How To Enter Canada

Tourists enter Canada with an ease and freedom from annoyance which is a constant source of wonder to old-world visitors. Along the 3000 miles of frontier separating Canada from the United States, automobiles stream across the border with seldom more than a few minutes delay. The expeditiousness with which visitors to Canada clear the Canadian Customs is in part due to the fact that many of the tourists are now thoroughly acquainted with the formalities at border points and come prepared with the necessary particulars regarding their automobiles and equipment so that the forms may be quickly filled out and verified by the customs officials. Tourists may fill out these forms themselves or receive assistance from customs officers free of charge.

To make the requirements of the Canadian Customs still better known the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior at Ottawa has recently prepared in co-operation with the Department of National Revenue a summary of customs regulations entitled "How to Enter Canada." Canadians who have friends or relatives whom they expect to visit there could perform an appreciated service by having this publication forwarded to the intending visitors.

The reciprocal freedom which exists as regards tourist travel between Canada and the United States is exemplified by the fact that no passports are required. Automobiles for purpose of health or pleasure are entered into Canada duty free on permits for 90 days, which may be extended to six months. For longer periods up to six months, a bond for the amount of duty and taxes ordinarily payable on the car is required, but this detail may be conveniently arranged through a customs broker or directly with an incorporated guarantee company authorized to do business in Canada. Pleasure boats may also be entered on permit without duty and are allowed to remain in Canadian waters until October 1.

The privileges of freedom from duty or deposit extend to the tourists' guns, rifles, fishing tackle, golf clubs, tennis racquets, and cameras, where these have been previously used and are brought into Canada for health or pleasure. On other items of tourist outfit for personal use as canoes, outboard motors, tents, camp equipment, phonographs, radios, musical instruments, etc., a sum of money equivalent to the duty and taxes is deposited with the customs officer and this is refunded if the articles are identified and exported outwards within six months.

The freedom of the Canadian customs as regards tourists' automobiles and outfits is exemplified in another way in that irrespective of the port of entry the tourist may leave Canada by any other port he chooses. He may enter at the east coast and have his automobile and outfit checked out at the Pacific coast just as conveniently as if he had returned to the point of entry. And his automobile license is good all along the way. The license of any one of the United States is valid for a generous period in every province in Canada, the duration of this privilege varying in the different provinces.

In respect to Canadians entering and touring in the United States similar privileges exist. Nowhere in the world is there a boundary line where there is less inconvenience for the tourist. When on the road he is an international figure who crosses and recrosses the boundary line at will, with extremely little bother or delay and he is welcomed in either country.

CITY SPRAYER AT WORK

City workmen are busy spraying the streets this morning. This is a move in the right direction as the caterpillars and insects have been playing havoc with a great number of the trees throughout the city. No where in the Maritimes are the trees more beautiful than in our own fair city, and the spraying of the trees is very commendable indeed. The sprayer being used is the property of the Experimental Farm, kindly loaned until the city will have their own ready for work.
