7:50 p.m. and shortly afterward the reflection of many fires lighted the sky.
Airmen in Germany and German-occupied territory were bombed several times and enemy aircraft, caught as they were taking off, were shot down. —K.

Three German fighters which intercepted a bomber as it was attacking a Demok seaplane base were routed and one was believed destroyed.

Other aircraft carried out the nightly attacks on railway yards which aid in tying up Nazi communications.

Five German bases in German-held France received more attention than usual; docks and shipping at Boulogne, Flushing, Antwerp, Dunkerque and Calais were bombed and fires were started.

Meanwhile under southern skies and over the warmer waters of the Mediterranean British bombers flew from bases either in Crete or Malta to give a surprise raid of the war. Three raids have taken place within the week, and Prime Minister Churchill has promised there will be more.

Raid alarms were sounded last night in Berne, usually a sign that bombers are passing Switzerland en route to bomb northern Italy. —S.

Miss Mary Shelton, Tignish, will spend the winter months in Montreal.

Miss Carmen Morrissey, left for Charlottetown, where she is planning to take a course in Domestic Science. —T.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—(CP)—On the theory that an old "sky dog" still can learn new tricks, veteran officer pilots of the First Great War will begin refresher courses at elementary flying training schools operating under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan in Edmonton and Regina.

When their training is finished the war-experienced flyers will be absorbed into the Royal Canadian Air Force as commissioned pilots assigned to various staff duties.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
The liver should pour out two pounds of fluid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest, and just stays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the work looks grim.
A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calmed nerves, and they help you to sleep. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Kensington And Vicinity

Mr. Leo McKenna was a visitor to Charlottetown on Monday undergoing examinations for entry into the R.C.A.F.

Mr. Alfred Essery of Mount Pleasant was a visitor to Kensington Tuesday.

Residents are taking advantage of the ideal weather and are busy banking their houses, putting on outside windows, etc. in preparation for the coming winter.

Considerable excitement was caused Tuesday afternoon by an auto. When the auto refused to start, the driver got out, leaving it in gear and gave it a shove, fully intending to climb aboard, after she would get underway. The auto, however, had other ideas, for when she caught on the first explosion, it raced away, no doubt homebound. Two women and a child who were at the time in the car, being vainly tried to stop, no doubt becoming excited, they were unable to think of just what to do; steering also seemed to become a mystery to the ladies, for when the car gained momentum on every explosion, got as far as Joseph Davison's restaurant, they gave the wheel a wrench which sent the car straddling towards the restaurant window. The high curb, however, after blowing off the tyre, veered the car off and it continued its course down the sidewalk, sidwiping Wesley Champ-berlain's barber shop, shattering two panes and breaking the window frame. Careening over the curb, the car grazed Lulu Tombs' windows, doing no damage there, however, and came to a stop at the door post which brought it to a starboard. Although the women and child given a bad fright, nothing serious happened to them and the car escaped with a big ol'.

A roaring reception was being prepared in Washington for President when he returns tomorrow from his home at Hyde Park, N.Y., to the capital where next January he will be formally inaugurated as the first man in history to begin a third term in the White House.

Mr. Roosevelt promised during the campaign that the four years ahead will be his last as President. He broke with tradition and ran again because of the war. He wanted to push on with his foreign policy of aid to Britain and other attacked nations, continental soldiers and sailors, and Latin America, and building up a strong strong that no nation will dare to attack the western hemisphere.

He attained his desire in a victory of broad geographic sweep but at the same time with sufficient opposition to reassure opponents that the two-party system is robust and that the Republicans tend to return to power. He is fighting for a hope to achieve success later on. Charles McNary, the Republican vice-presidential candidate, said he saw clearly in the return of the party to a Republican victory in 1934.

The President's victory carried with it a Democratic gain of about 12 seats in the United States House of Representatives, halting decisively the sweep toward the Republicans that set in in 1932 when they gained 80 seats. Democrats have held control of the House since 1930.

Of 36 Senate seats at stake Tuesday, 21 Democrats and 10 Republicans had been elected which gave the Republicans a net gain of two. Sixteen Democrats and 10 Republicans were elected as state governors, the Democrats scoring four gains and the Republicans capturing two from the Democrats.

Willkie Concedes Defeat
Mr. Willkie conceded Mr. Roosevelt's victory hours after most of his supporters had given up. His telegram to the President expressed his congratulations and gratification that so many had voted, and wished him "all personal health and happiness."

He broadcast a brief address, accepted the result with "complete good will," and said: "I extend my thanks to the thousands who so zealously and cheerfully worked for my election in various organizations and supported me personally."

"I know they will continue, as I shall, to work for the unity of our people in the completion of our defence effort, in sending aid to Britain and in insistence upon removal of antagonisms in America—both to the end that government of free men may continue and, may spread again upon the earth."

McNary, who unlike Mr. Willkie, conceded the election before retiring on election night, sent the President this telegram: "Heartiest congratulations. Wishing you all grace and administration all prosperity."

Mr. Roosevelt answered cordially: "Many thanks for your generous and therefore characteristic message."

Count of Ballots Increases Lead For Roosevelt

"Let's Get On With Job", Popular Feeling As Election Fades Into History.

By H. M. Peters
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(CP)—Mounting returns tonight increased the extent of President Roosevelt's third-term "rodeo" President. United States elections as all over the country spokesmen expressed the popular feeling: "Let's get on with the job of helping our friends and rearing ourselves."

Five-sixths of the vote had been counted. The President led Wendell Willkie, Republican, in 39 states with an electoral college vote of 488; Willkie led nine states with a vote of 63. During the day the industrial states of New Jersey and Michigan were transferred from the Republican to the Democratic column. The President's margin in the popular vote column grew to 4,100,000.

The Republican candidate, whose incomplete vote was already more than 3,000,000 above that registered in the last Republican campaign, Alf Landon, in 1936, accepted the verdict and wired his congratulations to the President.

Mr. Willkie promised to work for national unity, stating in a broadcast that he and his supporters would continue their efforts aimed at the unity of our people in the completion of our defence effort, in sending aid to Britain and in insistence upon removal of antagonisms in America.

A roaring reception was being prepared in Washington for President when he returns tomorrow from his home at Hyde Park, N.Y., to the capital where next January he will be formally inaugurated as the first man in history to begin a third term in the White House.

Quebec Trainees Welcome Godbout

(By T. R. Walsh, Canadian Press Staff Writer)
MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 6.—(CP)—Spirits undampened by a cold fall drizzle, 500 youths at this compulsory training centre about 40 miles from Quebec shouted God-bout to Premier Adolphe Godbout who told them that "if you realize what a country you won't be wasting your time."

"On all big questions affecting the national welfare it is necessary that we have a common trend of thought," the Quebec Liberal party leader said. "It is supremely important that you understand how necessary in a country are a spirit of camaraderie, common thought and discipline."

Mr. Godbout spoke to the young soldiers in the camp's recreation hall after trusting good-temperedly through heavy mud on an extensive tour of the centre's grounds and buildings and after standing in the rain while the troops sang by in view.

"You are charged with the duty not only of defending Canada," he said, "but of developing the country. You would do well to take with you into civil life the discipline, the moral and intellectual health you have acquired here together with physical well-being."

Lt. Col. Leonie Ouellette of Jonquiere, assured the Premier that he and his comrades were very well treated and delighted with the way we are being drilled. He was armed with the swagger stick of Lt.-Col. J. J. Godeau, Camp Commandant, led his fellows through a couple of hitting French-Canadian tunes.

FIRE FIGHTERS

vember dusk which now has lengthened to nearly 14 hours, and the bonus fell swiftly.

London's anti-aircraft thundered with unusual intensity as the first bomb explosion was heard. At Southampton, even earlier, public buildings and houses had been crushed in the water, a number of persons killed and wounded, and students, teachers and office workers buried in the rubble of an art school and an office building.

Liverpool, too, was beset from the sky simultaneously with London, a few hours after the King and Queen had returned to the walled warren of docks on the Merseyside there.

It still was light enough for the Spitfires to fight in the night, the raiders when they flew en masse at Southampton and the Air Ministry reported that most of the attackers failed to get over the coast.

Three German planes were shot down over England during the day to two British losses, the Ministry added, and four bomber aircraft, ships off Brest, on the other side of the Channel, was knocked out of the air.

In one town on the northeast coast, two men and a woman were wounded by machine-gun bullets from a low-flying Heinkel.

KABUL, Afghanistan.—(CP)—Opening the fourth session of the Afghan Parliament, King Zahir Shah reaffirmed the neutrality of his country.

The solid south returned Democratic Senator Charles Andrews of Florida, T. G. Bilbo of Mississippi, Tom Connally of Texas, Harry Byrd of Virginia and Ken McKellic of Tennessee.

New Democratic Senators besides Tumell included Harley M. Kilgore in West Virginia, Abe Murdock of Utah, at present a house member, and Ernest W. McFarland of Arizona.

Pittman of Nevada, H. S. Truman of Missouri and Happy Chandler of Kentucky.

On the Republican side, Senators Warren Austin of Vermont, Hiram Johnson of California, Warren G. Harding of Michigan and Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan were re-elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator William Borah.

President-elect has been filling by appointment.

George D. Aiken, former Vermont governor, was chosen to serve the unexpired term of the late Senator Ernest Gibson, Ralph O. Brewster, Republican, was elected Senator from Maine Sept. 9 to replace Senator Fred Hale, who did not seek re-election.
