

HORSE RACES AT HALIFAX

Last Day of Exhibition Races Small Attendance—Some Gamey Racing

(Special to The Guardian) HALIFAX, Sept. 19.—The final day of the exhibition saw only an attendance of three thousand persons. The unfinished 2.30 trot was the first event. Kremnut had two heats, Baron Cecil one and Parker T one. Kremnut won, being closely pushed by Baron Cecil, Redwing third.

The judges expiated the driver and owner of Kremnut from blame for the poor showing in the first heats and said it was due to the former's inexperience in a large field of horses.

Kremnut trotted his race in great style and is much admired by horsemen here. Jack Leonard of Halifax who piloted him in winning heats got quite an ovation when the result was announced. Best time 2.24. Almost every heat in this race was faster than the two-twenty-three trot.
