A FLOUR you can trust

Because it has already met a rigid baking test

YOU are sure of the best results when using Quaker Flour. Its quality and baking excellence never vary. Your recipes turn out exactly the way you want them.

Flour bears the Quaker name only after it meets definite high standards. Among other tests we take a sample from each day's milling and bake it in our own kitchens, under actual home conditions. It must bake right or it cannot bear the Quaker brand.

Quaker Flour is best for all household baking purposes—bread, cakes, pastry. It gives a lightness and evenness of texture such as no other flour gives. Every bag sold under our money back guarantee that Quaker Flour will give you the utmost satisfaction.

support which was intended, an end must be made to this fraud and hypocrisy in its administration. When the Act clearly and specifically states that liquor shall not be sold or used for beverage purposes, even under doctors' certificates, when reputable medical men claim that not even as many as ten certificates per month are required for honest and bona fide medical purposes, why should an arbitrary rule be fixed by the Commission under which certificates may be issued to the number of fifty per month? When the Premier and the members of his Government stand pledged to an honest, effective and satisfactory enforcement of this law, when the Premier openly boasts about his sincerity in its enforcement, why should the Premier declare to the Alliance at its interview in October last that a reduction of certificates to the number of fifty per month was done, "merely to embarrass the Government?"

What "embarrassment to the Government" could be caused by any honest administration of the Prohibition Act? When Premier Saunders declares in his speech in the Legislature that "Many of our Liberal friends felt that it was too radical to cut down the doctors' scripts to twenty-five per month," were the Premier and his friends "sincere" in their obedience to the law, or were they seeking to leave a margin of accommodation for themselves and their friends? When the Premier declared a few days ago, "It would cause too much disturbance among our friends, so the matter was ended on the very first discussion by some of my own followers," was he seeking to preserve the special privileges of his "friends," or did he declare to his friends that the law permitted no liquor to be given out for beverage use and that none would be given for such use even under the cloak of a medical certificate? When we find Premier Saunders himself declaring that "Sufficient revenue would have to be obtained from the sale of liquor" to pay the expenses of magistrates, inspectors, etc., and that "The administration of the Act would have to be self-sustaining," was he declaring that the law which stated that liquor should not be sold for beverage purposes should be strictly and impartially enforced, or was he in effect announcing that under his administration the law would be violated to such an extent as would permit a sufficient revenue to pay all such salaries and expenses? The Premier was elected to office, as he claims, on his "sincerity," and on his record as a total abstainer. Did he mean that in the administration of this law by his Government, while he himself should abstain from the use of intoxicants, other persons should be made drunkards, their appetites for strong drink gratified, and that all the consequent evils of indulgence in liquor should be permitted merely for the purpose of producing revenue for his Government, and so that the Act might not be administered at a loss?

So far as I am personally concerned I merely desire to have the law administered as it itself declares. If others think the law should be violated in its administration I am not with them and never can be. They will have to accept the responsibility for the results of the hypocrisy they condone.

HEAVY TAXATION

Sir.—In reading the Hon. Dr. McMillan's speech in Saturday's Guardian and the problem why boys leave the farm, and the policy of the Soldiers Settlement Board I wish to state my own experience. I returned from overseas in 1919 and went to the U. S. A. and got a steady job with fair pay, but was persuaded by my friends to come home and buy a farm through the Settlement Board two years after when prices were high. Now I have been on this farm for seven years and in that time I never bought a suit of clothes or a pair of Sunday shoes, and I work from six o'clock in the morning till dark, Sunday excepted, for I have got to do it to pay the big interest and support my wife and two children, and I don't smoke or drink, and if I sold the farm now I wouldn't get within a thousand dollars of what I paid for it. So I think it is high time we had revaluation.

I am, Sir, etc.

RETURNED SOLDIER.

RETURNING TO THE FOLD Sir.—All Mr. Saunders has to say in his speech about Mr. Bentley and Rev. Mr. McLeod is that if the Conservatives wanted them they are welcome to them. He also stated in one place that we have many things to be thankful for. It does not sound very thankful to those two gentlemen who campaigned from East Point to West Cape for him and put him where he is today. I voted Liberal at the last Election for the first time in my life because I sincerely believe in Prohibition. I am of far less importance than Mr. McLeod and Mr. Bentley. So I guess the Conservatives are welcome to me also. I would like to tell Mr. Saunders that scores of us who supported him are going back to our parties again, welcome or not welcome. I would also remind him that he has another election to run in three years time, and it is rather poor policy to hand over a free gift to worthy gentlemen who voiced so loud in his favour. I would like to know what the Hon. Premier is so thankful for.

I am, Sir, etc.

In Memoriam

MRS. JOHN MACNEILL

This death occurred after a long illness at the P. E. I. Hospital March 29th, 1928 of Mrs. Margaret MacNeill, relict of the late John MacNeill of Southport. She fell asleep peacefully in Jesus her Saviour, in whom over forty years ago she placed her trust and the keeping of her soul for time and eternity. The funeral service took place on Sunday April 1st, Rev. R. W. Lindsay officiated. A brief service was held at the residence of her son Mr. W. Wellington MacNeill, and was continued in the Alexander Bazaar Church of which Mrs. MacNeill was a faithful member. A large number of friends gathered to pay tribute to one whom they highly respected and also to express their sincere sympathy for the sorrowing hearts.

The following are left to cherish her memory three sons, Wellington MacNeill, Southport; Richard MacNeill, Pownall; Allan Sack; two daughters Mrs. Yvonne Gay, City; Mrs. Margaret, in New York who arrived home to attend the funeral of her mother, two son and one daughter predeceased her some years ago. The floral tributes were beautiful and bore silent testimony to the departed. The following were pall bearers Messrs A. Kennedy, M. Wood, L. MacCabe, J. MacDonald, E. Martin.

Interment was in Alexandra cemetery. To the bereaved relatives the Guardian extends sincere sympathy.
