BURNS — ROGERS

In the presence of their immediate families, a pretty wedding was solemnized in the United Church manse at North Bedeque, on Tuesday, August 6th at 6 o'clock in the evening, when Dorothy Campbell, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Rogers of Lower Freetown became the bride of Jesse Cameron, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Roy Burns also of Lower Freetown. Rev Ralph Wagner performed the ceremony.

The bride was lovely in a street length dress of powder blue crepe with matching flower hat and white accessories, and wore a corsage of Ellen Poulson roses and maiden hair fern Her only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the bride-groom The bridesmaid, Miss. Winnifred Burns, sister of the bride-groom, chose for her dress pink silk jersey with white hat and accessories, and wore a corsage of red roses. The bride-groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. R. In Memoriam

DONALD MacKENZIE

The people of Kensington have lost an outstanding citizen in the person of Donald Mackenzie, in his eighty-fifth year, after a lingering illness, which he bore with Christian patience and fortitude, which was characteristic of his whole life.

He was born in Springfield in 1861, the son of John Mackenzie and Bessie MacKay, where with his father and brothers he farmed extensively, until 1900 when he moved to Kensington and went into the mercantile business, where for more than forty years he was closely associated with all that pertained to the betterment of his adopted town. For many years an elder in the United Church of Kensington, his place in Church and prayer-meeting and Sunday School was never vacant, as long as health and strength permitted, and he gave freely of his time and means to advance the cause of the Kingdom, especially the work of Home and Foreign Missions.

The funeral was held on Thursday, July 25th, at 2 p.m. in the United Church, which was filled to overflowing with friends and relatives from far and near. His pastor, Rev. L. M. Murray, conducted the service and spoke from the text "and Enoch walked with God." He was assisted by a former pastor, and life-long friend, Rev. A. D. Stirling, who spoke in touching terms of the deceased, and by Rev. Dr. A. D. Mackenzie formerly of Regina, and now of Charlottetown, and Rev D. MacDonald, a returned missionary from South Africa, both cousins of the deceased. The burial was in the Kensington cemetery, the pall bearers being Messrs. W. L. Johnston, Wesley Champion, W. L. Cotton, Bruce Paynter, Harold Laird, and James Sheen.

Mr. Mackenzie was twice married, his first wife being Ella Walker of Kensington, and his second wife Mabel Brown of Margate, who, with one son Gerald, of Kensington, and daughter Doris of Toronto, are left to mourn the loss of a loving husband and father. Two other children, Lorne and Jean passed away in their early teens.

Of a large family there are left to mourn two brothers and two sisters, J. A. Mackenzie of Kensington, Dr. A. B. Mackenzie of Saskatoon, and Mrs. D. A. MacKay, formerly of Charlottetown, but now residing in Toronto, and Mrs. J. L. Lockhart, Charlottetown.

The floral tributes were many and very beautiful.

The government announcement declared the steady stream of immigrants pouring out of Europe in excess of British-approved quotas was a Zionist-financed and "highly-organized movement . . . which has been built up and put into operation by unscrupulous persons in an attempt to force the hand of His Majesty's Government and anticipate their decision on future policy in Palestine."

The announcement said the present situation was unfair to the regular Jewish immigrants certified under the legal 1,500 monthly quota.

The organizers of the illegal immigrant traffic, the statement said, "maintain a closely knit network of agents in the countries of eastern and southern Europe, by whom considerable numbers of displaced Jews are moved from points of departure as far distant as Poland down to the Mediterranean seaboard.

"Thence, herded into overcrowded and unseaworthy ships with insufficient food and in conditions of the utmost privation and squalor, they are brought across the Mediterranean, inspired by a conviction carefully instilled into them that this is their only road to safety.

"In all the process the laws and regulations of the countries concerned are ignored. Identity and ration cards, travel documents, are forged on a large scale; food, clothing, medical supplies and transport provided by U.N.R.R.A. and other agencies for the relief of suffering in Europe are diverted to the maintenance of what is openly described as the 'underground railway to Palestine.'"

The government said the traffic presented a grave danger to law and order in Palestine.

In Paris, where the Jewish agency executive is conferring, agency chairman David Ben Gurion commented that "it is not yet sure that Mr. Bevin (British Foreign Secretary) should have the last word in history," and Berl Locker, British member of the executive, predicted the decision would result in "much more suffering." Mrs. Goldie Meyerson, leader of the Jewish Federation in Palestine, exclaimed, "It is almost beyond belief!"

Stating that continuation of such traffic was likely to have an adverse effect on hopes for a settlement in Palestine, the British announcement said "urgent representations" were made to governments of countries from which the immigrants are dispatched, "in order to stop the traffic at its source."

Labor Minister

will have to be increases. What we have to do is not to hold the line but to make a new line."

Lt. Col. Cecil Merritt, V. C. (PC-Vancouver - Burrad) asked whether it was government policy to maintain prices and wage control regardless of how much pressure was applied.

"I don't know," Mr. Mitchell replied. "If a nation goes on a rampage there is not much you can do about it. The whole thing relies on the self-discipline of the Canadian people. Our policy is to maintain it now, I can't talk about six or 12 months hence."

Col. Merritt suggested the government should make a clear statement of policy on wages for the guidance of the committee. Mr. Mitchell disagreed.

The letter which Mr. Gordon filed with the committee complained that evidence he had given had been "seriously misinterpreted and misunderstood", particularly by the wage committee of the Canadian Congress of Labor.

"Under some probing I suggested that a pattern of increases of more than 10 cents-an-hour would create great difficulty and probably break down price control,' Mr. Gordon said. "And I stand by that statement. If a pattern on wage increases of that order is attempted it is just too much—too much to be absorbed now or soon."

The breaking point would vary in different industries. As an example he said some industries could stand increases of as high as 10 cents while others could not grant any increases without seeking price increases.

Even more serious than the immediate price increases which would flow from excessive wage increases would be the loss of public support for the price control program.

"I emphasize that I cannot say 10 cents is the exact breaking point—that is a matter of judgment and in my opinion even a 10-cent pattern would make things extremely difficult," he said.

The C. C. L. had criticized him for making no previous statement on how far wage increases should go.

"If we are open to criticism it must be for letting the wage question enter into our thinking in the first place," he said.

It was proper for labor to point out that increased productivity permitted higher wages, that higher wages increased efficiency and that in some cases profits might be reduced but a sense of perspective had to be maintained.

Mr. Gordon's letter came in for some discussion early in the afternoon session when C. S. Jackson of Toronto, Canadian director of the United Electrical Workers (C.I.O.), was before the committee.

Mr. Jackson, under questioning by C. E. Johnston (SC-Bow River) said he challenged the suggestion of Mr. Gordon that wages were exceeding prices. Over a period of years wages had followed prices. Mr. Gordon had failed to substantiate his opinion that there should be a 10-cent limit.

The increase in the price of steel had included the assumption that labor would get a 10-cent increase, but there had been no immediate readiness on the part of the industry to pass it on to the workers.

King's County M.P. Urges Inclusion Of P.E.I. Commissioner

The following excerpt from Hansard report of House of Commons proceedings Aug 9 is in connection with a Bill for the beautification of Ottawa and the appointment of a Commission of fifteen or more commissioners. Dr. Grant's protest was against the Bill providing for only one Maritime member.

Mr. T. V. Grant (Kings, P.E.I.): "Mr. Speaker, as the senior member for perhaps the most beautiful province in Canada—and I am very modest in using the word 'perhaps'—I should like to place on record one principle, one ideal; and I shall not delay the house if I am given a good hearing. The hon. member for Fraser Valley (Mr. Cruickshank) and the hon. member for New Westminster (Mr. Reid) have stated that there is a member from their province on this commission, and I thank them for coming out in the open and saying that there should be a member on the commission representing each province. I do not believe in large commissions, but if we are to have at least fifteen members I think I would be safe in saying that this bill will not pass before Christmas if each province is not represented."

Mr. MacKenzie: "Maritime rights."

Mr. Grant: "Maritime rights. The hon. member for Ottawa West (Mr. McIlraith) got around it very nicely when he said that there would be a member representing each part of Canada. He would consider the Maritime Provinces as a part of Canada. I want the hon. member and others to remember that Confederation was born if not conceived in Charlottetown, the capital of Prince Edward Island. God himself decorated that province and we do not have to decorate it ourselves. Therefore we are ready to bear our equal share of the decorating and beautification of Ottawa. I ask the government to reconsider this matter. Since there are to be so many members on the commission, each province should be represented."

(On the following day, Aug. 10 the Acting Minister of Justice announced that the Bill was being amended, providing for at least one commissioner for each of the nine Provinces.)

Ask For Release Of Cement Supplies

SYDNEY, N.S., Aug. 12 — (CP) — The Sydney Carpenters Union tonight sent messages to Ottawa asking for immediate release of cement supplies and declaring that lack of the material presented Cape Breton with its principal building problem.

The messages, addressed to Reconstruction Minister Howe and Donald Gordon, chairman of the Prices Board, asked for the cement to alleviate the crippling of building operations which had already caused lay-offs in one Sydney contracting firm.

The Union said in its telegram that Halifax was reported to have received "72,000 bags of cement over and above its quota for August."

Two Sydney firms were said to have received 2,000 bags each, their quota for August. It was said that two others had failed to get their August quota and prospects for next month were "pretty grim."

The Union also sought help from City Council through Deputy Mayor Tony Gallagher who promised full support and co-operation of the body. He sent messages to Mr. Howe and Mr. Gordon asking them to come to the relief of the building trades in Sydney and the rest of Cape Breton-Island.

SPARE POWDER BOX IN HOT WEATHER

The more sparingly make-up is applied the cleaner and crisper your skin will look during the dog days. What seems impossible to achieve in face-mopping weather —a well-groomed skin—is a cinch if you'll go easy on make-up, will put it on with the help of a magnifying mirror, and will go over your finished job with a complexion brush.

For whisking off excess powder patchy edges or glaring spots of rouge, a complexion brush is indispensable.

For keeping a lipline as clean as though it were compass-drawn, a lipstick brush has few peers as a good-grooming aid. An eyebrow brush, dipped in oil and used to shine up, separate and even curl the lashes is as indispensable to many women as their hair brushes.

Had Relatives In Alberton

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Aug. 12 — City police do not wish to attach any mystery or suggest violence in the death of Mrs. Jemima Balmain, 55-year-old East End resident, but if there is any phase of the case which has not yet been uncovered by investigation, a small box of Christmas cards may hold the clue.

Mrs. Balmain was found dead in her vestibule at 369 City Road Saturday at noon. Her skull was badly fractured. She had been living alone.

Detective-Inspector Biddiscombe said last night he believed she had fallen down stairs and died as a result of injuries received in the fall, but investigation is continuing.

An open letter was clutched in the woman's hand when she was found and postmarks on the envelope indicated it had been delivered Saturday morning. A newspaper, also delivered by mail Saturday, was found on her diningroom table, giving credence to the belief she had taken her mail upstairs and apaprently had the letter in her hand when she was thought to have fallen.

A box of Christmas cards was found on the floor of her flat a short distance from the head of the stairs, and police are seeking a youth, whose age may be between 12 and 20, who was reported selling Christmas cards in the district about the time the woman died.

No Inquest

An autopsy on Mrs. Balmain's body was performed Saturday by Dr. Arnold Branch, which established the woman came to her death as the result of head injuries. Dr. C. L. Emerson, coroner, has stated an inquest will not be held at this time.

Mrs. Balmain's body was found by Edward Vanwart, 262 City Road, who looked into her vestibule when he noticed blood on the doorstep of the house. Although not bleeding externally, Mrs. Balmain apparently suffered hemorrhages.

Police were notified and the ambulance called. The General Hospital interne who accompanied the ambulance, pronounced the woman dead and called Dr. Emerson who gave permission to remove the body after examination.

Detective Inspector Biddiscombe said it had been established Mrs Balmain had been out shopping within the hour of her death and had called in the grocery store which is situated on the ground floor of the building in which she lived.

Grocer Heard "Bump"

He said J. T. McIntyre, who conducts the grocery business in the building had heard one "bump" on the stairs about 12 o'clock, and if Mrs. Balmain fell down stairs, she is believed to have fallen only four or five steps.

The detective inspector expressed the opinion that if she had fallen down the entire flight of stairs, Mr. McIntyre would have detected resulting noise.

However, he said, his department wants to check with the youth who was selling Christmas cards to clear up the case, one way or another.

Although Mrs. Balmain was living alone at the time of her death, a niece had been residing with her until recently.

She was the widow of Kenneth Balmain. Relatives in Alberton, P. E. I., have been advised of her death.

Dr. Grant Takes Part In Commons Debate On P.O. Estimates

The following is from the Hansard report of the House of Commons proceedings, the House being in committee of the whole on the Post Office estimates.

"Dr. T. V. Grant: I should like to support the argument advanced by the hon. member for Kootenay West in connection with putting post offices in stores. When you ask the department to give this job to a returned soldier in a case where the storekeeper may be quite prosperous they write and tell you that you must get two people to give a sworn affidavit that the man is not operating the post office in the right way. That is not the point. The man is making money in his store and he is handling all the old age pension cheques and the children's allowance cheques. He knows where every cheque is going and when people come in for their cheques they are asked to pay their bills. This matter should be straightened out right now and every hon. member should support it. These people who keep stores should not be allowed to keep post offices, especially since the old age pensions and children's allowances have come into effect. I think every hon. member knows of cases, because there are thousands of them in Canada where the man running the store is keeping the post office. I think every hon. member in this committee should ask the Postmaster General to change the regulations whereby people running stores are allowed to keep post offices.

Mr. Reid: I hope the minister will not take that advice seriously.

Mr. Grant: If the hon. member for Vancouver wants to put up an argument against another member in his own party—

"Mr. Reid: Do not confuse me with Vancouver; it is New Westminster; please get it right.

"Mr. Grant: I suppose he will vote against it because he always votes against his party.

"Mr. Reid: I will say in a kindly way that I pity the hon. member and I ask the minister in all seriousness—

"Mr. Grant: Somebody ought to pity you.

"Mr. Reid: I do not care about that. I still say to the minister that I hope he does not take too seriously this suggestion. If it is followed many small places will not have post offices."

Identify "Master Spy"

MONTREAL, Aug. 13—(Tuesday) —(CP)—The Montreal Gazette today named William Brandis, "formerly known as Steinberg in New York City," as the Russian "master spy" for whom Fred Rose, Labor-Progressive member of Parliament, "and a present member of the (Federal) cabinet" allegedly obtained false citizenship and a false passport in 1936.

The Gazette, in a newspage story, said that "in view of the halting statement made by Rt. Hon. Louis S. St. Laurent, Minister of Justice, in the House of Commons yesterday concerning the suspicion raised against his federal cabinet as acting-Prime Minister, it can now be stated that William Brandis, formerly known as Steinberg in New York City, is the Russian 'master spy' for whom Fred Rose, now an M.P., and a present member of the cabinet acted to obtain false citizenship and false passport."

The story said that the citizenship and passport issues were raised during the Russian spy probe and "pointed in many directions until they definitely pointed to the federal cabinet. Rose now is in jail for infringement of the Official Secrets Act. As a Communist he was jailed previously for seditious utterance for a year's sentence."

(Fred Rose is under sentence of six years in prison for conspiring to communicate information to Russia in connection with the alleged Canadian espionage ring.)

The Gazette story recalled that in Monday's issue it asserted that Rose and a present member of the federal cabinet had been instrumental in 1936 in obtaining for Brandis, "since branded as a master spy in Great Britain where he attempted to sabotage the Woolwich arsenal in 1938" in obtaining citizenship papers and a British passport within the elapsed time of one month.

"Speaking to the House of Commons yesterday (Monday), Mr. St. Laurent declared he had been awakened with queries about the situation and that at the opening of the day's session he had not been able to trace it.' He went on to say that he sought further 'more precise information.'"

The alleged spy's experience was described by the newspaper as follows:—

"William Brandis received his naturalization papers—No. 22970, series "E" on Sept. 15, 1936. Two weeks later, in October, 1936, he received a British passport— No. 22247 and left for England where he began his nefarious duty against the British Commonwealth before he was discovered and incarcerated."

Latest information available from Ottawa, the story said, "was that the naturalization branch offered all parts of the record to the public with the major exception that the names of attestees were not public property."

"By that means the naturalization branch, and so— the government refuses to place on record the fact that one of its cabinet members recommended for citizenship a Russian spy who had not been in Canada two weeks when the request was made.

"The cabinet member attested that he had known the spy for five years as a resident of Canada, and that he was a respectable citizen.

"He could not have done so since Brandis had not been in Canada for much more than two weeks."
