon. There was a little collar of the net edged with a net fringe, and under the collar passed a silk cord, which was tied at the front of the blouse in a loose knot. On the ends of the cord were big pearl beads, three on each end, and pearl buttons of the same size ornamented the blouse.

Under these thin blouses are worn fascinating little brassieres of lace and ribbon. There is no article—just a strip of lace passing around the figure at the bust line, with ribbon straps over the shoulders. Some woman has hit upon the clever notion of sewing tiny snap fasteners to the edge of the brassiere and around the folds of the blouse lining, so that by a pinch of the finger holes, and brassiere cannot possibly slip or sag under the blouse.

are Crepe, Serges, Ben Hurs, Resida, Corda, San Toys, Venetians, Honey Comb cloths, lovely shaded Brocade, while the Carreans, Crepe Marcella, Etamine, Suede tan, Golfords, Eponges, Bouc Cloth, Novelty Crepes, Crepe Linens are many other weaves which drape beautifully and wear still better.

Ladies who are now planning their Spring gowns and dresses should visit Patons' today and see this special showing.

One very noticeable thing about the suits, skirts and goods, is the prevalence of black and white which is being used in every manner, as a trimming, for suits come in Shepherd's plaid or one can have a natty black and white skirt for summer shirt waists, so largely is it shown.

The suits and coats range in prices from $10 to $28.50 so that the range is large for easy choosing.

Patons' extend a heart-invitation to visitors and residents to call at their store today and see this special showing.
