FERRY EXPENDITURES

the fact that you have to rebuild that ferry today is owing to your own neglect. During the Bell Government regime that ferry was not looked after; if it had been attended to it would last until such time as the new ferry would be able to operate. I am informed that the new ferry which my hon. friend contemplates building is not high enough above the water mark. Can he tell us how high he intends to build it?

Mr. McIntyre: Four feet above the water.

Mr. Arsenault: I am informed that it should be at least five or five and a half feet.

Mr. Stewart: I should not think my hon. friend would build anything small. He would want to follow his own pattern. (Laughter.)

Mr. Arsenault: We would like to assure the service at Bedeque. The people are wondering whether they are going to have that service continued. Everything was satisfactory under the Stewart Government; we would like to know if it is going to be operated this summer.

Kings Co. Ferries

Mr. McIntyre: This item is practically the same as last year?

Mr. McIntyre: $100 less.

Mr. McIntyre: I think we heard from the Minister of Public Works that when this new ferry went on the Newport route the earning capacity of that boat would be so much greater that the Government would not have to make such a big expenditure. Perhaps I misunderstood him when he was seeking to borrow the money for this new boat; but I think I am correct in making the statement that he gave us to understand that owing to greater carrying capacity the earnings would be so great that it would show a reduction in the expenditure required.

Mr. McIntyre: No, I didn't say it would show a reduction in the amount. The earnings are so small that it is hardly worth speaking about. The total revenue from that boat is only a little over $300, and we are charging now the same as any other ferry. I do not believe it will exceed $700; so it is hardly worth talking about.

Mr. Stewart: "Murray Harbor North, $600." Apparently that was only $300 last year. Is there any change in the service?

Mr. McIntyre: Half the subsidy was paid during the year; the balance of it was paid this year.

Mr. Stewart: In other words, that will appear in next year's accounts?

Mr. McIntyre: Yes.

Mr. Stewart: It was one of those items that we would have got in the External Audit, I suppose?

Mr. McIntyre: Well, yes, it would be in the External Audit.

Mr. Stewart: Sure!

Wharves ($5,000)

Mr. McIntyre: At Newport wharf we had to build an extension to protect the new boat.

Mr. Stewart: The Dominion Government has been taking half of that Newport wharf expenditure?

Mr. McIntyre: Yes.

Mr. Stewart: That is not the Georgetown side of the Newport ferry, is it?

Mr. McIntyre: No.

Mr. Stewart: You are spending nothing on that?

Mr. McIntyre: No.

Mr. Stewart: Does the Dominion Government still take care of that?

Mr. McIntyre: Yes.

Packets

(The Estimates were: Charlottetown, Orwell, Crapaud, etc. $5,000; Charlottetown and Belle River, $300; Charlottetown and Bonshaw, $500.)

Mr. McIntyre: Who has the contract for the Charlottetown—Bonshaw ferry? Is that just the one amount for one ferry contract? Is not Nine Mile Creek included in that?

Mr. McIntyre: No, just the Charlottetown—Bonshaw ferry.

Mr. McIntyre: There is nothing for the Nine Mile Creek ferry at all?

Mr. McIntyre: There is nothing in the estimates. If we decide on it we can take it in Miscellaneous.

Mr. McIntyre: The Minister of Public Works had a petition before him with reference to Nine Mile Creek ferry, and he says now that he has not anything in the estimates. I would like to ask, on behalf of those people, are they going to be assured of that ferry?

Hon. Mr. LePage: The hon. member for Charlottetown seems to be very anxious about the Second District of Queens. I can assure him that the service is being very well looked after. If he can look after his own district in Charlottetown, Mr. MacPhee and I will look after ours. In regard to this matter, it has been brought to the attention of the Minister. In fact, there was a petition both ways; there was a petition for and against it. They are only wanting a small amount, and probably they can get a grant this year, but in a case of this kind it is a little difficult to know just what to do.

Mr. McIntyre: That is information that I am very glad to receive at this point, because not very long ago there was a question asked with reference to this matter. Several people were insisting on getting some information, and we placed a question on the order paper asking if a petition had been received from these people. The definite answer was that no petitions were received by the Minister of Public Works. Now we find that there were several petitions—pro and con. We should have been able to get that information, Mr. Chairman, before this, and not be forced to make enquiries now. However, the main point is that there has been petitions. I do not wish to interfere with the hon. member from Rustico at all, but when we are asked these questions by people we like to supply the information, if we can. We are not going to take any of the glory away from my hon. friend. He can get all he wishes, but I think this House should have this information. Are those people going to have anything placed in the estimates for the ferry for which they have petitioned the Minister for?

Mr. McIntyre: My hon. friend knows we cannot increase the estimates; but I said it could be included in Miscellaneous if we decide to put on the ferry.

Mr. McIntyre: Will you say that it will be taken in the Miscellaneous items?

Mr. McIntyre: No I won't say that. (To be continued.)

P. E. I. Protestant Orphanage Review

Since our last Review many changes have taken place among the children in the Home. A large number have been adopted out but as usual others have taken their places so that there are today under our care 42 which is slightly below the average.

The winter has passed away without any serious ailments, though many had the usual children's troubles. Very few cases necessitated medical or surgical attention.

The interest of the public in the welfare of the Institution is manifested by the lists of donations received from time to time.

It is a great pleasure to the Management to know that the Home is being well and favorably spoken of, and it is their earnest desire to foster and increase this interest.

Easter was duly observed in the Orphanage and the children had a happy day. Easter eggs in abundance provided by friendly neighbors in Mt. Herbert and Mermad (fourteen dozen) and special dinner and supper served.

The dining tables were daintily decorated with Easter favors all tending to brighten the lives of the children in the Institution.

The following have recently donated dresses and clothing for the children: Mrs. L. E. Prowse, City; W. A. English Church; L. A. United Church, Conway; Augustine Cove; Mrs. Dr. Tidmarsh, City; Tryon Auxiliary; Harmony W. I.; Cream and potted meat from Mrs. E. and P. Mutch, and a load of straw from Mr. C. McLean.

Receipts for running expenses of the Institution are practically at a standstill just now and a supreme effort is being made by the City Auxiliary through their play set for the early part of May in the Prince Edward Theatre, to offset this drop in revenue.

It is earnestly hoped that all interested will aid them in their endeavors by patronizing what promises to be an excellent show.

A word for the pledges—No We Have Not Forgotten Them as SOME HAVE. We still retain the signed promises to pay and there are enough of these to clear all the remaining debt.

Now Mr. Promiser if there is any just reason why you should not pay your pledge, would it not be better to let us know; while your pledge remains unpaid, we can only think that you are purposely evading it and for that reason it has been decided to make a showdown of it at the Annual Meeting. We are preparing a full statement of the Campaign including the list of those unpaid and expect to make it public at this meeting. The Institution is owned and financed by the public and they have every right to know every detail. If your name must be read out at that meeting you will only have yourself to blame.

The new barn built last summer is certainly proving well worth the expenditure and the horse under our own care is a real saving.

The Institution is kept spotlessly clean; the day school is doing satisfactory work and the children continue in good health so that it is

BUCKWHEAT AS A FARM CROP
(Experimental Farms Note)
As a general purpose crop, suited to farming conditions in Eastern Canada, buckwheat should not be overlooked. While not strictly a cereal crop and not able to compete with or replace our common grain crops for either human or live-stock consumption buckwheat has special features which give the crop both direct and indirect sources of revenue to the farmer.

Buckwheat has a variety of uses. It is well known that the flour made from this crop commands a high favour in making griddle cakes and the popularity of the crop for this purpose creates a fairly steady demand.

Buckwheat can be used as a feed for live-stock although the feeding value of the grain is less than in wheat, oats, or barley. The grain however makes an excellent poultry feed.

On account of its unusually succulent leafy growth, buckwheat serves a useful purpose as a smother crop for weeds. Weedy land can be kept clean cultivated until mid-June or later and then seeded to buckwheat. The quick germination and dense growth prevent weed development.

The fact that buckwheat will thrive on comparatively poor, light land, makes it an excellent crop for this type of soil, and also to plough under as a green manure. Its thick succulent stems decay very quickly, leaving the soil in a better condition in so far as plant food and general physical condition is concerned. On heavy soils, buckwheat on account of the nature of its root system, tends to loosen up the soil, leaving it in a more friable, porous condition. The claim made that buckwheat will withstand more soil acidity or lack of drainage than other cereals is undoubtedly true and, for this reason, it can often be grown on land that would otherwise remain idle.

Buckwheat has been used as a nurse crop for sweet clover with good results. When this practice is followed, the combination can be cut green and used as a soiling crop.

that characteristic and pleasing aroma so familiar to us all, makes buckwheat one of the best honey producing plants.

In buckwheat then, we have a crop, suited to fairly moist cool conditions; able to thrive on comparatively poor soil; valuable as a smother crop for weeds or as an emergency crop sown late in June; useful as a green manure, as a live-stock and poultry feed, and as a bee pasture.

Panama and Peru have just been connected by an air service.

SPOKEN WORDS
Give not thy tongue too great a liberty, lest it take thee prisoner. A word unspoken is, like the sword in the scabbard, thin; if vented, thy sword is in another's hand. If thou desire to be held wise, be so wise as to hold thy tongue.—F. Quarles.

DARKNESS
And should the twilight darken into night,
And sorrow grow to anguish, be thou strong;

Thou art in God, and nothing can go wrong
Which a fresh life-pulse cannot set aright.
That thou dost know the darkness, proves the light.
Weep if thou wilt, but weep not all too long;
Or weep and work, for work will lead to song.
